PROVINCIAL POLITICS.

(Special to the Review.) Parliament Baildings. Toronto, February 28, 1913,) BIG FIGHT NOW ON.

Prepare for a sensational fight at the next Provincial election.

The decision of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance, confirmed by twelve hundred delegates to support unequivocally N. W. Rowell's policy of Aboiish the Bar, means a struggle to the death on this issue. The verdict of the Alliance reached amid seenes of genuine enthusiasm, cannot fail to have far-reaching eftects. Ever since Mr Rowell introduced his Abolish the Bar platform last year, it has been telt that the Temperance forces of the Province must decide definitely if they were going to support the leader who advocated precisely what they themselves were striving for, or if they were going to temporize and remain neutral in such a crisis. The decision of the Alliance settled this doubt.

At all dealers, 25 and 50 mier, the abolition of all bar and cents, or The Fig Pill Co., St. Thomas, club licenses will be an accomplished fact. Local option will be left to wipe out the 210 shops still existing in 88 municipalities, if the electors so decide. (The remainder of the 828 municipalities have no shops), Where shops are not voted out, they will be the subject of such further restriction and regulation as experience may prove to be necessary.

Being informed that an Don McCormick was to take place that evening, we in company with the family and some dozen more took a drive in the large sleigh guided by Thos Binnie who did not care so much for his own comfort as to being seated as he did to the large crowd under his charge going through the bush road, After all getting seated Tom himself sat on the dashboard of the sleighbox with his teet supported on the doubletrees So we landed at Mr McCormieks in somewhat less time than automobile speed, finding a crowded house for the occasion. The presentation of course which will be made knewn by some other writer. We enjoyed the evening fine. Thos Binnie was chairman and nobody could do more justice to the occasion than he did as he is full of wit, humor, music and speech-all combined makes Tom a tice to all the good things in the baskets and having a good chat till the small bours of the morning, the company began to think it time to go home so bidding Mr. McCormick and Miss McCormick all success in their new home in the west singing, "God be with you till we meet again," all left for their homes, We fancy there would be some late breakfasts next morning. Regrets were made by all to the near departure of Mr and Miss McCormick to their new western home.
