Good Rich Milk

The Critical Consumer of milk may give a snap verdict on the glass of "good rich milk" given him in the restaurant or at home, and may vaguely wonder what percentage of fat the milk is supposed to contain. Certain standards of richness are fixed by various countries, and by municipalities, while some purchasing companies and dealers also set a standard below which the milk must not fall.
 The knowledge of the average test of the herd, interesting as it is, is not as valuable to the progressive dairyman as a knowledge of what each cow's milk tests. Whether it is 2.9, 3.4, 4.2 or 5.6 per cent of fat depends on various factors, and can only be ascertained after systematic sampling and testing. Such testing sometimes reveals curious facts. A pet cow whose "good rich milk" was reserved for table use was recently discarded by a farmer when cow-testing proved to his dismay that her milk was nearly the poorest in the herd.
 The average test of the herd is a vital matter to every dairyman whose milk is paid for at the cheese factory by the test; it is of decided importance to both creamery manager and patron when considering the by-product of skim-milk for feeding, and the loaded wagon for the cream-hauler. For two lots each of 16,500 pounds of normal milk may contain either 500 or 900 pounds of fat; one lot is scarcely the best for cheesemaking, while the other would be "good rich milk."

 Miss Jennie MacGillivray is visiting her sister Mrs. Dan McArthur in the Glen.
 Saugeen Valley bridge was finished on Monday. Drive around our way and see what a fine job Mr. Keyes and his gang have made of it.

WANTED TO BUY SHOES AT THE JUNCTION.

Conductor Scanlon of the Walkerton, Durham branch of the C. P. R. is famous for other things besides being an official on the railway and having sufficient powers of endurance and patience to outlast a wait twice daily at the Saugeen Junction end of the line, where he is afforded a splendid opportunity of surveying the annual boarder of the train in many amusing little episodes which take place at the junction while he and his crew are waiting for the Toronto train.
 Listen. Here is a fresh one that just happened last Friday. A lady whose destination was Walkerton boarded the train at Markdale. She had a baby with her but that did not bar her from that pleasant four hours wait between trains. Evidently she had left home hurriedly without taking time to properly dress the youngster and it was also manifest that she was not aware of the possibilities of the informed her that she was in for a four hours wait she radiantly looked up and replied, "Oh, isn't that dandy. I'll have time to go out and buy a pair of shoes and stockings for baby."
 With a smile, the official gently broke the news to her that for the present, "baby" would have to do without his footwear.

Equal Heat in Every Part of The Gurney-Oxford Oven

Every woman well knows the bad results from constantly opening the oven door to move a cake to another shelf or turn a pan of biscuits. Often the shifting or the cold air striking in proves utterly disastrous to her baking.
 The Divided Flue on the Gurney-Oxford range equally distributes the heat to all parts of the oven which is regulated to the exact temperature required by means of the Economizer.
 This wonderful time-labor-and-money-saving device controls the heat of the whole range.
 It is worked by a small handle which moves around a series of six notches. The housewife soon learns that by moving the handle to No. 1 she has a very hot oven, to No. 3 a moderate oven, and that No. 6 checks the fire so as to burn scarcely any coal while she goes out shopping. On her return she simply moves the handle to the number that gives the required heat and the result is prompt.
 The smooth top castings will not catch or retain grease.
 The bright nickel trimming lifts off for cleaning and keeps the range new and shining in appearance.
 For years stove experts have been working out woman's problem in the kitchen and the Gurney-Oxford range is the solution.
