RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

Farewell Words

At the meeting of Saugeen Presbytery last week in Mt. Forest the resignation of Rev. Dr. Farquharson was considered in all its bearings and amid very deep regret on the part of his brother Presbyters was accepted. The Session of the church was represented by Messrs C. L. Grant and Wm. Young who both bore testimony to the worth of their colleague and the regret that his state of health compelled him to take the step of resigning. A letter from Mr. G. Rainiger representing the Board of Managers was read expressing also the profound regret at the prospects of separation after fourteen fruitful and harmonious years in the relationship of pastor and people.

Members of Presbytery in general and regretful unanimity concurred in the sentiments of the congregation and their good-byes were marked by genuine sympathy and a depth of emotion that speaks their appreciation of the value to the Presbytery and the church of Dr. Farquharson's ability, piety, culture and general usefulness.

Sunday last without it being announced as a farewell service, there was a large congregation assembled to listen to their pastor for the last time. His farewell sermon was from John 13: 18 on "Christ's visit to his people's Mission." After noting that the last and best gift to all of us is a vision of the purpose God would like us to accomplish he noted that for Jesus the aim of his efforts was to reveal the Father and that that was to be done through a life lived in trial, pain and sorrow in the power of the Holy Spirit. That end which he thus sought to accomplish is the same as that which is committed to us. As Jesus won the victory through a power of love, so we are sent to win through the same power. We speak of the suffering and death of Jesus; we speak of the glory of the cross, but it is a harder task to take it up as Jesus gives it to us and bear it in his name. What trials are appointed for any of us we know not. There are times when clouds gather and the signs of coming trouble darken. In our hearts we hear prophetic voices telling that trouble, if not hounds and imprisonment await us. Yet why should these things move us? For us as for the Master the victory is to be sealed by our being faithful to the end.

In a tense and more personal strain he attempted to read the following enclosed quotation. What wonder if speaker and audience were alike moved by the impressive parting after fourteen years of happy association in spiritual things:

Our time of working side by side is passing away. The years have brought large opportunity and much bears refreshing. There are pleasant memories and fond wishes, and even through the clouds, there has been light. Far short we have all come of the end in which Jesus lived or the spirit in which he ministered, yet in perfect confidence we commit ourselves and our humble efforts to him who has traversed the road and knows its difficulties. He knows the weakness of the flesh, and when the purpose is true, he will take the will for the deed. When time shall have wroughts full power of decay and earth's structures shall have perished and our plans and devices shall have been forgotten, may we hope and pray that some part of what we are will be counted worthy of being preserved in that building not made with hands eternal in the heavens.

Good Bye to the Farquharsons.

In bidding good bye to the occupants of the Presbyterian manse, the whole town and district is a unit in uttering a sigh of regret. Dr. Farquharson outside his ministerial duties was a public spirited citizen and his services were most valuable in several ways. As Chairman of the High School Board he could not be excelled in the knowledge and interest he brought to bear on all its problems. The same remarks apply to him as chairman of the Public Library Board which will greatly miss his guiding hand.

Mrs. Farquharson has been a worthy helpmeet in many ways, and the missionary societies and other subsidiary institutions of the church have been greatly strengthened by her devotion to their interests. In this connection also a need of prayer must be given to the pastor's sister Miss Farquharson who was ever diligent in good works and was especially thoughtful and attentive in sickness.

