The unrest, or, rather, the sympoms of unrest, which are now becoming increasingly man fold in India, writes a correspondent of the London Telegraph, are be ng watched by the Government of Inlia with the greatest care. Little doubt is felt by those who are well informed that developments are quite possible at any moment, the more so since much of the agitation which is now being carried on wth regard to quite a variety of problems is being most carefully "engineered." This is particularly the case with respect to the agi at on against the treatment of Indians in South Africa, a very real grievance, which has long been felt with increasing bitterness, and which, as it appeals to Hindus and Moslems

Some men try to console themcould be better if they tried.

Your neighbor uses LIQUID SULPHUR

A man may fail in a dozen different lines of activity and then succeed brilliantly in a phase wherein he was unconscious of any ability. The world's greatest and best men All of us have more disappoint- were failures in some lines, failures ments than we need to have. If we many times, before failure was
