RAMBLES THROUGH GLENELG.

By the Assessor.

On the 9th con is Traverson, a small hamlet. The name was taken from the late John Travers, who served the township as councillor for number of years in the latter part of the sixties and the first part of the '70s.

We do not intend to go far towards the east this time so we will content ourselves towards the west.

Down a little is the McNallys, Jacks, Pearis and the old Glencross place. Mr Glencross was one of the township councillors over 20 years ago but has passed from the scenes of time nearly that time also.

Back at the town line between Glenelg and Holland is Glaspet P. O. kept by Mr English. In this locality are the Morrins, Coffys, Pridls, all old settlers but we must hurry up to Dornoch.

There are not many of the old residents to be found at Dornoch now. There were the Smiths, Ledinghams, Skenes, &c.

While at Dornoch we had the pleasure of calling on the Rev. Mr McDonald and as Mrs McDonald is a niece of the late Rev. Donald Fraser who served faithfully as pastor of old St. Andrews church, Priceville, for 9 years from 1866 to 1875, it brought back the memories of gone by years.

Up on the hill is the R. C. church commanding a view of the country round about. Along side is the Separate School House. Down further south is Dargavel's saw mill and by the quantity of logs visible a good business is done.

Going back east is the residence of Mr George Ledingham one of the oldest of the place. Although Mr Ledingham is in his 84th year he can sing a good lullaby while putting some of his grandchildren to sleep.

Lord a Little Band and Lowly." We do not help from keeping one ear to Mr Ledingham's sweet song while the other was paying attention to information received from the younger Ledingham.
