

RASH COVERED CHEST AND BACK

Itching and Burning Pimples Spread. Clothing Irritated. Used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Well in Three Weeks.

High River, Alta.—"My baby was a sufferer from an itching and a burning on chest and back. The trouble began with a fine small rash and got quite a size. The pimples spread until his whole chest and back were covered. Some of them festered and on some the top looked clear. He was fretful and cross and was always rubbing his chest and back. His clothing irritated him. The trouble caused itching, burning and loss of sleep. His chest and back were worse and worse; they were a mass of itching pimples. The trouble had lasted two or three weeks and we tried remedies but they failed. Cuticura Soap and Ointment afforded relief in about ten days. I washed the eruption with hot water and Cuticura Soap four times a day, then used the Cuticura Ointment and in three weeks he was well again. He owes his health to Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Alice Wolford, Nov. 1, 1912.

For red, rough, chapped and bleeding hands, itching, burning rashes, and painful finger-ends with shapless nails, a one-night Cuticura treatment works wonders. Soak hands, on retiring, in hot water and Cuticura soap. Dry, anoint with Cuticura Ointment and wear soft bandages or old, loose gloves during the night. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. For liberal samples of each with 25-cent bottle, send post-card to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. D, Boston, U. S. A.

DESERTS FROM GULF STREAM

Second Gulf Stream in Atmosphere—Chilled Passing Over Sweden.

The Gulf Stream, as every one knows, is a broad river of warm water which starts in the Gulf of Mexico, wanders across the Atlantic Ocean and empties into the British Isles, bringing them a warm climate and no end of fog and rain. But few people know that in the atmosphere above there is a second Gulf Stream of warm, moist air.

This slow, damp breeze strikes the British Isles and does not carry off like the Gulf Stream, but continues over Europe. As it passes over Sweden, Finland and northern Russia, these cold lands chill the wind and cause it to drop its moisture in the form of rain. The lakes and rivers of these northern countries are all supplied by the moisture taken up from the Gulf Stream.

The rotation of the earth makes this wind veer gradually to the southward about the time it has given up the last of its moisture and warmth. As a mighty draft of dry, cold air, the Gulf Stream wind moves on across the plains of Russia. As it approaches the Arctic the wind warms again but becomes ever drier.

At last as it sweeps over Turkistan, Arabia and Sahara, it evaporates like a great sheet of blotting paper all water it meets, forming the deserts of Turkistan, Sahara and Arabia. Fortunately this devastating wind now leaves the continent, becomes the trade winds and returns to its starting point at the Gulf of Mexico.

Several somewhat visionary schemes have been suggested for altering the course of the Gulf Stream. One of the immediate results of any such changes would be the shifting of the present deserts to other parts of the world.

LORD DERBY'S BULL.

According to Lord Derby, Home Rule must have as many lives as the proverbial cat, for in a speech he made not long ago he perpetrated this amusing "bull." "At the next election," he said, "we have got to give the third, and I hope the last, death blow to Home Rule."

Learn To Say No.

John was very crestfallen indeed, and had promised his wife that he would find much less difficulty in life. Will you promise me that you will never leave off trying till you have learned to say "No?" "Yes," said the contrite John. "That's all right! And now can you let me have a little money this morning?" "No," said John, with apparent ease.

A GRAND MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Mrs. D. L. McIntyre, McIntyre's Mountain, N.S., says: "Baby's Own Tablets are a grand medicine for little ones and I am well satisfied with the results obtained from them." Mrs. McIntyre's testimony is the same as that of thousands of other mothers. Once a mother has used the Tablets she will use nothing else, for the results are sure and the Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be perfectly safe. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 35 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Trained.

Freddie—Are you the trained nurse mamma said was coming? Nurse—Yes, dear, I'm the trained nurse.

Will Avoid Stimulants.

Total Abstinence to Be Role of Shackleton's Expedition. Total abstinence from alcoholic stimulants will be strictly observed during Sir Ernest Shackleton's trip across the southern polar continent. He and his companions will work long hours, and will abstain from stimulating food or anything that will be taken at midday.

On his last expedition Sir Ernest and his companions took two or three lumps of sugar every two or three hours, and he says ten minutes after eating they could feel the heat going through their bodies. The men thus far chosen for the expedition are between 30 and 41 years of age. Shackleton, who is 39, believes that men are at their best between 25 and 40. A man, he says, does not reach his full strength until he is 25, and whatever may be the superiority of youth in the way of spring, nerve, and enthusiasm, these do not weigh against the staying power of an older or the balanced judgment he has experience behind.

Working day arranged for the mental party calls for a preparation after waking, an hour's march, an hour's work and another four-hour march. The men, which in previous trips had been observed between 8 p.m. and 8 a.m., will be out to eight hours.

Sir Ernest is busy arranging the details of the expedition, which is regarded as the biggest undertaking ever attempted in polar exploration. Since the distance to traverse from Weddell Sea to Ross Sea is 1,000 miles.

The more dollars a man has behind him an argument the more convincing it is.

