15 Hallam St., Toronto, Ont .- " About two years ago the dandruff began, My head got worse and scabe formed on it which made it baid in places. It was very itchy and gave me a tendency to scratch it which made it worse. I always had to wear my hat whether in the house at work or out. Whenever I brushed my hair it sent the dandruff all over. The haircame out in great bunches until I was nearly bald and as at its worst it came out roots

"I tried -- which made it worse than before. I tried several things after that but they were no good. After aine months like this I had hardly any hair left when one day happened to see the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the paper, I straightway sent for a sample. After first washing with the Cuticura Scap I applied some Cutteura Ointment and I could feel a great relief. But after a few minutes we found ourselves at the top of a hard, nearly vertical sandstone wall, To turn back was out of the question, Fortunately the barranca is furrowed by small streams during the spring moods, and we could perhaps climb down of the little ravines, where stones and loose blocks plunged down at the slightest touch, and made the descent perilous, We had hard work to force the to whip them along. Pagels had

Hermit In London.

There was a hermit in the centre in One Night of London only a few years ago, according to the London Chronicle. His hermitage consisted of a cellar -the sole vestige of a house in Clare Street pulled down and forgotten by its owners. He lived there for a long time, supported by scraps of food from the tradesmen of the neighborhood, and might have lived there longer still if a journalist had not "discovered him. He was interviewed and photographed to death, for the workhouse authorities, nearly next door, who had hitherto turned a blind eye toward him, were compelled to oust him from his hermitage and make him clean and respectable-a process to which l succumbed.
