

Your Oven Gains by Our Oven Test

Your oven becomes a certain producer of more bread and better bread. We can promise that. For from each shipment of wheat delivered at our mills we take a ten pound sample. We grind it into flour. We bake the flour into bread.

PURITY

If this bread is high in quality and large in quantity, we use the shipment. Otherwise we sell it. There is no guess-work about our promise of more bread and better bread from flour bearing this name.

Rambling in the Rockies.

Dear Review Readers:

On leaving Edmonton, about half the distance to Calgary, the white jagged line of the Rockies, over one hundred miles away, comes into view on the west, and as approaching Calgary they gradually become more conspicuous. In this city we were pleased to greet many good old home friends of whom we will later speak. A few days after found Banff in the Rocky foothills, our destination and for a day and a half here and at Laggan, we feasted our eyes on the scenic wonders so lavishly bestowed on this part of our Dominion.

Near Canmore, we enter these rugged fortresses, and traversing but a few miles, the Three Sisters mountains loom into view on the south. Banff is almost completely encircled by these lofty eminences and after dining, we at once made our way down the valley, over the Bow river, past the C. P. R.'s magnificent new 13 storey hotel, the last word in modern hotel construction, and a couple miles up the mountain side along the footpath to the Government Hot Springs. From the mountain side issues a stream of hot sulphurous water, and this is piped through gravity pressure into the baths and swimming pool, where a warm bath is appreciated at a temperature of 95 degrees, even though it is snowing or below freezing point above. On looking over the register here, we noticed names from all parts of America and the Old Land, the present time being the slackest season of the year in tourist traffic. Ascent may be continued to the top of Sulphur mountain to the Observatory, but the path being snow-covered, we did not undertake the climb. On returning we fell in with Rev. N. D. Keith, Principal of Red Deer Ladies College, and Rev. Mr. Kumar, mock its travelling representative, who had occupied the Pres. pulpit here on Sunday, and on learning we were from Durham, enquired for Rev. Dr. Farquharson and his brother, Rev. James, with whom they were acquainted.

While in the town we were pleased to meet Miss Mary Swanson of Yeovil, who came here intending to stay four days, but found social life among the mountains so agreeable, she had remained six weeks. She proposes making a tour to the coast and through California, before returning to Egremont. Distances are very deceiving. Apparently to reach the pinnacle of one of the peaks nearby, it is about a mile climb. In a direct line it is more often two or three miles in reality, while if you make the grade, the circuitous path to gain a gradual ascent, will give you a climb or pony ride of 5 or 6 miles. As a morning appetizer we mounted half way up the lofty eminence east of Banff, experiencing a new sensation in piercing the clouds. From this elevation a delightful panorama of Banff at our feet, the Bow valley, and mountains flanking either side, is obtained. From Laggan the C. P. R. has a railroad running up the mountain side 3 1/2 miles to their grand hotel, the Chalet, situated on the shore of Lake Louise, 5670 feet above the sea. Being very little tourist travel at this season, the line is not now in operation, so again we climbed. From the hotel we took in the finest vista, possibly in the mountains. Before us are the placid waters of Lake Louise, about 1 by 1 1/2 miles in extent, not a ripple on its surface; to the east mts. Saddleback and Fairview, 9000 feet high, to the south, the wonderful Victoria glacier, from our viewpoint, apparently an immense sparkling mass of ice and snow, sloping downward to the waters edge at the foot of the lake; to the west, the Beehive, strikingly similar to a beehive, and other mountains. For 3 1/2 miles further upward slope, we continued our climb up to the "Lakes in the Clouds". Mirror lake and Lake Agnes, the latter 6875 feet in the air. Both were frozen over, being much smaller than Lake Louise. Lake Agnes is hemmed in three sides by the Beehive and Devil's Thumb mts. whilst on the open side a stream falls from it almost perpendicularly for 220 feet into Mirror lake. Again we pause before descending to drink in the vista. Snow-bedecked mountain ranges around, above us; away below is seen Lake Louise and the hotel, apparently in miniature, while still lower we view for miles the Bow valley where the railway adheres quite closely to the many deviations of the river.

Without attempting any further pictures we will draw the curtain, as the mountains in all their majesty and grandeur, we cannot adequately describe, and they must be personally seen to be fully appreciated. We have left their environment, but carried away lasting memories of our sojourn among them, and will next week be heard from, basking in the sunny climes of southern Alberta. -P. R.

Swinton Park. The weather for the past week was ideal and warm, our weather predicted six weeks of good weather before winter when thunder is heard so late, but the terrific snowstorm on Sunday changes things around and now a heavy winter is on.

Green Grove The Sunday School here has closed for the winter months. There has not been as large attendance this year as usual, the average attendance being forty-eight. The financial report was very encouraging.

The last Sunday was Rally Day and a goodly number gathered and listened with much pleasure to Mr Chas. Ramage's interesting talk on "The Three Talents, Time, Thought and Truth".

The annual Sunday School Social was held on Friday afternoon, the 21st. Rev. Mr Prudham occupied the chair and gave us a few of the good things he heard at the S. S. convention in Owen Sound. Two choruses were sung by the school and recitations were given by Oscar Bell, Eliza Pasterson, Mary Bell, Sadie Lawrence, Lindsay and George Bell and three dialogues were well given. Rev. Mr Hartley, Dr. Farquharson and Mr Young gave short but interesting addresses. Lunch was then served and the children treated to candies and all went home feeling they had spent a most pleasant afternoon.
