The Durham Review

THURSDAY, MAY 27, 1909.

TOPICS OF THE WEEK.

The Archdeacon of Northampton, England, seems to have reasons for fulminating against a disregard for the worship of God. He tells us as a fact of knowing of a large party in high life masquerading on the first Sunday in Lent, the men dressed as women and the so-called ladies dressed as men.

An armed United States gunboat, on her way up the St. Lawrence river caused a little commotion the other day as it was reported she was more heavily armed than the treaty allows. It is to be used as a training ship on the Upper Lakes and it is not likely the United States would attempt to break the peaceable agreement between the two nations which is such a fine example to the world.

The Allan Liner Mongolian, stuck fast in an enormous ice pack within two miles of St. John harbor, but after several days of anxiety, relieved messengers from the shore were successful in relieving her, and she has reached Halifax safely. Ice dangers this year are above the average.

Eight of the wives of the ex-Sultan of Turkey have escaped to England and are living in a boarding house, the authorities having no ground to interfere. Not so in Paris. Six veiled women of the same kind were refused domicile and sent back to Turkey. England still the harbor of refuge.

Five hundred miles of a Georgia railroad is completely tied up, because the engineers refuse to work with negro firemen. Citizens of many towns are receiving no mail, out are not complaining, as they are up in arms at seeing white men superseded by negroes.

Glenelg Council

The Council met May 26th, pursuant to adjournment. All the members present. The Reeve in the chair. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

McMillan—That John McViecer be paid $3.25 for 21 cords of wood delivered at the Hall, and P. McArthur $0 cents for shovels for hall.—Carried.

McMillan—Nichol—That John McNally be paid $1.50 for removing road grater.—Carried.

Nichol—McNally—That the Reeve and members of the Council be paid $2.00 each for inspecting Connelly's Hill and proposed levitation and Glenelg road bridge.—Carried.

McMillan—That the Clerk be paid $10 on salary.—Carried.

Wm D. Davis was appointed pathmaster instead of John Staples. The Council adjourned to May 29th then to meet as a Court of Revision. J. S. BLUCK, Clerk.

RAMBLES THROUGH GLENELG.

By the Assessor.

At Lot 1, con 3, NDR we find Thos Davis, Esq., License Inspector of S. Grey who also served the township as Reeve, Deputy Councillor and Assessor for a number of years. Mr Davis was elected councillor for ward 1 in the year 1887 being then more boyish looking than he is now. However he proved himself to be a man in acting in his official capacities.

The Saugueen River crosses the 2nd con at McGillivray and in the Spring the floods are quite high, along the 3rd are the McGillivrays, who although now getting fast down the decline, came to the north line when boys; and others who are not so long settlers. Farther we come to the well known residence of Geo Binnie where we always make it as a traveller's home. Very few, if any, in the township or county have filled as many offices as Mr Binnie, serving as councillor, Reeve, Warden, T.P. and County Auditor for several years besides other offices outside municipal matters.

On the corner of Mr. Binnie's farm is a neat little Baptist chapel where the Rev Newton of Durham preaches every Sunday. In olden times the locality around the Centre was called the "Beaton Settlement" but now we find that the Beaton's are not so numerous as they were forty years ago. Among the oldest settlers there were the McDonalds, Camerons, Grahams, McLellans, McMillans, McInyres, McArthurs, Campbells, and all these good old people have passed away and their children are now termed old men and women.

Now we enter into "Scotchtown," as it is well termed, for there is no other nationality for two miles but Highland Scotch. We heard a good old Highland Scotch lady, whose husband was a lowlander, in a teasing manner telling her good man that the lowlands were the refuse that came down from the highlands, but we find in general the substance coming from our highland hills only enriches the low and flat lands the more.

In passing along our curiosity was aroused by coming to an old forsaken hewed log house which by appearance was erected over fifty years ago and in viewing the skilful art of the ax men of long ago in building the corners of the old dwelling which was counted as first class then. These corners are yet as straight as the plumb line could make them and the logs hewed as smooth as if they came from a planing factory, and although as the case may be that these skilful men of long ago have all passed away yet the workmanship of their hands is as visible as the day it was performed. And if any of those men of old are yet living whose corner of the buildings he claims as his, it will only bring back to him the days of his youth and now that he is a feeble crippled old man will be the means of making him draw a deep sigh and exclaim, "then I was young, now I am old and helpless."

