These Anniversaries have for fourteen years been red-letter days in the Presbyterian Church and that of Sunday and Monday last were not a whit inferior in interest, profit and pleasure to those of preceding years. The only cloud if it may be so called was occasioned by the prospect of losing the well-loved pastor, Rev. Dr. Farquharson, who for fourteen fruitful years has gone and met among this people with great acceptance and was but for the uncertainty of his health would have been welcomed for fourteen years more.

The preacher of the day was Rev. Thurlow Fraser of Owe. Sound formerly of Portage La Prairie and for four years a missionary in Japan. His morning discourse was from Acts 10: 34, "Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons," and was a well reasoned effort to show how the "Vision" was effectual in promoting growth and expansion in the life of the individual and of nations. It was a wholesome, stirring missionary sermon.

He vividly pictured the effect on the disciples, when they discovered that to the Gentiles as well as to Jews had come the word of life. To find that race, color, history, habit of thought, was of no account in God's sight, was to receive a much widened vision of God's plan and the honor of baptizing the first gentile convert, a stronger man than he was necessary to take up this work and such a man was found in the great apostle of the Gentiles, Paul. Even Paul had to fight Jewish Christians on this question, but he won, and the speaker pictured what dark possibilities might have ensued had Paul been defeated by these narrow Christians without vision.

Such a conflict has been going on since and he claimed that only recently had Protestantism acquired the broader vision. He quoted examples from quite modern times where Christians had felt no claim to carry the gospel to the heathen, one instance being that no English ship would carry Carey when they knew he was going as a missionary to India.

He urged the broader vision because we believe in the words of the text, 2nd Cor. 10: 18, "For he that is lifted up shall be brought low, and he that is brought low shall be lifted up." The Christian church has the wider vision. The Christian church has seen nothing more heroic than the behaviour of the 30,000 Christians who in the Boxer rebellion went to death rather than recant, and other heroic examples could be cited among the other races whose countenances never "blushed to the loss of the sun."

In the evening from John 21: 4, 7 he opened with a graphic description of a picture representing "dawn" of morning and also the dawning of a new life in one of its characters. The apostles weary and heart broken over the crucifixion of their Lord and master had their souls put into a flame of courage as they recognized "It is the Lord" and he had come again into their lives and they went forth to service unto the death if need be.

He drew many fine examples to show that the Lord in the life of the individual or of nations would accomplish great things. Some of these examples: the people of Holland in their fight against Spain, the life of Thos. Carlyle, Char- rington, the brewer's son, John Howard and others into whose life the dawn had come. "It is a poor human- dard sort of life that has not felt the dawn."

MONDAY EVENING
From 6 to 8 p. m. the basement was crowded with members and friends, in some cases whole families being present, not to do justice to an ample report that must have taken some skill and generalship to prepare and collect. These happy hours over adjournment was made upstairs and with Dr. Farquharson in the chair a program was presented equalling if not surpassing the best of past years.

He closed with a fine optimistic note for all in such struggles. There was hope and help for those who sought it from God; "the Devil is not omnipotent, God is."

A hearty vote of thanks was given to the lecturer, choir and all who contributed. Almost $50 was realized to be applied to the organ fund.

LIBRARY NOTICE.—No books will be given out at the Library on Friday and Saturday of next week, on account of arranging the Library for the big meeting of the Library Association of Orangeville District to be held here on 17th and 18 November.

H. S. DEBATE.—The advisability of moving the Town hall to its new position to the west of the market was the subject of a keen debate between Messrs 2nd and 3rd at the High School Library on Friday afternoon.

A quiet but pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. Geo. Caswell, 2nd con, Benitack, at the hour of 11:30 on Tuesday morning when their daughter, Miss Marie was united in marriage to Mr. J. S. Southcott of Goderich.

Mr. Geo. Caswell had a narrow escape from death on Monday evening, when his horse, a spirited young animal became frightened and ran away. He was trying the horse in the sheets of the Methodist church, when the animal, some tin cans made it take fright and bolt.

Baptists Say Good-Bye.

Some fifty or sixty members of the Baptist congregation here, with a sprinkling of other denominations, met on Friday evening at the home of Mr and Mrs Burgess, Upper town, to spend an evening with Rev. and Mrs. McCausland before their departure for his new charge in Peimac-ston. The company overflowed into the home of Mr McCausland adjoining, but all got together for the program.

After a pleasant informal hour or two of agreeable chat, music, etc., Mr Allan Bell, as chairman, called the meeting to order and invited Mr John Graham to the front. In a representative capacity Mr Graham addressed himself to Mr and Mrs McCausland and read an appreciative address from his congregation, breathing sentiments of love and respect, regrets for departure and good wishes for the future.

At an appropriate time a presentation was made of a purse of gold and a handsome clock, Mrs Wm. Moffat and Mrs F. Search respectively presenting the gifts.

There followed in order brief addresses from Messrs Dan McLean, Jno. Hughes, W. H. Moffat, Jno. Graham, Wm. Irwin, C. Ramage, all expressing appreciation of the worthy couple who so soon were to be separated from the congregation and the social life of the town, and at the same time expressing natural regrets at the breaking of the natural ties between Mr and Mrs McCausland and their friends.

Rev. Mr McCausland replied feelingly, thanking all for the kind words spoken and for the beautiful gifts. He reviewed his pastorate of three years, his first pastorate, and thanked his congregation for having borne with him in the early stages when he was new to the town. He had striven always prayerfully to do his duty and was sure both Mr and Mrs McCausland would long remember the kindnesses received from the congregation and from the town and country generally.

Musical selections instrumental and vocal, interspersed and followed the speeches. Mrs Irwin accompanied on the organ and other contributors were solo by the chairman, Miss Arkell and Miss Alice Ramage; duets by Misses Lillie Walker and Rita McCoub, by Rita McCoub and Theodore Fallaise and recitations by Messrs McGregor, Walker and Ramage.

A very enjoyable luncheon was provided by the ladies of the congregation and somewhere beyond the midday hour the company dispersed and voting it had been a pleasant evening and loyally singing "God Save the King."

Glenelg Centre Farmers' Club

The regular meeting of the Glenelg Centre Farmers' Club was held in the Township Hall on the evening of Nov. 4. A goodly number were present and a pleasant time was spent. The subject under consideration was feeds and feeding and was taken by the President. He showed that in order to be a good feeder one must know something about the composition of the feeds he is using. In all feeds there are three compounds which must be taken into consideration. The most important and is used in the formation of lean meat and muscles. If this food element is not present then there can be no lean meat in the animal system.

Old King Winter has at last shown his supremacy. To see the snow flying and to hear the wind howling makes us glad that everything is ready for winter and we can enjoy a blazing fire once again.

There is great comfort in a long coat with a fur collar. There is so large a portion of the winter which is severe and blustry that the possession of a long coat with a fur collar is practically a necessity in every women's complete wardrobe. We have them and they are made especially for ourselves. They have superior cloth, also superior quality-quilted lining and are a little longer than the ordinary fur collar coat.

Any one intending purchasing a good warm coat should see this line before selecting elsewhere. We have also passed into stock within this last week 36 Ladies new Coats ranging in price from $6 to $15

Our showing of Men's and Boys' Overcoats and Men's and Boys' Suits is an interesting feature of this store.
