Mr. Wm. Lauder, Varney, has purchased the residence north of George Ryan's, recently occupied by Ed. Knechtel. He will reside with his son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Harbottle, who are to occupy the home.

Mr. Wm. Lawson, while assisting at a sewing machine party at Mr. Donald McArthur's, had a bone of his leg broken by an untimely roll of a log. He suffered intensely and will be kept a prisoner for some time.

Anyone thinking of placing a monument at this time, or having inscription work done, should call at W. J. McFadden's and consult him before placing an order. He has given good satisfaction and can supply what you desire in this line on very reasonable terms.

Inspector Wm. Allan had Sam Hills, a youth of this town up before Magistrate Telford on Tuesday morning on a charge of being drunk on March 11. The Inspector had a couple of witnesses who did not altogether prove satisfactory to his side of the case and the charge against the youth was dismissed.

A BIG MEETING.—Over sixty-five ladies met at the home of Mrs. J. Brown on Thursday last, where a most interesting meeting of the Women's Institute was held. Much interest was taken in the well prepared paper given by Mrs. J. S. McWhirter on the "Treatment of House Plants, Shrubs and Bulbs." A good discussion followed Mrs. J. McGowan's interesting paper on "Bread Making." Miss Irwin favored us with a number of pleasing piano selections. Miss Barclay's recitation and Miss Black's solo was enjoyed by all.—Com.

PUSHING THE HORSE FAIRS.—At a recent meeting of the Merchants' Association of Durham, the question of Horse Fairs came under discussion. After a number had expressed their views on the matter a motion moved by R. McFarlane, seconded by John McKechnie, was unanimously carried. It was to the following effect: That this association commend the work and efforts of Mayor Wm. Black in advocating and pushing the system of monthly horse fairs and hoped that he would receive more financial assistance than he had in the past in still further bringing them into notice. The next Horse Fair takes place on Thursday 18th April, when buyers for colts and various classes of horses are expected.

OFFICERS ELECTED.—Only on Monday evening last did the adjourned annual meeting of the Durham Library get the length of electing the officers for 1914. The following are the officers for this year: Pres.—Insp. Campbell; Vice Pres.—Wm. Irwin; Secy.—C. Ramage; Treas.—Jno. Kelly. Regular meetings are to be held on first Friday of each month and a stricter adherence to the rules of the Library in regard to demeanor in the Reading Room is to be enforced. The Librarian complains that of late he has trouble in keeping the patrons of the Reading Room within the usual decorum that should exist in public Reading rooms. Some splendid new books have recently been added to the shelves.

MARDIG KRUGER DYER.—This distinctly un-English name belongs to an Armenian preacher who has been out in this country for two years and who occupied the pulpit in the Methodist church on Sunday evening. He related in a very graphic manner, facts and stories incident to the life of his own country and of the "Unspeaking Turk." Although Armenia, he stated, was a province in the Turkish empire, there was a distinct difference in the cast and religion of Armenians and Turks, the former being Christians in every sense of the word, while their persecutors were of the Mohammedan faith and whose religion taught them to vilify persecute all Christians. Mr. Dyer affirmed that his country would welcome with open arms, freedom from Turkish authority and union with the British Empire which would wipe out oppression existing there for five centuries. British citizens were granted unusual privileges in Turkey and were held in respect, he said. The speaker has a slightly swarthy complexion, typical of Armenian nativity, uses good English, although the fluency of the English vernacular is lacking. Some of the stories he told of cold blooded massacres of helpless and innocent men and women, were gruesome in the extreme.

Saugeen Presbytery Meets

In Durham, 15th April.

At 2 p. m. next Wednesday the Presbytery of Saugeen will meet in the Presbyterian church here. The chief business of the afternoon will be the induction of Rev. S. M. Whaley, B. A., to the congregational work here. The call extended by Amos and Knox churches to Rev. Mr. Smith of Clambrassil will be advanced also.

