If you want Seed Oats, see our ad on page 5. Rob Roy Cereal Mills Co. Carr's Cough Cure never fails to effect a cure. 50c at Macfarlane's Drug Store.

YOUNG PIGS FOR SALE.—Apply at Lot 25 Con. 2 S. D. R., Glenelg B. & L. MARKFORD.

Mr. Robt. Isaac, Dromore, has rented the Black residence, upper town, and will move in after his sale next week.

It pays to sow good seed. If you want something extra in Seed Oats, call at the Oatmeal Mill and see the Western Seed Oats they have for sale.

Markdale hockey team will be Durham's opponents at the rink on Thursday night. They have a fast line up and will give the locals an exciting game. See it.

CHIEF TORRY REMAINS.—The conference of the Fire and Light Com. with the Fire Brigade has resulted in continuing Mr. R. Torry as Chief and his resignation is withdrawn accordingly.

A Tea and Social will be held at Varney Methodist Church on Friday, March 13, at 8 p. m. A lecture will be given by Mr. A. E. Miller "My Life and Experience as a Showman." Also vocal and instrumental music. Ad. mission 15c and 10c.

A Concert will be held in the School House, S. S. No. 12, Egremont, on the evening of Friday, March 13. A good play, "Old and New England" is being prepared. String Band in attendance. Comic Songs and other amusing features. Admission 15c and 10c.

The March Horse Fair, generally the biggest of the season, falls on Thursday, 19th inst. Good buyers are expected and Mr. Black urges farmers not to have too high notions of value, as was plainly in evidence at last fair when buyers and sellers were often far apart.

Mr. Gustave Evanturel, of Prescott, who tried to get a $10,000 retainer from the liquor party, for proposed services to them in the house is no longer M. P. He resigned on Tuesday and will have time to think of the wisdom of Providence in so arranging man's anatomy that he can't kick himself.

The Baptist congregation here have extended a call to Rev. Mr. Wylie of Clinton, which he has accepted and will take charge about the 1st Sunday in April. He has 5 children, two grown up and three at school. He is represented as having Rev. Mr. McGregor's style of preaching, forcible and eloquent.

During the Sunday storm two weeks ago, the chimney of Dr. Coult's house at Agincourt was blown over and the gas from the furnace escaping over the house, made his sister, Mrs. Farquhar, quite dizzy on arising in the morning. She fell against a rocker and cut her forehead, the Dr. having to sew up the wound. Robin is home from the Sick Children's Hospital, having so far recovered from the operation to his foot, as to go about on crutches.

EVENED UP WITH HANOVER.—Last Thursday's hockey game, the second with Hanover here, resulted in a reversal of the score, Durham winning by 8 to 3. After dropping the game three weeks ago, the locals were on their mettle and to ensure victory, played Mulvey Cowan, a hero of bygone battles, his first game this year. The puck was in Hanover territory practically the whole game. The hockey club treasury was enriched with the total proceeds.

At a recent meeting of Ben Nevis Camp the following resolution of condolence was passed to Mr. R. Torry, who for some years has been Secretary of the Camp: "That this Camp place on record its sympathy with our Secretary, who, by sudden bereavement has been called upon to mourn the loss of his dearest earthly friend. His brethren hope that in his loneliness and sorrow he may have Divine consolation as he will have increased love and respect of his family and friends including the members of this Camp. Signed, T. C. Morton, Chief-C. Ramage, Fin. Secy."

A BIG DISPLAY.—The prosperity of our farming community was in evidence on Thursday last, when some dozens of farmers and farmers' sons came in by appointment to receive from agent A. B. McLellan the spic and span new Massey-Harris machinery ordered during the last few months. The goods included Binders, Mowers, Rakes, Cultivators, Drills, Harrows, Ploughs, &c. in all the variety and excellence which has made the name of this firm known world wide. A short parade was held of the 40 or 50 sleighs and their loads and the purchasers were entertained to dinner at the three hotels. A photo was taken of the display now of somewhat rare occurrence. Messrs Taylor, Arrowsmith and A. B. McArthur, traveling agents, were all present and agent McLellan was thoroughly appreciative of the business given him by the sturdy yeomen.

The Tale of a Flat.