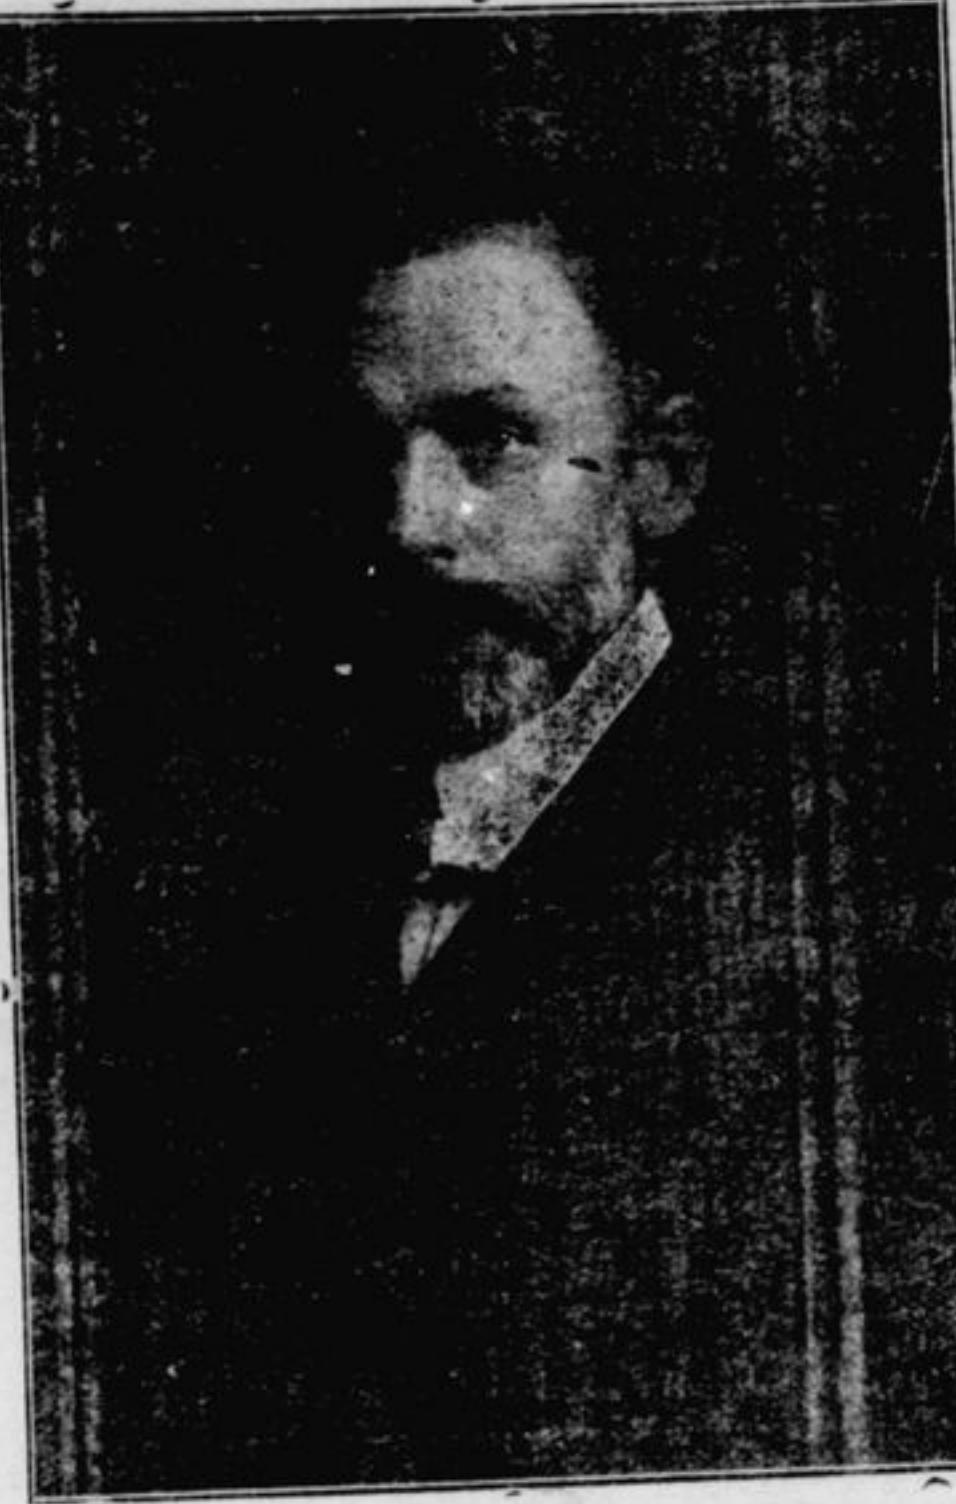

To all of them including Miss Jessie and the boys, the greatest of good wishes will be given for a prosperous future, above all that the health of Dr. Farquharson, whose breakdown caused the separation, may soon be completely restored.

ROSS A. MINISTER.—The congregations of Dornoch, Rocky Saugeen and Williamson on Tuesday of this week made a unanimous choice of Rev. Mr. Mills for their new pastor. Mr. Mills is from Shelburne district and has student-missionary experience in British Columbia. Ordination and induction will take place shortly. We congratulate the congregation on making a choice within a month and hope that the utmost harmony and progress will be the result. Mr. Mills is married and has won the hearts of his people already we are informed.

Pastor Durham Presbyterian Church from Nov. 1st, 1899 to Nov. 30, 1913

The Horse Fair.

After a month's holiday, the Horse Fair last Thursday assumed its old time proportions some 27 horses changing hands, most of them at good prices. Seven or eight buyers were present and good business was the result.

There was good business in the stores also, and at least two merchants offered to increase their contribution to assist Mr. Black in the outlay he incurred in establishing these fairs. It is somewhat surprising that some have yet given nothing though all have given something.

