Mrs Jno. Kilmer, of Vancouver, arrived in town Tuesday on a visit to Mrs Geo. McKennie and other old friends. It is over eight years since they left Durham. She visited for some time her husband's parents in Walkerton before coming here.

BORN

SMITH.—In Normanby, on Feb. 29th, to Mr and Mrs Alex. Smith, a son.

A Temperance Sunday.

By appointment of the Dominion Alliance, Rev. H. Peckover and Mrs Owen Hitchcock were in Durham on Sunday last and spoke in the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches at the regular services, and at a mass meeting in the Presbyterian church at 8.30 p. m. Good congregations greeted them. Rev. Mr Newton preached very ably in the evening, the pastor being absent in Palmerston on similar business.

Mr Peckover is a clever speaker of the lecture type, with perhaps a little too much pointing. Mrs Hitchcock is also a free and ready speaker, full of faith and pathos. Each congratulated Durham on the earnest local option, but warned the temperance forces to be on the alert as there was still work to do.

Mr Peckover in the morning preached from Matts. 23: 18. He pictured the despondency of the disciples after the crucifixion, their hopes of worldly glory dashed, their leader gone, &c. But an exultant change came over them when the Lord walked amongst them and proclaimed "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." It was not possible, he said, to grasp the full meaning of these words, we were like travellers coming to the edge of a sea, seeing on the margin.

Not only that, but his own inherent power he has the power of the Father, of the spirit, and even of "more than twelve legions of angels," in fact all the powers of heaven.

The power of the world's wealth is also to be given to Christ, though at times it may not look like it. Too often the world gets the banquet, the Christ the crumbs; but earnestness is taking place and the truth is becoming better known that "the silver and the gold is mine and the cattle upon a thousand hills."

The power of commerce is to be given to Christ, as is the power of literature. Though there is much that is rotten in secular journalism, there is gradually emerging from the mass the lineaments of One whose " visage was so marred more than any man," and the power of the Bible was growing. Similarly the power of Music, of Sculpture, indeed of all Art, was to be given to Christ.

All power to one man? For centuries the effort has been to keep one man from having all power, but in this case it comes into beneficent hands. He uses it to maintain his church as well as to break down opposition, for the workers of the church, weaklings at the best, would never have made the progress they have without his power.

Just as a street car, well made, finely officered and equipped, good road-bed, &c., is useless when the power is turned off, so are the churches, however finely manned, without the power of Christ.

Rev. Mr Newton in the evening spoke from Phil. 2: 11, presenting Jesus Christ not only as Lord, and Lord of all, but as the all powerful Saviour and loving Companion, whom we should live in our hearts and in our lives if we would properly confess Him.

The Mass Meeting.

The Free Church was well packed at 8.15 p. m. when other churches send their quota. Pending the arrival of Mrs Hitchcock, Mr Peckover addressed the meeting and after a factious opening proceeded to deal with the temperance question. He began by condemning the prevailing subterfuge that many have of condemning the present means and clamoring for a method not available. He had hard words to say too of the mass of inactive power in the churches in this connection dwelling on the force of example. "Life, Liberty and Happiness" was the right of every citizen of Canada, as of the States, but how little of these three qualities can come to the mother, sister, wife, or child of a drunken man.

There is always work to do, if our immediate surroundings are all right, look abroad and be ready for any sacrifice; that was the true Christian Spirit. Why, he asked, had God allowed other nations ancient and modern, to go down but to furnish lessons to the greatest, freest, noblest country in the world—Canada—with all its mighty possibilities? The achievement of which depended on its being a sober Canada.

He closed with a fine rabbin story intended to teach the wisdom of following the greatest master, that being necessarily potentate, not the Prince of darkness. Let the living Christ to whom the best service that could be rendered was the lifting of the burdens