A unique and interesting entertainment was the musical Comedy in the Town Hall on Friday last, when nine of the members of the Presbyterian Choir presented a musical comedy with many a laugh intermingled. The foundation of the play is a caricature of a choir rehearsal, when, intermingled with real practice, there are interludes of rest and nonsense and the retelling of gossip. The dramatic talent displayed was of a high order, needing only practice to become first-class. Mrs. Adlepatte, the choir leader, (Marg. Hunter) was a lady of excitable tendencies, yet with a high resolve to have all things done decently. Mr. L. Z. Sleeper (Will. Lander) came early and found a cushioned chair most attractive, inclining to linger there too much. Dr. Long Hike (Peter Ramage) had a penchant for presenting peppery puns as a panacea for all throat and other troubles. Prof. Hightone (Will. Saunders) had many heart griefs and high sounding phrases, while the condition of the vocal chords of Mr. S. Low (Jas. H. Coleridge) was most distressing. Miss Crossinbean (Mrs. Stonehouse) was of a sour and melancholy disposition, the very opposite of Miss Smiler (Vaddie Caldwell) who was young and charming and knew it. Miss Style Eater (Mrs. Lander) was inclined to spend too freely and roused the envy of some and disgust of others by her charming hat. Miss Loffer (May Young) was lively and had a word for them all. This cast sang in solos, duets, quartettes and as a whole, the blending and harmony of the mixed voices was especially good and called forth loud applause. The soloists too maintained their high reputation and the musical talent was as good as the dramatic. Miss Hunter accompanied and met the varied requirements with her usual skill and taste.

A spectacular drill by eight young ladies in dazzling costume was splendidly performed. The ladies were Misses Bessie Telford, Hazel and Vaddie Caldwell, Effie Hunter, Zeta Black, Florence McCoskery and Vida McLachlan. The entertainment was under the auspices of Durham Pres. Choir and the gross proceeds amounted to about $80.

The "Bills" are Some Curlers.

In a curling match at the rink Monday night, not previously told, the "Bills" of Durham, reinforced by two who were not "Bills" to even up, downed their two opposing rinks by a total of 2 stones. The "Bills" were:—

Women's Institute Concert.

The basement of the Presbyterian Church was well filled on Thursday evening last by members of the Women's Institute and their friends. It was to be an "At Home," an intellectual and social evening and the double purpose was most enticing. The entertainment provided was of a refined and elevating character, in line with the work constantly being done by this aggressive society.

Rev. Mr. Hartley was the first speaker and gave some most pertinent remarks on the motto of the Society, "For Home and Country" making clear the object which ever benefited or elevated the home was sure to react in the same way on the country. He went into some details that go towards making a happy home life, in the attractive and lucid manner that marks all his addresses of value.

Rev. Mr. Prudham being present was called upon and as usual had some interesting matter on home and home life and had complimentary remarks for the ladies in the noble and unselfish work they were doing in these societies and other ways. Towards the close of the evening some very political remarks would come to them and the ladies came to them because they did not use the wild ways of the suffragettes.

Miss numbers were given by Mrs. Stonehouse, the Misses Kerr, of Hampton, Mr. Harding, a duet by Mr. Prudham and Mrs. Knechtel, two instrumentalists by Miss Rita Irwin, recitations by Miss Mary McAlister and Miss A. Ramage.

Mr. Wm. Irwin made an efficient contribution. Miss Rita in addition to her instrumental, accompanied the singers gracefully. Refreshments followed and all went home voting the evening a great success.

The Late Mrs. Cope

This well known lady round town died on Tuesday evening, at her residence in Lower Town, for most of the winter she was domiciled with Mrs. Burgess in Upper Town but lately she believed death was approaching and she desired to be moved back to her home for 19 years, was gratified and she occupied it just one week.

Mrs. Cope's maiden name was Kathleen Miller, born in Belfast in 1836, and came to Canada young. About 1869 she married Alex. McComb and for some time they lived in Saginaw before coming to Durham. Three children born to them died in infancy, and the father was killed by a tree. Years later she married Mr. Cope, took up land in Dakota and when he died she completed the claim, sold and came to Durham again and has been here 19 years.

She was an industrious woman, a clever dressmaker and in health was never idle. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and faithfully attended its services when well.

She is being interred to-day in Trinity cemetery where her first husband lies.

Sir Geo. W. Ross

Saturday last after an illness of two months the well known statesman passed away in his 74th year. By common consent of friends and old time opponents a great man has gone and the columns showed on his memory have been abundant and touching. He was a native of Ontario, born in 1841 in Middlesex Co., with few or no advantages over the great mass. Taught in his own school, he held the highest position in the Legislature, that of Premier, and many remember the tragic struggle his government passed through before it fell, he with it, a victor in his loyalty to friends, some of whom were not too wise. Later he was elevated to the Senate of Canada, and became leader of the Liberal Party there.

He was a gifted orator, some say easily first in the Dominion, the writer heard him 40 years ago and even then he was magnetic. Years later he heard him again when the physical vigor was gone, crippled and bent by rheumatism, yet, once started the fire of his oratory, his subtle humor, made listeners forget physical weakness.

He was a lifelong advocate of temperance and of every moral reform. At his funeral on Tuesday were representatives from all branches of the Commons and the Legislature. From the Gov. General, Lieut. Gov. Gibson, an old associate was there in person, and many public bodies as well as private families and groups sent floral tributes.

On Thursday night a number of the neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ritchie and pressed them with a velvet rug. Mrs. H. Williams read the address and Mr. Joseph McNally presented the rug. Edge Hill are sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie from their neighborhood, for they have lived nearly their life time here and always proved kind and obliging and their home was one on the first rank for entertaining.

We regret the address has been crowded out this week
