Last Sunday morning people were rejoicing that they were to have a big day's rain, but proved to be only a dust sprinkling. However it kept some at home from going to church. The growing grain has a healthy appearance yet, but in some places the clouds are to be seen and only about 2 or 3 inches in length. It is doubtful if the hay crop will be much in general, but may be better than expected. So there is no use in setting up a bowl when it is none of our business to be faultfinding, for its nothing else when we hear so many complaining of this, that and the other thing that is beyond human control. But man is naturally a complaining being, for the first act he did when he landed into the world was a complaint and that nature followed up until the time he has seen and experienced the many changes in life. Water is getting low in many places. We notice the Saugen river is away down and a person could get across in many places dry shod on stones. The old fishermen are holding up their good reputation at the angling and some good fish (fish) have been caught, although personally we haven't seen any or tasted any of them, but we only judge by hearsay and hearsay is no good at court or breakfast table. The Rev. Mr and Mrs Matheson are home from the Assembly. Mr Matheson in his sermon on Sunday gave a synopsis of the doings at the Assembly. Just think of all that was there besides 1500 ministers' wives. So we see that ministers are not in general like some of their hearers, who spend their days in loneliness, for the first act they do is to get a woman after they are ordained. So they are setting up a good example for all in need to do likewise. We are sometimes accused of making errors, but if we do, we don't do it intentionally, so we are not going to take all the blame. Dan McLean was finding fault for crediting the police trustees with ditches made near his premises when it was done by his own cash. But we didn't know who was paying for it. Visitors lately at Duncan McDonald's should read at Duncan McDonald's; John Nichol should read John McNeil; the latter is a Highlander and the former Lowlander. Sin agus an t-eadarighalachd a' dhan or that's the difference in the name. Miss Charlotte McDonald, nurse at Fergus hospital, spent a couple of weeks at her father's, at Duncan McDonald's, Durham road, Glenelg and returned again this week. Mr John McMillan, south line, Artemesia, is somewhat laid up for some time, but we hope to see him around the farm again attending to the many duties connected therewith. David Hinks is busy at the foundation for a large brick house he is putting up this summer. Dave says the old house was getting too small. We notice that the old poplar tree that stood the test nearly fifty years was cut down lately. We don't know who is the guilty party, but the old tree on one of the main streets suffered the sentence, "cut it down, cut it down," for apparently it became more of a nuisance than anything else. Hugh McKinnon, south line, pulled down the old barn that stood the blasts of 50 years. The building by its looks was beginning to get tired standing, as it was half way leaning. So it didn't take much to take it down for it wasn't used for some time. We notice some sheep carrying their winter garments yet. It's time it was taken off now and sent to the manufacturer. In olden times it would be picked and hurried to the Carding mill, but now there is no such a thing done, for it appears people are above wearing sheep's clothing that is manufactured at home. Some will remember that there were two Carding mills in Durham, one at Kelly's mills and one at Patterson's, but this is away ever so far, but not beyond memory, although some who are not so very young may say "I don't remember." Inspector Campbell visited our schools lately and gave an excellent report. Top Cliff under Master Dixon is amongst the best. The old teachers hold their good reputation. There are a few of them in Mr Campbell's inspectorate yet.

Honors to Peter McArthur by Priceville S. of S. Camp

The members of Scots Greys Camp, Priceville, to the number of forty or more, gathered in Union Hall, on the evening of Tuesday, June 18th, to do honor to Bro. P. F. McArthur, the occasion being the last meeting of the camp prior to Bro. McArthur's departure for the West. After the regular business of the Camp was disposed of, formality was dispensed with, and the social evening which followed will long remain in the memories of those privileged to enjoy it.

After Bro. Dr. Lane was called to the chair, a program which had been previously arranged, was proceeded with. The toast to the King being loyally honored, it needed but the martial strains of the bagpipes as manipulated by the guest of the evening, who for years has acted as camp piper, to bring every highlander in the hall to his feet in response to that music which has ever been the totem to Scottish souls in every land. The toasts which followed were interspersed with song and story from the immortal pages of Scottish life as painted by her own illustrious sons. Each successive selection on the "mountain pipes" was but the signal for the gathering of the clans in the middle of the floor, where, by general consent, the only Irishman present, carried off the laurels in such purely Irish (?) dances as the Highland Fling and Sheuan Treubhas.

Caterers responsible for the providing of refreshments had everything in readiness about midnight to tickle the fancies of Scottish taste buds. During the evening many felicitous references for the honored guest, his better half and daughter were made, wishing them bon voyage through life. The toast list for the evening is appended:

- "The King" Bro. Geo. Lothian and Bro. Neil McKinnon Sr.
- "Canada" Bro. P. F. McArthur and Bro. Neil McKinnon Jr.
- "Fred McArthur"
- "Sons of Scotland" Bro. D. McCormack and Bro. Clark Russell
- "The Guest of the Evening" Bro. Arch McQuig and Bro. Angus McLachlan
- "Robt Shortreed"
- "Angus McArthur"
- "P. F. McArthur"
- "The Guest's Better Half" Bro. Neil McKinnon Jr.
- "J. L. McDonald"
- "P. F. McArthur"

The evening was brought to a close with the singing of Auld Lang Syne and "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Sweeney of Louise accompanied by his sister, Miss Mary of Hanover visited on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. Shewell. We are pleased to say that Mr. Robt. Hon. Mr. White Silent Now,

The Underwood Tariff Bill, which is now being put through the United States Senate and Congress, gives to Canada practically every exporting advantage which she would have obtained under the reciprocity treaty of 1911. The Canadian tariff, as preserved by the Borden Government, secures to the Canadian people every importing disadvantage which would have been wiped out by the reciprocity agreement. The United States will gain the advantages of the reciprocity treaty. Canada will gain every disadvantage of reciprocity and tariff combined. Up to date Hon. Mr. White has not appealed to Ontario to have no truck nor trade with the Yankees, nor has he done anything to help the tax burdened Canadians.

Where Canadian Navy is Needed.

In a recent issue the Toronto Mail and Empire points out that Canada's richest coal deposits are on its Atlantic and Pacific coasts, exposed in case of war to immediate attack. In such event any enemy could easily take these coal stations, and so prevent Canada or Great Britain from using this coal, while at the same time using it for hostile fleets. The organ declares: "These posts ought not to be left in an exposed state." The same organ violently opposes the Laurier policy of strong local defence fleets which would provide just the defence these calling ports require. It is hard for supporters of Mr. Borden to even pretend at consistency.

A majority of the most important business advanced by Mr. Borden was rejected by Parliament. It would take a powerful imagination to discover any sign of popular disapproval of this refusal. There is every indication that the people approve the defeat of the Government on its most important measures. Under every British constitutional precedent the Government should appeal to the people to see what they think about it.