LA GRIPPE'S VICTIMS.

You Can Only Recover From Its After Effects By Enriching the Blood

Few diseases so shatter the health as la grippe, or influenza. In victims it tell the same story. They are left dependent, tired, weak and wretched in every way. They have no appetite, ambition or strength; cannot sleep, and suffer from headaches, backaches and nervousness. In this weakened condition lies the real danger. The body falls an easy prey to bronchitis, pneumonia, and even to consumption. Nearly every form of nervous trouble has been known to follow an attack of la grippe. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give the quickest and most thorough relief from after effects of this trouble. They build up and purify the blood, drive the poisons out of the system and give strength and tone to the whole body. The following is an example of their power in cases of this kind. Mrs. R. A. McLean, Westworth Station, N.S., says: "Two years ago Herbert E. Freeman, a young boy living with us, was attacked with la grippe. At the time he did not have a strong constitution, and we feared the trouble was settling on his lungs. He was not able to walk fifty yards without being out of breath, and his general vitality was very low. For months he continued in this position, notwithstanding all we did for him, and it was at this crisis that we got Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for him. By the time he had used three boxes there was a noticeable improvement, and this was followed by his being able to do light work, and later he had all the strength of a growing boy. His cure was looked upon as remarkable by all who knew him, and I am giving the results in the hope that it may be of benefit to someone else."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

EMINENT DOCTORS FAILED TO CURE—HAD GIVEN UP HOPE.

This Case Does Prove That When Catarrh Comes It Breeds Every Trace of Catarrh Disappears. Milford Haven, Da., Mar. 9.—Every one in this neighborhood knows of the long suffering of Mrs. D. Gurney, catarrh endured by Mrs. D. Gurney. Today she is well. Her recovery is due entirely to Catarrh-cure. This is her own statement: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh in the head, throat and nose, and endured the manifold tortures of influenza for five years. My life was despaired of. Catarrh was undermining my strength. I used treatments from eminent doctors, but all failed to cure me. I had given up hope of ever being able to live. Then I read of Catarrh-cure, and immediately I sent for Catarrh-cure, and I had used one bottle I was greatly relieved. Today I am cured. We would not be without Catarrh-cure in our home—it is so sure, it cures colds, coughs, bronchitis and throat trouble. I feel it is my duty to publicly recommend Catarrh-cure."

Get the large dollar size of Catarrh-cure; it contains a beautiful medicine that lasts two months. Smaller sizes, 25c and 50c, each. Beware of imitations—accept only Catarrh-cure, sold by all reliable dealers or by mail from The Catarrh-cure Company, Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N.Y.

Aunt Huldah claimed that she was well past the century mark, though the date of her birth was shrouded in mystery. "But how I was as old as she claimed or not, there could be no doubt that she had lived to a good old age, and one day a bright young newspaperman conceived the idea of interviewing her on the subject of long life. "Who?" sniffed Aunt Huldah. "Anybody kin good to be old. But how I've tried to get it." "But how I've tried to get it." "But how I've tried to get it."

Hot Water Cure For Rosies. Just Cover the Stems But Not the Flowers. "Boiling water will revive flowers that are so wilted that almost anyone would throw them away as worthless," says a woman. She was scraping down the limp stems of some full-blown roses that drooped dejectedly. "I am doing this lightly, you see," she continued, "so that the hot water will soak all through the stems."

After she had finished the scrubbing, she put the flowers into a deep pitcher, went to the stove, and took from the steaming hot-water kettle. Then she poured the hot water into the pitcher until it just covered the stems, and left the roses above the surface.

"There! In a few minutes I shall have fresh flowers for the dinner table," she said. And her visitor saw just what she had prophesied—a mass of roses that looked as if they had never thought of wilting. "I always try the boiling-water cure on roses before I throw them away," she concluded. "Very few people know about it. You mustn't lay the flowers themselves in the hot water. Just let it cover the stems."

In the Usual Way. "When I married you," said Mrs. Nagers. "I thought to reform you." "Yes," answered the husband, "and like a number of reformers you seized the first opportunity to become a boss."

SAILORS RIGHTS AT SEA.

Beautifully Set Out in Old Portuguese Book.

Some remarkable advice to seafarers is given in an old Portuguese book, published for the guidance of mariners. Amongst other things it deals with the rights of captains in which the attacks are to be legally met. The sailor is advised to bear calmly any verbal abuse that an irate skipper may hurl at him, but if words passed by blows he was to run away into the bows and firmly take his stand beside the anchor chain.

Should the infuriated master, armed with a belaying pin or other lethal weapon, threaten to follow through, the mariner was to slip round to the farther side of the chain. Should he still be pursued, he was to call his mess-mates to witness that the master had broken the rules by circumventing the chain.

Then, at last, he was to defend himself—and let us hope he would do it well! Other little matters of discipline are set out, and they show a noble effort to make the punishment fit the crime.

