Choice Recipes.

German Potato Salad.—Boil small potatoes with their skins on. Cut one-quarter pound of bacon into small pieces and fry brown. Now skin your potatoes, cut into dice and mix with the bacon-fat and all. Add a little minced onion and parsley. Dress with French dressing. After it has become thoroughly chilled and marinated, serve on a bed of lettuce leaves.

Tapioca Cream Soup.—Soak two tablespoons of pearl tapioca overnight. Add one-quarter of white stock and cook until transparent, then add one cupful of water, one tablespoon of butter, one onion and a stalk of celery cut fine, pepper, salt and mace. Simmer one hour. When ready to serve, stir in one cupful of rich cream and add a little minced parsley.

Ginger Ale Salad.—Follow the usual recipe for coffee jelly, substituting ginger ale for the coffee and adding a little lemon juice. When hardened cut into cubes. Sprinkle with crushed nuts and serve on lettuce leaves with a mayonnaise dressing.

Cookie Tartslets.—Make a plain cookie dough, roll it out rather thin and line muffin tins with the dough. Bake, and when cold fill each cup with stewed rhubarb or strawberries and put a spoonful of whipped cream on top.

Pea Timbales.—Cook sufficient peas to make two cupfuls. When tender, put through a vegetable press. Add a little minced onion, two well-beaten eggs, two tablespoons melted butter and sufficient pepper, salt and paprika to season. Turn into buttered timbale molds and set them in a pan of hot water to bake. Serve with a white sauce which has been added some nicely cooked peas.

Chicken Rolls.—Take the bits of cold chicken left from Sunday's dinner, chop and season with paprika, salt and minced pickles. Add the yolk of an egg to mashed potatoes, working it to a paste. Sprinkle with flour, making it flat and round. Put the seasoned meat on one-half and turn the other half over like an omelet. Pour over it some melted butter and fry or bake a light brown.

Boiled New Onions.—Cut the onions and tops from young onions, leaving the onion stalks about six inches long. Tie in bunches of eight and boil carefully until tender. Remove with a strainer and place each bundle upon a piece of toast. Cut away the strings and pour over the onions a thin white sauce. Serve as you would asparagus.

Italian Puffs.—Cream one-half ounce of butter, add beaten yolk of four eggs, a pinch of salt and one-half teaspoon sugar. Add alternately, beating well, two cups flour (sifted) and two cups of milk. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs. Bake in pop-over cups for twenty minutes.

Cream Pie.—Heat one cupful milk and one cupful sugar in a double boiler. Add gradually two tablespoonfuls of flour which has been moistened with a little cold milk, the beaten yolks of two eggs and a pinch of salt. Cook until quite thick, then flavor with orange and set aside to cool. Fill a pie crust which has been previously baked. Cover with a meringue made of the whites of the eggs and two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Brown in the oven or with a hot salamander.

German Cinnamon Cake.—Dissolve one cake of yeast in one tablespoon sugar; then take three cups flour, one cup lukewarm milk, one teaspoon salt; add two tablespoonfuls butter, one tablespoonful sugar and two eggs. Knead dough and let rise in a warm place. Then cut into pieces one-half inch thick and place in well greased pan and let rise till light. Cut across with a sharp knife, brush with egg, and then sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Bake 30 minutes in a moderately heated oven.

Cust Pudding.—One and one-quarter cups sugar, one-half cup water, one-half cup butter, two well-beaten eggs, one-quarter teaspoon salt, three teaspoonfuls baking powder, one cup nuts, one three-quarter cup flour. Cream the butter and sugar, add the water and well-beaten egg mix, and add the flour and baking powder. Beat

Or, A Struggle For a Heart

As the two went quickly down the steps, he stood at the open door and looked after them. Then, when they had disappeared in the next street, he turned to the hall and stood gazing round him absently, his hands tucked in his pockets. The brightness which had now faded away flashed over his face, and his eyes and mouth were smiling.

Mr. Bright stood a little apart and watched him with the interest of a detective.

"This is a happy day for Learmore, Gaunt and Decima presently," he said, and looked at him as if he had forgotten his presence.

"Oh, I beg your pardon, Bright," he said. "Come into the library."

Decima hurried on. "We shall be late," he said; "and that will give our excuse for freeing our internal economy some credit. I'll get my rod; and you hurry on and dig the governor out of his den." I say, what an afternoon of surprises! Do you think you know me, Bright? What a splendid fellow he is! Not a bit like what I pictured him. I don't wonder at Bright's enthusiasm. What did you think of him?"

"I don't know," said Decima.

"She didn't know," said Decima, "at that moment, to tell Bobby of her previous acquaintance with him." Bobby snuffed contemptuously.

"That's so like a girl. You don't know. If he were a pretty young man with curly hair and the rest of it, now, I'd be sure to know him. And awfully kind, too. Made us free of the house, by George! It was a good enough for him, his deciding to settle down here. It won't be my fault if he don't see a good deal of me. Here's my card, now you cut off as fast as you can pell, while I pack up; you know your way."