The fair is now well established and when buyers understand that the third Thursday of every month is the day, the community for 12 to 15 miles around will remember it also and it will run along smoothly by itself, even though the old fair's used to do.

Many farmers were much disappointed that the October fair was called off and they may rest assured that it won't be again.

Success to Durham Horse Fair.

Jas. McLean Sentenced

Eighteen months in the Central Prison was the sentence served to James McLean on highway robbery, by Chief Justice Falconbridge at Owen Sound last week. McLean was defended by W. H. Wright and pleaded not guilty to the charge. Alfred Lewis, the man who was robbed positively identified McLean as one of the men who robbed him and Mr. Jack McDonald testified having seen Lewis on the morning following his arrest.

MARKETS.—Hogs are $8.10 this week

About 80 were shipped on the last two market days. Lambs are worth from $7 to $12 a lb. No change in hay prices. Butter 22, eggs 30.

White Mr. Knight, of Dornoch, his daughter Miss Lyla and Miss Arrowsmith, of town, were driving southward towards Durham on Sunday evening, an incident occurred about the Rocky church which might have proved fatal.

In the dark the horse took fright and the buggy was somehow overturned and the occupants did not run away and they escaped with a few bruises.

SOUTH GREY BOYS.—A recent copy of the Battleford News has a glowing account of the opening of a new Collegiate Institute costing $150,000. We may be prone to puzzle over the fact that two of the speeches of the day were made by Mr. Cameron McIntosh, editor of the News and by Mr. Joseph Snell, Principal of the Saskatoon Normal.

Both South Grey boys. Then the great function of laying the corner stone was done by Lieut.-Governor Geo. Brown, who was a Holstein boy son of late Thos. Brown for many years treasurer of the township.

Well done South Grey.

Brooks who has served six weeks of his sentence by this time, has been in Owen Sound jail since his trial but on Monday, in company with McLean, he was taken to Toronto.

Meanwhile, the petition which Mrs.

Brooks has been circulating seeking the pardon of her husband, is in the hands of the Department of Justice at Ottawa where it is now being considered. This was sent two weeks ago and contained 217 names. No reply has as yet been received from Ottawa. A second petition in behalf of Brooks has also been circulated in Owen Sound by the Y.M.C.A. there and was also forwarded to the Capital. This paper contained about 75 names.

TO-NIGHT Thursday a farewell gathering of the congregation is being held in the church to give a united good-bye.

MAINE FAIR.—The fair is being held at the Manse this Saturday afternoon, when Dr. Farquharson is disposing of a large quantity of the household effects.

The list of articles to be sold includes many that have been omitted from the bills.

A despatch from Ottawa states that Grey's membership in the House of Commons will likely be reduced from three to two after redistribution. If this is so, it will be interesting to watch which of the three sitting Conservative members will play the role of martyr to the cause and withdraw.

DR. J. D. STRUTHERS of Durham took over the practice of Dr. Chambers, of Tiverton on Monday, Nov. 10th and has fitted up rooms in the brick building next to the Post Office. Dr. Struthers has had good experience in his profession being nearly two years on the General Hospital staff, Toronto before going to Durham, where he practiced successfully for a year. He is a son of Jas. Struthers, Port Elgin and brother of J. B. Struthers, —Kincardine Reporter.

DR. JAMESON'S ADDRESS.—To a large and interested audience at the Presbyterian Guild on Monday night, Dr. J. Jameson, M. L. A., gave a fluent address on "Reminiscences of Political Life." His resume was a most complete one, for as the speaker himself said, he had no record for memory, but the House of Commons and the Legislature, had sat on the opposition bench and the Government side, had listed the dregs of defeat as well as the sweets of victory and in fact only three members in the Ontario House to-day had been in Parliament for a longer period of time than he had. His address was abounding as well as instructive and told some interesting stories incident to politics and others about his fellow members. Among the celebrities he touched on were Sir John McDonald, Sir Oliver Mowat, Alan Studholme, James Constance, R. R. Gamey, Sir McKenzie Howell, and Sir Chas. Tupper. He stated that the first time he saw the great "Sir John" was at the Irish Lake picnic in 1874 and that on that occasion the premier was making himself a "good pillow" and mixing with everybody. Dr. Jameson stated that he regarded Canada's two greatest orators as Sir. Geo. W. Ross and Hon. G. E. Foster, both surpassing even the "silver-tongued" Sir Wiffrid in oratory. In addition to the address a splendid musical programme was given at the meeting consisting of instrumental pieces by Misses Kelsey and Hutton, solos by Mrs. Launder and Mr. A. G. McCoub and a duet by Mrs. Stonehouse and Miss V. Caldwell.
