Revival Meetings

Commencing in Baptist Church, Wednesday Evening, June 2nd.

Beginning with Wednesday evening the Woodstock College Evangelistic Band under the leadership of O. U. Chapman will commence their campaign in the Baptist Church, Durham. The Band is an organization of College students who have done effective work in many places during the College year. Mr. W. N. Wright an impressive singer will be with the Band and will sing at every service.

The College Male Quartet whose work is a feature of the meeting will also be with the band and sing at the services. The Ingersoll paper in speaking of the work of the band says, "The Woodstock College Evangelistic Band conducted the services in the Baptist Tabernacle yesterday. At both morning and evening services, able and instructive addresses were given and the Band Quartette gave several most acceptable renditions which were much appreciated by the large audiences present. It is held that such an organization creates such a favorable impression as did this band in Ingersoll yesterday. No doubt they will be welcomed in local circles at anytime in the future."

Everybody, regardless of creed or religion, is cordially and earnestly invited to attend these services. A song service will be held every evening commencing at 7:30. Do not forget the date. Commencing, Wednesday evening, June 2nd. Every evening except Saturday.

The Laymen's Meeting

Friday last the local sequel to the big Missionary Congress in Toronto took place and a meeting for men only (undominionist), to consider the great question of Christian Missions, came off very successfully, seeing it had not the adventitious aid of a banquet, so generally being resorted to in the campaign. The speakers advertised were both duly on hand, Messrs A. E. Armstrong and J. D. Falconbridge of Toronto, the former Secretary of the Presbyterian Board, the latter of the Anglican communion. Both men are in love with their subject and give their time freely to advance their Master's cause.

The afternoon meeting for women was, as Mr. Armstrong remarked, a unique way to begin a man's movement but the joint committee recognized that the devoted women workers of Durham were entitled to a share of the good things going and to the stimulus that discussion gives to the work they have for long been almost exclusively engaged in. So a goodly number turned out and heard two inspiring addresses.

Mr. Armstrong dealt with the origin, growth and work of the Young People's Societies, the Young People's Movement and last the Laymen's Missionary movement from which much was expected. Mr. Falconbridge touched on the needs of the world and the possibilities of giving it the gospel in this generation.

A number of ladies from the town choir gave an appropriate musical selection, accompanied by Mrs. Newton on the piano. The piano was one of the famous Mason and Risch instruments kindly procured through their agent here, Mr. John Smead.

The evening meeting of course was the chief event, and slowly, but gradually, the seats filled up with earnest men, till the hall had a full appearance though a good many more could have been accommodated.

The chair was occupied afternoon and evening by Mr. C. Samage, Chairman of the joint committee of the Churches that organized the meetings. On behalf of the committee he appropriately welcomed the speakers and hoped the inspiration derived from their presence would lead on to greater things. A male choir at the opening of the evening meeting asked the audience to join in the Missionary hymn, "From Greenland's icy Mountains, and several times during the evening contributed choruses, etc., R. MacFarlane accompanying at the piano.

Mr. Falconbridge hoped that all would be swept into the current as he and others had been. There was only two ways of making it the great command either obey it or reject it. These western lands owe their standing originally to missionary effort of the past. Paul was the first Layman and Jesus Christ now as ever is either "Lord of all or not Lord at all." The scheme to evangelize the world in this generation was not too big if we have faith and use some telling illustrations to illustrate his point.

Mr. Armstrong referring to the steamer with the motto "His Dominion shall be from sea to sea and from the river to the ends of the earth," gave an interesting account of how this text furnished Canada with its title. At Confederation the "fathers" had to find a name for the new aggregation of provinces to "Kingdom" and Commonwealth there were objections the matter was left over and Sir Leonard Tilley that night opening his Bible saw the text and saw Canada in the future extending from sea to sea and from the river St. Lawrence to the pole, and next day Dominion was adapted as eminently suitable. It behooved us then to see that Canada was kept as His Dominion and he dwelt on the present and the assimilation of the numerous immigrants we were receiving, to hold Canada for God and Righteousness. It was a first necessity to see that our Home Mission work was vigorous.

Going abroad he said the progress of China was a menace to the world unless Christianized. Dreadnoughts can never keep the peace of the world—Christ can. The Pacific was now a connecting link between Asia and America, our opportunities were great and so would be our responsibilities. Open doors in other parts of the world invited us to enter, and there was need of men, and money, and more men to give money for the great effort of sending the gospel to the world in this generation. The success of the home church will be assured, the more it goes into missions.

Mr. Armstrong is a fluent speaker, more so than his colleague who has
