For Your Country—Plant Trees

Preservation of the Forests is a New Problem.

Under the above heading that excellent magazine the January Delinquent has an excellent article which should be widely read and we give it herewith. The danger in the United States of forest extinction, is duplicated in Canada.

The United States has taken a few steps forward but Canada has not been idle. Gangs of men are scattered in summer through the forests and along railroad tracks in New Ontario and in Quebec. The Ontario government plans to buy up old cleared lands in some localities that never should have been cleared, for the purpose of re-foresting. The governments of the Western provinces supply stock trees, and encourage the setting out of windbreaks, etc., on the treeless prairies, but with all that is being done there is need for the education of the masses on the danger of forest extinction and certainly legislators should find in the subject ample scope for all their power.

Following is the article from the Delinquent, a Magazine that should be widely read and that would prove a delight in every home:

There is a great movement under way throughout the United States and Canada to-day. It is the marshalling of public sentiment for the preservation of the forests. We used to think that the great American forests were inexhaustible. And they were, for the generation in which our grandfathers lived. People of that day had all the wood they wanted to burn. But since their time we have been doing so many things with wood, besides using it for fuel, that forests of trees have fallen before the woodman's axe where one tree fell before. There are a dozen commercial purposes for wood which have developed to-day. It is used in the making of pal's and dishes. And absolutely acres of trees are fed each day into the printing-presses that turn out the great newspapers.

We are now using as much wood in a single year as grows in three, and there is only twenty years' supply of virgin growth in sight.

It is this situation that calls for the application of the science of forestry. The National Government through the Department of Agriculture at Washington, as well as eleven States each employing a trained forester is actively engaged in it. The United States Government has, for the last ten years, been busy acquiring forest lands until now it holds 165,000,000 acres, which it is carefully guarding and cultivating. Nurseries have been established for the propagation of stock for free distribution, and the newest feature is the creation of a patrol of one hundred men to guard against forest fires along the grand-dad railroads.

These are some of the Government measures to meet a national crisis. But there is more for public-spirited citizens to do. Everybody who has waste land ought to be planting it to trees. It is such a simple thing to gather seed from the trees on your own place and drop them into the ground! But you who do this will also serve your country as truly as those who answer its bugle-call to battle.

Preventive, the new Candy Cold Cure Tablets, are said by druggists to have four special specific advantages over all other remedies for a cold. First, they contain no Quinine, nothing harsh or irritating. Second, they give almost instant relief. Third, pleasant to the taste, like candy. Also fine for F-variant children. Sold by MacFarlane Co.