The ship's clerk, a privileged person who acted as bookkeeper, purser and cargo-master, was liable to be branded in the forehead, to lose his right hand, and to forfeit all his property if he made a wrong entry in the ship's book, or connived at such an entry.

A seaman who fell asleep on the watch was only put on a diet of bread and water, unless the offence was committed in hostile waters. In that case he must be stripped naked, flogged by his messmates and ducked thrice in the sea.

If he were an officer, however, he would only lose all food except his bread, and have a pair of water flung over him from the head downwards.

WHEN IS MAN OLD?

Remarkable Statement Founded on Facts. If the average length of life of mankind continues to increase at the same percentage of gain of the last century, the time is not far distant when 120 years will be considered a part of a human life, says Byron C. Utech in Technical World Magazine. This may seem a remarkable statement, but it is no more remarkable than the facts upon which it is based.

The average longevity in the United States at present is placed at 44 years. Records kept in the New England states show that in 1780 the average life was 35 years; in 1790, 40 years; in 1805, 45 years; and in 1903, 47 years. The increase of longevity in Europe is still more significant. In Switzerland in the sixteenth century the average life was only 21 years, but in the nineteenth century it had reached 25.7 years. The eighteenth century was marked by an average of 33.6 years, while the nineteenth century saw an increase to 39.7 years.

The estimates of Professor Finkelberg of Bonn University answer those skeptics who gloomily assert that people do not live as long as they used to, that we are becoming a race of weaklings and that civilization is proving the undoing of mankind. The average life over all Europe in the sixteenth century was eighteen years. Now it is 40 years, a gain of more than 100 per cent. in three centuries.

The more progressive and civilized a nation, the longer is the average life there. It is shown conclusively that the countries of the United States, England, Germany, France, Sweden and others have greatly lengthened the chain of life, while the average in India at present is only 33.6 years. In 1881 the average in India was 23 years, and 200 years ago the average was nine years. China's average human life is but fractionally different from that of India.

How a cut led to 4 years of suffering. Mr. J. E. Arsenault, a Justice of the Peace and station master at Wellington, on the P. E. Ry., says: "Four years ago I fell out on a freight truck, sustaining a bad cut on the front of my leg. I thought this world had, but instead it developed into a bad ulcer, and later into a form of eczema which spread very rapidly and also became so swollen and sore that I could only go about my work by having them bandaged."

How Zam-Buk cured. "This was my condition when I got my first box of Zam-Buk. I was so miserable that I had to give up my job. I was unable to apply to the store, and day by day they got better. I could see that my leg had got hold of something which would cure me, and in the one box I had I was cured."

Knee Joint Stiff Three Years CURED BY NERVILINE.

Anyone would marvel at my recovery, writes Mr. Leonard Latham, a young man well known to Chat-grove. I had inherited a rheumatic tendency through my mother's family, and in my early days suffered frightfully. About three years ago the pain in my left knee joint was so bad that I was unable to walk. I was lame and walked with a very distinct limp. Nerviline was brought to my notice and I rubbed it into the joint four or five times a day. It dispelled every vestige of pain, reduced the swelling, took out the stiffness and gave me the full use of my limb again. I don't believe there is a pain-relieving remedy, not a single liniment that can compare with Nerviline. I hope every person with pains, with sore back, with lameness, with lumbago, with neuritis—I do hope they will try out Nerviline which I am convinced will quickly and permanently cure them."

If Nerviline wasn't a wonderful pain-relieving remedy, it wouldn't be known to be a grand cure for all rheumatic conditions. It wouldn't have been used as a family remedy for the past forty years. No better, stronger, or more soothing liniment made. Got the large 50c family size box, small trial size 25c; sold by any dealer, anywhere.

A Foolish Or, the Bell

CHAPTER I. "Till this moment, I have never realized how great an axe a man can swing. I think that the morning I set out through what must have been a great breakfast, left my comfortable cottage, and was caught up in a train seven hours, that I am now driving a fine train through, so far as I can see for the mile, just as if I were a big wilderness, I look myself if I am in possession of any sense, I should myself why I should commit such a crime last night? I was sitting in a room with a book, but was so tired that I fell asleep. I was so tired that I fell asleep. I was so tired that I fell asleep."

I think that the morning I set out through what must have been a great breakfast, left my comfortable cottage, and was caught up in a train seven hours, that I am now driving a fine train through, so far as I can see for the mile, just as if I were a big wilderness, I look myself if I am in possession of any sense, I should myself why I should commit such a crime last night? I was sitting in a room with a book, but was so tired that I fell asleep. I was so tired that I fell asleep. I was so tired that I fell asleep."

CHAPTER I. "Till this moment, I have never realized how great an axe a man can swing. I think that the morning I set out through what must have been a great breakfast, left my comfortable cottage, and was caught up in a train seven hours, that I am now driving a fine train through, so far as I can see for the mile, just as if I were a big wilderness, I look myself if I am in possession of any sense, I should myself why I should commit such a crime last night? I was sitting in a room with a book, but was so tired that I fell asleep. I was so tired that I fell asleep. I was so tired that I fell asleep."