Decima hurried on. The meeting with Lord Gaunt and its dramatic incidents had so excited him, he could scarcely believe that he had come to his own door. He had no idea of how long he had been sitting there, and how long he had been sitting there. He had no idea of how long he had been sitting there, and how long he had been sitting there.

tell him that, notwithstanding his being such a bad lot, I rather like him, and will consent to fish his river as usual," said Decima, went down the street-if street it could be called—laughing, and almost ran into the arm of Mr. Bright, who was coming out of one of the cottages.

There was a smile of satisfaction on his good-natured countenance, which deepened as his good-tempered eyes rested on the lovely face and all figure in its plain morning-dress.

Biggest in the World.

The extremes in age and size always awaken interest. England is well to the fore in this respect, the largest dock in the world being at Cardiff, Wales; the greatest bank, the Bank of England, University College, Oxford, is the most ancient college existing; it was founded in the year 1249. The largest bronze statue extant is that of Peter the Great, which stands in St. Petersburg, Russia, 1,100 tons comprising its weight. Cape Henry, Virginia, has the distinction of possessing the largest lighthouse, and the mammoth moonlight—100 feet—is to be found in Egypt.

Paris lays claim to the largest theatre in the world, the Opera House there covering three acres of ground. Historians adjudge the far-away city of Damascus to be the oldest in the world. The tallest chimney is to be found in Glasgow, and is 474 feet high; whilst Washington possesses the highest monument, the height being 555 feet.

THE BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT.

Scouting for boys started in January, 1908, just over five years ago, with a few boys in the first Troop organized in the Motherland. What is the result? The Movement has been successfully organized and is doing good work amongst boys in Germany, Russia, Italy, France, Spain, United States, China, Switzerland, and in every part of our Empire, and every Scout carrying out the 4th Scout Law, "A Scout is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout, no matter what social class the other belongs," in other words, a boys' Freemasonry helping and aiding one another. The Movement has proved to have done a good work by bringing the boys of different nationalities together, which is bound to produce good results, and as our Scouts grow into manhood we believe this friendship will be maintained. Interchanges of visits are being carried out, not only within the Empire, but with other nations and with the greatest spirit of good comradeship.

The Movement is not aiming to supplant any existing organization, but to supplement and help as far as lay within its power, as an aid to the Sunday School whereby the teacher can get close to his scholars by camping and hiking together and getting close to nature. Public and High School principals have stated they can note a difference in boys who are Scouts. They want to "play the game fair" and show they are ready to do their very best at play and at studies to uphold the honor of the Movement they are enrolled in.

"Well, I should think so," Lem was growing indignant. "That is all you will need," said Lingo. "I have the lumber already there."

"I saw it worked," remarked Lingo to his wife, with satisfaction. "I knew I should have to pay him for that wasted hour anyway, and I had rather pay it, and get the work done. It always takes a carpenter an hour to come, squint his eye at a board, rub his hands on his overalls, and then go back and get his tools."

"I had to go down-town, and get some nails," he explained, without a smile.

show they are ready to do their very best at play and at studies to uphold the honor of the Movement they are enrolled in. Even though we have not the means to offer training to our Scoutmasters yet the nature of the training as laid down in "The Canadian Boy Scout" has appealed to the boy's sense of honor so keenly that splendid results have been achieved during the past three years, and now we have a large number of senior lads who are willing to undertake the work of training the younger lads. There is no grander work for a young man than to interest himself in the Boy Scout Movement. Will you join the ranks? Will you step out and enlist under the banner with the motto "Be Prepared." Will you promise to do your best to carry out the Scout oath "To do your duty to God and the King. To help other people at all times. To obey the Scout Law."

Business men are asking for Scouts to fill positions and the experience of the past three years has shown clearly that boys are benefited and better fitted through their connection with the Boy Scout Movement.

Business men, if you want to help the boy organize a Troop in your factory, Ministers, make the Movement a supplement to the work in your church. School teachers, let the spirit of the Scout Law spread amongst the members of your class. To help the other fellow.

Let every citizen understand the true principles of a Movement that has now enrolled under its banner about 2,000,000 boys world-wide, and within reach of the poorest boy and has proved to the world its usefulness in training boys through their play.

PAYING FOR PROMPTNESS.

This Man Thought He Knew the Ways of Carpenters.

Bruce Lingo thought he knew carpenters; anyway, he knew the preliminaries that some of them are accustomed to observe before they get finally to work. But his knowledge was not quite so complete as he thought it was.

WAS A CONFIRMED DYSPLECTIC

Now Finds it a Pleasure to Enjoy Meals

Here is a case which seemed as bad and as hopeless as yours can possibly be. This is the experience of Mr. H. J. Brown, 384 Bathurst St., Toronto, in his own words:

"Gentlemen—I have much pleasure in mentioning to you the benefit received from your Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets and can cheerfully recommend them. I simply had confirmed dyspepsia with all its wretched symptoms, and tried about all the advertised cures with no success. You have in Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets the best curative agent I could find. It is now such a pleasure to enjoy meals with their consequent nourishment that I want to mention this for the benefit of others."

The fact that a lot of prescriptions or so-called "cures" have failed to help you is no sign that you have got to go on suffering. Try Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets and see how quickly this sterling remedy will give you relief and start your stomach working properly. If it doesn't help you, you get your money back, see a box at your druggist's. Compounded by the National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Montreal, 141
