The Durham Review

THURSDAY, JUNE 26 1913

A Short Campaign.

July 14th is the date of the bye-election in North Grey for the Ontario Legislature. This means that polling day is less than three weeks off and a short, sharp campaign is therefore the order of the day. Both parties, headed by John McQuaker, Liberal Candidate and Colin Cameron, Conservative nominee, begin holding public meetings on Monday, June 23rd and indications point to a great flood of speakers of both Conservatives and Liberals in every part of the riding.

The most striking feature of the situation is the enthusiasm and confidence with which the Liberals are working. The Constituency is by no means a safe Liberal seat; in fact it has always been a very close riding and with the exception of the last election when personal considerations made Hon. A. G. MacKay's election easy and inevitable, the parties have been almost evenly matched.

The Liberals this time, however, feel that victory will be theirs. The Cabinet scandal involving both Hon. W. J. Hanna and Sir James Whitney has deservedly shaken public confidence in the Government and when once confidence is shaken as it has been during the last two months, the Government starts on the down hill road. The Liberal policies are popular in this riding. Not only Abolish the Bar but the whole program of social legislation including Workmen's Compensation and adequate factory laws. The Whitney Government is also unpopular owing to its inefficient policies in Agriculture and Education and it is freely said that the independent voters are, in this election to quite a remarkably degree of unanimity, in accord with Liberal policies and are going to vote to see their ideas carried out.

Niagara Camp.

June 17th, 1913.
Setting out early to catch the morning train your correspondent, after a fine refreshing, dust-laying shower made connections at nearest station and found 20 recruits from Hanover aboard, this manufacturing centre for the first time having company representation, while Durham for the first time in many years has none.

A special from Owen Sound arrived at Saugeen Junction at 9.30, having companies from Markdale and Owen Sound aboard. A few more were picked up at Proton and Dundalk and after that we travelled right through with few stops, reaching Toronto at 1.30 p.m. The Regiment now including Mesford and Thornbury took boat at 2 p.m. while your correspondent took the liberty of calling on friends proceeding to Camp by a later boat.

On arriving at the historic grounds about 6 p.m., after a delightful sail on the Chippewa, regaled all the way with ragtime and other music, old friendships were soon renewed and mutual welcomes given. Supper is not guaranteed the first night in camp, and some we fear not aware of conditions, went supperless to bed, thus early beginning to realize there were hardships as well as pleasures in soldiering. We were comfortable in the hospitality of old friends Mr. and Mrs. Bishop, the former now owner and manager of the enlarged and successful Union Jack Canning factory.

Marching in Muster Roll Call this Tuesday morning, at 6 a.m. on an empty stomach, caused two "fall outs" after which the men were told to sit down while waiting for the officers from the pay department. Medical inspection proceeded and there is evidently more thoroughness in this process than ever before. I have not heard the result. Appliances and conveniences of a sanitary nature are more in evidence every year; the incinerator, shower bath and filtered water are notable instances of modern camp sanitation and much appreciated by the men. Hanover as we said has 20 men and would have had more only for the uncertainty of having a camp at Owen Sound in the fall instead. Markdale has its full company of 39 men, as also has Mesford. Owen Sound and Thornbury are below strength, the latter having 15 to 18 men. The Band, 18 strong are from Owen Sound. The Bugle Band, 16 strong is also from that town, little chaps some of them but great to blow.

The Sergeant's mess is in full swing this morning, radiant with bright silver ware, the outcome of the fire at Owen Sound, necessitating a new supply of many articles in use by the officers of the Regiment. Our chef is dark but fully proficient and efficient.

The old Babel of sounds is going on in the camp, the clatter of the cook's dishes and the blows of the axe of his assistant splitting wood. Mingled with this is the distant commands of innumerable officers blowing of bugles and playing of bands, while your correspondent sits in the shade writing this lingo to your numerous readers, who may call it trash, but there is a charm about it all to one possessed of patriotic spirit and having a strain of militarism in his veins.

The ever popular Y. M. C. A. are doing a grand and noble work here; Hon. Sam Hughes is persistently clearing the camps of the liquor traffic, and the moving picture shows are a great source of pleasure.

More attention is being paid to firing exercises apparently, from a perusal of the order.

