STORY OF POLAR DISASTER

TORONTO CORRESPONDENCE

Commander Evans Addressed an Immense Crowd at Royal Albert Hall, London.

Prices of Cattle, Grain, Cheese and Other Produce at Home and Abroad.

Ontario Wheat Outlook.

The Fall wheat crop in Ontario wintered well, notwithstanding the light protection of snow, and the early spring weather was also favorable, there being comparatively little frost during the early part of the season. There was an unusually rapid growth in the latter part of April and the first few days of May, which gave a good head to the plant, but subsequent cold weather has acted as a check. Taken all together, however, the present outlook for the crop is most promising, except on late season fields or on low or poorly drained lands. Only a comparatively small acreage has been ploughed up or reseeded with barley or other spring grain. Much less injury than usual from insects is reported.

A despatch from London, England, says: Before an immense and distinguished audience in the Royal Albert Hall on Wednesday night, Commander Evans delivered his eagerly-awaited lecture on the British South Polar expedition, which cost the lives of Capt. Scott and his companions. Commander Evans was second in command of the expedition. Lady Scott and the widows of others of the party who perished were present. Lord Curzon of Kedleston presided. With Commander Evans on the platform were several members of the Scott expedition. The occasion was only semi-public. Those present consisted of members of the Royal Geographical Society and their friends, but there was not a vacant seat in the great hall. Lord Curzon, in introducing Commander Evans, said the latter was about to tell "a tremendous tale of human adventure." He added that the Scott expedition had resulted in a contribution of the first importance to the world's knowledge of the Antarctic continent and seas, and that this would be a better monument to Scott and his men than any sculptured effigy or carved inscription.

Commander Evans' story was told with remarkable modesty and contempt for dramatic effect. The speaker was content for the most part to describe the splendid photographs of the expedition that were thrown on a huge screen. There were affecting moments, however, when he told again the story of the disaster to the leader of the expedition. The audience was enthusiastic and when a picture of Capt. Scott and his party at the pole was displayed there was tremendous applause.

THE DUCHESS OF TECK.

The Duchess of Teck, though so closely related to the Royal Family, cares little for the splendors of court life and attends as few functions as possible. She lives the simple life and living in the country. She is one of the five charming daughters of the late Duke of Westminster, and is also connected with the Coke family, her stepmother, Katherine, Duchess of Westminster, and Georgina, Countess of Leicester, being sisters.

The Duchess is further related to the Royal Family by the marriage of her first cousin, the Duke of Argyll, with Princess Louise, King George's aunt. In 1894 she married Queen Mary's eldest brother, then Prince Adolphus of Teck. The Duke of Teck is a keen soldier and a well-known sportsman. He was in South Africa with the 1st Life Guards, of which he was then major, during the South African War. One day, with several other young officers, after a long day's work, he came upon a way correspondent, whom he asked how he liked being under the Boer fire. "Not at all," replied the wielder of the pen; "anyone may have my share of such adventures who cares for them." The officer, in much-worn khaki clothes, said, "Well, we have to go under fire whether we like it or not, you know." "Yes," retorted the correspondent, "but that's what you're paid for, isn't it?"

The others in the group all laughed, and the correspondent was much taken aback to find that he had thus been making free with a prince of royal blood.

REMARKABLE TRIAL.

English Court Acquits Man Who Killed His Brother.

A despatch from London says: A trial remarkable in its nature and notable for the application of the "unwritten law" in an English court, ended in the acquittal at the Wilshire Assizes of a man who admitted shooting and killing his brother. The prisoner, who is a laborer, named Price, committed the murder in "the agony of despair" over his brother's insobriety, his brutal conduct toward his bedridden father, his aged mother and an adopted sister. Sympathy with the prisoner was so strong that the defence was provided by public subscription, and a burst of hearty cheering greeted his acquittal.

ATTACKED BY HIGHWAYMEN.

New York Bank Messenger Had a Fight for His Life.

A despatch from New York says: James T. Wintress, a bank messenger, gave battle in the street on Thursday to four highwaymen who leaped into his carriage and attempted to wrest from him the payroll of the Nathan Manufacturing Company. Resisting their efforts to subdue him with a rifle, a revolver, and clubs, he fought to such good purpose that he saved the money.

TAKEN TO THE ASYLUM.

Young Lady Went Violently Insane on a Train.

A despatch from Winnipeg says: Miss Emily Fulton, of York Mills, en route to Edmonton, became violently insane on the train and was taken to the asylum. She was a Toronto stenographer, and was travelling with her grandmother, who returned home.

EDMONTON LOTS.

Half a Million Dollars Paid for Site for a Hotel.

A despatch from Edmonton says: Two lots at the corner of Jasper Avenue and First street, bought by Robert Donald, twenty-two years ago for $75, were sold by him on Thursday for half a million. The site is to be occupied by a hotel.

MRS. MARY PETERS IS DEAD.

Was One of the Late P. T. Barnum's Attraction.

A despatch from Chicago says: Mrs. Mary Peters, weight 600 pounds, who for twenty years was exhibited as a freak, died on Wednesday night at the County Hospital following an operation for the removal of a growth which itself weighed 150 pounds. The late P. T. Barnum gave Mrs. Peters her first engagement, and for several years she was an attraction in his side show. She is survived by three children who reside in Philadelphia. All are of normal size.

THE ST. LAWRENCE INVESTMENT & TRUST COMPANY.

was incorporated by act of the Quebec Legislature, 5 Ed. VII, Chap. 75, in 1905, having for its object the extending and absorption of the St. Lawrence Investment Trust Company. This Society, formed in 1905, carried on a successful business on a small scale, paying regular annual dividends varying from 5 per cent. to 10 per cent., and the assets gave the share of the Society a value of about $100 at its absorption. The Charter under which the new Company is organized is a very valuable one, it being difficult to obtain a Charter of like character. The powers conferred by it are wide and give an opportunity for the transaction of a profitable business.

FUTURE OF THE COMPANY.

The new Company will do business on a much larger scale than the old Company, will operate largely in the buying and selling of well selected real estate, in the development of tracts of land in the City and the suburbs by selling same at a profit, and in the purchase and holding of stocks and bonds, and in the purchase of other Cities. The purchasing of agreements of sale has not, to any extent, been carried on in Montreal, and it is intended that the Company may particularly attention to this Branch, which shows even better opportunities of profit, with a larger margin of safety, than those of the West, inasmuch as the values of Real Estate in Montreal are more firmly based.

FIELD OF OPERATION.

The operations of the Company will be confined chiefly to the City and District of Montreal, and these commercial supremacy in the Dominion is universally known. The population in 1912 was 265,226, and in 1913, 275,000. The assessed valuation of Real Estate in 1912 showed an increase of $12,000,000 over the previous year. Montreal is an island, therefore its area is fixed. Real Estate values, though increasing, are a vast area of any city with the same population in either Canada or the United States.

MANAGEMENT.

The Company has appointed Findlay & Howard, Limited, Managers. Mr. Findlay is recognized as one of the foremost judges of Real Estate in Montreal, and the Firm's success is shown in the results of its past dividends as follows:

Apprentice Land Company, Limited	Incorporated 1900	paid 55 per cent.
Birmam Realty Company, Limited	" 1901	" 80 per cent.
Drummond Realty, Limited	" 1912	" 33-1/2 per cent.

Park Realty Company, Limited	" 1908	" 140 per cent.
