

WARNED TO LEAVE MEXICO

President Wilson Calls Upon the 15,000 Americans to Return to the United States.

A despatch from Washington says: President Wilson proclaimed his new policy of non-interference in the Mexican situation before a joint session of the two Houses of Congress on Wednesday afternoon. The delivery of the address followed President Wilson's decision no longer to wait upon Huerta's policy of procrastination and delay. The President, after frankly acknowledging failure of the Lind mission, outlined the new policy of the United States towards Mexico, namely—non-interference.

President Wilson proposes to let 1915. J. C. Grew, charge d'affaires in Mexico, enters the strong hope that eventually the pride of Huerta will be broken, and that all factions will realize the necessity of yielding to the American mediation demands.

The President does not consider this new policy of non-interference as closing the door for future American efforts towards a peaceful solution of the present difficulty. In fact, he expressed the firm belief that not many days will elapse "before we shall triumph as the friend of Mexico."

It is likely that the United States will have the co-operation of the powers of the world in the embargo on shipments of arms and ammunition into Mexico. Intimations were thrown out by Senator Bacon, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, that such a course would be the logical one for other Governments to follow. President Wilson has made it known that the United States has had the moral support of several of the great powers in the mediation negotiations, and it is the general belief now that these Governments will lend a helping hand to the United States in cutting off military supplies from Mexico.

The recent death of Field-Marshal Lord Wolseley has brought out many anecdotes of the famous British officer. On one occasion, as the soldiers were dining and the orderlies were hastening back and forth with pails of steaming soup, Wolseley stopped one of them, and ordered him to remove the lid of his pail. The man promptly obeyed. "Let me taste it," said the general.

"But—" began the orderly. "Let me taste it, I say!" and he tasted it. "Disgraceful!" he exclaimed. "It's for all the world like dish-water."

The orderly saluted. "That's what it is, sir!" he said.

ARRESTS AND EXECUTIONS

Many Chinese Legislators And Others Flee to the South for Their Lives.

A despatch from Peking says: A crisis was reached here on Wednesday owing to the arrest of nine members of the Chinese Parliament. Since the proclamation of martial law in the capital arrests and summary executions have been frequent occurrences, several of the victims being members of Parliament. Many of the deputies have departed for the south in fear for their lives, and the assembly of a Parliamentary quorum has been prevented on numerous occasions owing to rumors that the police intended to make further arrests.

The Senate passed a motion delegating the Speaker and Deputy Speaker to visit Provisional President Yuan Shi Kai and ask him for an explanation of the arrests, and also to enquire whether he still desired to govern China with the help of the Parliament or not. At the same time the Senate resolved not to sit again if the reply of Yuan Shi Kai proved unsatisfactory. The Lower House passed resolutions in a similar strain.