The Saugueen River winds its way in a zig zag manner along this part of the 2nd Con. and crosses over to the 4th at Glenelg Centre. In climbing up the hills in the valleys of Scotch Town we come to the Black's and up further is Councillor J. A.

McMillan one of the fathers of the Township Council for he is the oldest member of the Council of Glenelg being elected in 1878 and by his long and continuous career in office he has proved himself to be a worthy officer.

On the corner of the old Butter farm, now Keyland's, there is a small grave yard and as we were passing along we took a stroll in over the fence for the purpose of reading the inscriptions on the tombstones and we find that the first grave made there was Catherine McRury or Mrs. Batters, grandmother to Mr A. B. McLellan, of Durham dated 1852. She came from her native Isle, Uist, Scotland a short time before, only to find a cemetery in the wilderness of Glenelg as there was no clearance whatever on the whole place.

Now we come to Bachelors' Corners but the name is not altogether applicable now as some of the good bachelors have secured good housekeepers, [wives we mean] although one of them had to cross the line into Proton and secure one of the best housekeepers that could be secured, while another one crossed the road, thus saving the tramp usually indulged in in cases of this kind: but here are yet some more of the places retaining its name as of old. A long thin line are Murchisons, McQuarries, McDougalls, Black and Quairns, and of those that were original owners were the Gallies, McDonalds, McArthur's, McPherson's, and up further the well known McLaughlin family, McLean's, Sinclair, Councillor Carson, Armesa and Clark's. So we finish to the town line.

Canada's Frontiersmen.

Some eight or ten years ago Mr Alfred Fitzpatrick, then a student at Queen's University, found it necessary to visit the lumber towns and camps in northern California. This visit opened his eyes to a new field for educational and religious effort. He saw that thousands of intelligent men were forced by their occupation to live many months at a time far removed from the refining influences of civilization. The total absence of any elevating influence had made these camps hotbeds of vice and degradation.

After a few experiments in Ontario lumber camps he proved the feasibility of camp education, the work was organized under the name of the Reading Camp Association. In time the Provincial Governments were persuaded to assist in the work and travelling libraries are circulated among the camps by the Departments of Education of Ontario and Manitoba. Lumber companies have built reading camps for the benefit of their men. Moreover, as a result of the efforts put forth for the benefit of the shanty-men, the laws governing the sanitary conditions of the camps are more rigidly enforced than formerly and every company is compelled to build a hospital in connection with its camp. The compulsory attendance of the men at school, in the work and reading camps, is now a fact.

Every year the Association sends out instructors to the lumbering, mining, logging and railway construction camps in Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The instructors are University students or graduates. They swing axe, pick and crowbar during the day and teach their classes at night. This summer about twenty-five instructors will be sent out to the different camps throughout the Dominion.

(Anyone caring to learn more concerning the work done by the Reading Camp Association may receive an illustrated report of the work done last year by applying to Mr A. Fitzpatrick, B. A., Sup't. of Camp Education, 1123 Traders Bank Bldg., Toronto, Ont.)

Canadian Newspaper Directory for 1909

We have just received from the publishers, A. McKim, Limited, of Montreal and Toronto, a copy of the 1909 edition of the Canadian Newspaper Directory. This is the sixth edition of this valuable work, which has long been recognized in Canada and deserves a place on the desk of every business man, whether he is an advertiser or not.

The Canadian Newspaper Directory lists and describes 1426 periodicals in Canada and Newfoundland. Of these 135 are daily, 1015 weekly or semi-weekly, 258 monthly and 144 published less frequently. This is a considerable increase over the last edition.

In addition to this, the Directory supplies a comprehensive Gazetteer giving the population, the chief industries, the railway, telegraph and banking facilities and other interesting features of every newspaper city, town and village in Canada.

This work contains over 430 pages. It is splendidly bound and is certainly a credit alike to the publishers and to Canadian newspapers generally.

A. McKim, Limited, are particularly well qualified to edit and publish this, the standard book of reference on Canadian publications. They are the pioneers in the Advertising Agency field in the Dominion, the McKim Agency having been founded in Montreal in January, 1880, twenty years ago, by Mr Anson McKim, who is still at the head of the business.

During all this time they have been the acknowledged leaders in this line in Canada, and the Agency business has been developed from a very small beginning—then performing only the functions of the middle-man—to a very large producing enterprise which runs into millions.

It goes without saying then that the McKim Agency is in closest touch with the publishers of the Dominion than any other firm, and are therefore able to get the most reliable information. The price of the 1909 Directory is $2.00.
