the houses, exposed to the weather without any protection whatever. Perhaps after all such protection is not much needed for one could almost carry away on a wheelbarrow every article of value to be seen about many of the homes along the way.

Northern people, who have been accustomed to the fullness and plenty, to the comforts and surpluses of northern farm life would never be satisfied with the conditions prevailing in such districts, though the more moderate climate undoubtedly provides many compensations for the "roughness of abundance" which we call wealth in the north.

After all, no country or climate seems to possess all the good things of the world and doubtless it is wisely ordered that it should be so. The struggle for existence in the more rigorous climate prevailing in the north, develops a hardy race, possessed of those rugged qualities that make forceful, aggressive manhood, while Nature produces more sparingly and only after severer toil those bounties of animal and vegetable life which minister to man's necessities, or to his pleasures. Here, on the other hand, Nature flourishes apace.

Insect and reptile life multiply and grow in such variety and profusion as is unknown in the north. Vegetable life of the kind that resists drought, attains grandeur and magnificence scarcely conceivable to us. Here it is a common saying that every shoot that bursts the soil bears a flower and in spring, it is said the landscape, everywhere clothed in its variegated mantle of ever changing bloom, presents a complexity of beauty of form and richness of color as baffles description. That this is true in the mountainous and semi-mountainous districts, I can readily believe but in the more northerly plains of Texas and in Oklahoma and Arkansas I think the scarcity of the larger foliage bearing trees and the bareness of some of the hills, would tend to make the landscape less beautiful than farther south.

When I began, I intended to confine myself to the city of San Antonio but that will have to remain for further leisure as this is already, too long.

I may say in conclusion, that I found Islay waiting for me at the station, glad that I had arrived. In her loneliness she could not improve as we destroyed, so that my enforced absence from home was necessary for the purpose in view. Mrs. Newton also is well and speaks often of her home and her work, where her heart must ever be. The rest will do her also much good.

I am, ever
Yours faithfully,
N. W. CAMPBELL

No Dyspepsia or Indigestion

Every family here ought to keep some Diapiesin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of Indigestion or Stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take one triangle after supper to-night. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal cramping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for all stomach misery, because it will take hold of your food and digest it; just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Actual, prompt relief for all your stomach misery is at your Pharmacist, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure a case of Dyspepsia or Indigestion.
