Priceville Show.

The Prize Lists are out for the Show on Oct. 2nd and 3rd. The list is larger than heretofore. Competition should correspondingly be keener.

The Owen Sound Pipe Band will draw a large crowd alone, as Pipe music stirs a crowd out earlier in the morning and keeps interest up better through the day than music produced from any other source. There will be a fine concert in Watson's Hall the evening of the third. The committee arranging for a first class company of performers and promise a good entertainment.

In 1911 there were 72 entries in butter alone at Priceville Show, make it better this year. There are good prizes offered. Look up the prize list. If you have none write the Sec. Mr. T. A. M. Ferguson, Priceville for one.

Owen Sound Markdale, Chatsworth and several smaller places are negotiating with the Hydro-Electric Supplying them with electric power. What about our village? We could be in same line. The power is to be generated at Eugenia Falls.

By J. A. McD.

The harvest is passed and the glorious summer will soon be ended. The granaries of the tillers of the soil are somewhat smaller in bulk than in former years but there is no reason to set up a complaint for the grain is turning out, good according to the quantity of straw. Colin McLean with his big thresher is wiping out the South Line farmers during the last week. Go up the highland hills of a tenniss and you can find some of the best farmers in the county, some of them highland, some lowland, and by the way it looks as if no other nationality need apply as there are about 3 or 4 miles all Scotch with the exception of some half dozen other nationalities. In olden times there used to be familiar names such as McLean, McInnis, McIntosh and McDonald, all in close proximity to one another and now they are all dead or in distant parts of the world. In olden times there were so many of the same name that they had to be distinguished by other titles such as Long Sandy McLean, Short Sandy McLean and Proton Sandy McLean. Now we have Proton Sandy a resident of Priceville and the other two have passed to the great beyond.

We remember a Rev. gentleman that was pastor of the old kirk in Priceville long years ago, tell a story tell a story of the Scotchman of Gungaharry. He said if you met a man on the road and ask him his name. His reply would be 'Tonal'; 'And what's your other name?'—'another Tonal, meaning Donald McDonald. So a person would not make a mistake in the early part of the south line to greet every one you would meet by saying 'how are you McLean or McMillan or McDonald or McArthur', but these poor old McLeans, McMillans and McDonalds are not as numerous as they were, but there are a goodly number of McMillans yet. There are Donald, Malcolm and John McMillan and Mrs Hector McLean alive yet of the old stock and we hope they may be for a long time yet. The original McLeans are pretty well gone. The well-known Arch. McLean left for Vancouver this summer and we well come his successor Mr. who bought the farm stock and implements this summer.

We pass on up to Currie's Corners. The old Currie's are all gone, only a reminder of them will be seen on visiting the churchyard or cemetery. Of the Currie's there remains Miss Margaret Currie, who in the days of her youth was hard to surpass in all the qualities that made her to be the fairest of her sex in the days of her youth, but 'now old age has crept in and blooming beauty lost its charms.'

Up a little way was a settlement of McDougall's, but not one of the old people living and only one other, Neil McDougall and sister, who are on the old farm of their father, the late James McDougall. We are now far enough up telling of the good people of the east. So we will take an imaginary walk across to the old Durham Road. Away back between 50 and 60 years ago this was the leading road to the Toronto line, where many of the poor old pioneers of the western deviation tramped on foot going to the older settlement clad in a blueberry suit and a carpet bag to carry their provisions till they would get to the end of their journey, perhaps in the old County of York or Peel. No C. P. E. then to take them to their destination, no automobiles, no many waggons or horses to relieve the weary travellers.

We slowly go down the old Durham Road, viewing the old residences of long ago, the first settlers all gone pretty much. The roads are improved somewhat, but the old hills are there and will be. We come to the top of Ferguson's hill and lo and behold we are in sight of Priceville. The Sauguen River is to be crossed and as we go down the big hill at Col. McLean's, we come to the river and could not get across for the old bridge is gone, but fortunately as the water was low, there wasn't much trouble in getting over dry shod on stones. But going up the old hill again where the old post office was kept by the late Squire Ferguson, called Artermesia, and in comparing notes of 63 years ago to 1913, we find a vast contrast. Then the mail was only once a week, carried by old Frederick Arnstrong, from down the Toronto line somewhere into Durham via where Priceville stands now. There wasn't so many daily papers in circulation as nowadays, for the old gentleman carried his mail bag on his back.

Now we come up through town and call here and there, not forgetting to call on Dr. Lane and his hard to find him in his office even if a fellow comes to get a broken rib fixed up, for his numerous calls are very extensive and cannot be found at the office and abroad at the same time. Now we stop and leave the rest to a better reporter and Priceville page will be well filled this week. Agus mar sin bidheadh e and sola it.

Died at her home on Con. 4, N.D.R. Artermesia, known as Stone Settlement, Mrs. McLeod, relict of the late John McLeod (who predeceased her some four years ago) at the age of about 75 years. Mrs. McLeod was one of the kindest old ladies in Artermesia, for she was beloved by all who formed her acquaintance, in the days of her life she was a regular attendant at the Presbyterian church, of which she was a good member, her christian

The Gurney-Oxford

Why it is the Best Range Procurable

It stands to reason that the Perfect Control foundry of national reputation for its equipment of the most notable hotel, restaurant, and institutional kitchens throughout the Dominion, also makes the best range on the market for the home kitchen.

This Gurney-Oxford range is the result of over seventy years' experience and experimental study of improvements to benefit the woman who toils in the kitchen.

Even Bakings
 By means of a Divided Flue Strip, the heat is divided evenly over the top and down the back and sides of the oven. A pan of biscuits in the front and back of the oven will brown with perfect evenness without having to change their places many times during the baking.

The two back lids of the range also receive an equal cooking heat that will boil two kettles at the same time.