At least 95 per cent of the O. A. C. students return to the farm.

PARKERS' BUG KILLER

The Preparation that kills the Potato Bug and not the Plant

The only preparation that has proved good when others failed. Easily applied. Cheaper and better than Paris Green. No water to carry. Good for Cabbage Plants, Berry Bushes and Turnips as well as the Potato plants. Now is the time to apply it when the plants are appearing as this preparation kills the beetle as the late bugs. The only preparation that is a fertilizer as well as insecticide.

Dornoch

The arid conditions which have prevailed without cessation for the past few weeks were terminated on Thursday and Friday when the lowly clouds dropped down their garnered fullness on a thirsty, suffering earth. Things were about as dry as one of Billy O'Mara's last year whiskey flasks, but the downpour has revived the wilted vegetation and transformed the very face of Nature. It has come rather late to promote a good growth in the meadows, as the combined scourge of drought and frost have reduced some of them to the condition of pastures areas, but the roots and spring crop will be vastly benefited and with ideal conditions thereafter, will be a good yield.

Several pupils from this vicinity were in Durham and Chatsworth last week writing on the Entrance. May their efforts be rewarded with success and may this be only a stepping stone to higher mental attainments and wider knowledge in their future career.

Rural schools close on Friday of this week, when the several teachers will spend their vacation at their respective homes: Miss Reid at Dromm, Miss Fook at Hanover, Miss McGillivray at Paisley and Miss Mother at Peterborough. We wish them all a pleasant vacation and trust they may return physically and mentally recuperated to carry on that most glorious of all time, the moral and mental education of the youth of our land.

The third of a series of socials in connection with Litona Sunday school, Dornoch, will be held in the church on Friday evening of this week. There will be a choice program of social and instrumental music, addresses, recitations, etc., and the ladies will provide a choice tea. All are cordially invited to be present at this social function.

Contractor Nuhn, of Williamsford, is erecting a stone foundation for Mr. Colin McIntyre's new barn, which will be raised in the course of the next fortnight. Vahl is a competent mechanic and many evidences of the superiority of his handiwork is seen throughout the adjoining townships.

Dr. J. L. Smith, accompanied by his estimable partner, are enjoying their annual holiday with friends in Arthur. The Dr. will attend the Medical Conference in London as well.

The home of Mr and Mrs Geo. Jones, on the 2nd concession of Bentinck, was the scene of a very pretty double wedding on Wednesday of last week, when their two daughters, Luella and Sadie, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony to the men of their choice, Mr. Thos. Heather, of Chatsworth and Mr. George Hay, of Dornoch, respectively. Precisely at six o'clock the two grooms took their place under a beautiful arch in the parlor and a moment later to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Zarnack, of Williamsford, came the two brides leaning on the arms of their grandfather, Mr. Cron, of Preston. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Mr. Stevenson, of Dornoch and was witnessed by a very large number of guests, not only from the immediate community, but many from outside points as well. After many hearty congratulations and well wishes the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding feast and did ample justice to the many tempting delicacies so abundantly provided. In the enchanting hours of the gloaming the floors were cleared and the melodious strains of the genuine Pat. Malone's violin soon attuned each spirit to harmony and the guests were soon enjoying the whirl of the mazy dance. This was continued till the hour of dawn when the merry gathering dispersed. We might add that the two brides were the recipients of many useful and costly presents, which attest to the esteem with which they are held by their large circle of friends. We voice the sentiments of the community, when we wish the two young couples many years of prosperity and nuptial bliss, as they sail o'er the billowy ocean of time.

On the same afternoon as the preceding event took place at the hour of 4 p.m. Mr. James Buchanan, of Paisley, formerly of Dornoch, and Miss Cora Johnston, one of Dornoch's bonnie ladies, were united in holy wedlock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. N. Stevenson, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. After enjoying an abundant wedding dinner a pleasant time was spent in music, games and dancing till about the midnight hour. Mr and Mrs Buchanan take up their residence on the farm near Paisley and all unite in hoping that the new home formed "among the myriad homes of earth" may be one where love and happiness will dwell and where prosperity will smile.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT. Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got The New Varicose Treatment. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $1 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $11 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers know of your valuable treatment."
HENRY C. LOCUST.