In the evening before and following a social tea in the basement, there will be an informal reception to the new pastor, followed by an impromptu program. Resident ministers of other denominations will be invited.

Induction of Rev. S. M. Whaley, B. A.

On Wednesday of next week the induction of Rev. S. M. Whaley takes place in the Presbyterian Church here and a few words about the new pastor is in order at this juncture.

Mr. Whaley is an Ontario boy, born in Markham, York Co., and after his elementary school days and a year in Markham High School, took a Second Class teachers' Certificate, completing it at Toronto Normal School. He matriculated while he was teaching and later attended St. Catherine's Coll. Institute, taking last year University work and entered Toronto University in 1890, graduating in 1893 and from Knox College in 1895, taking scholarships and ranking very high.

He received a call to St. Helens in the fall of 1895 and was ordained and inducted in October, remaining there ten years. His second charge was in Zorra where he has been for over eight years.

His work in both places as preacher and pastor and as a guide to the young, is spoken of most highly by his brother ministers and others in a position to know. His pulpit power is admitted and his character is marked by scholarship, energy, sympathy and piety. All will hope that his pastorate here may be greatly blessed and he may be assured of a warm welcome on Wednesday next.

The Roll Call.

JOHN MCCALMON

Some time in the far gone year of 1820 a boy was born in the north of Ireland, destined to live far beyond the allotted span of life. This was John McCalmon, for the past 23 years a retired resident of Varney and for more than that a farmer on the 3rd Concession of Normanby. His youth though he spent some time in the south of Scotland and ultimately found his way to Canada while in the prime of life. The vigorous constitution derived from a vigorous stock pioneer days and has prolonged his life far beyond the Psalmist's limit.

He married a Miss Hamilton, whose relatives still live in Egremont, and to them were born a large family, of whom the only representatives in the neighborhood are Mrs. Jas. Ferguson and Mrs. Jas. Hoy. Other daughters were Lizzie (Mrs. A. H. N. Jenkins), Ann Jane, Mary, Agnes and Ida. These last five with the mother, being dead many years. The sons, beginning with the youngest, are Hugh, John, Alexander, William, Thomas, Samuel, now all scattered, chiefly in the west. About 25 years ago, deceased married Miss Bryan, of Varney, who with one daughter Maggie, now Mrs. Arthur Sewall, of Stratford, survive him.

For years past Mr. McCalmon has been confined to his home, since October last to his bed. His was a tranquil long-drawn out old age, furnishing a contrast to the active and sometimes turbulent years of his manhood's prime. The writer first knew him thirty-two years ago and recalls with pleasure, many little words of encouragement dropped in his path by the shrewd, witty Irishman.

He died aged 91, early on Sunday morning last and is being interred beside his kindred in Maplewood cemetery, to-day, Wednesday.

A Welcome to Baptist Pastor

Tuesday evening Rev. W. W. Wylie and wife received a most hearty welcome to their new charge. In addition to the membership there were present a number of invited guests including the two resident ministers, Mr. Thos. McNiece occupied the chair most genially and after a solo by Mr. Giles, called on Mr. Thos. McComb and the new pastor to face each other. The former then, on behalf of the congregation, extended the right hand of fellowship and gave a hearty welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Wylie and family and also thanked the invited guests for their presence.

Rev. Mr. Dingman, Mt. Forest, Rev. D. Prudham and Hartley and Mr. Wylie were invited to the platform and the first named gave an address conveying to Durham people the high regard held for Mr. Wylie in his former charge by the Bruce Association and the people. He was a man who would wear well, his aim and desire would be to see his people grow in the knowledge of Jesus Christ, things that tried a pastor were worldliness, absence from prayer meeting, a low home life, and he reminded them they had not called a man to do their work nor were they to load down Mrs. Wylie with Presidencies.

Excellent music by the choir followed and several times as a whole or in quartette or duets stirring numbers were given. Mr. and Mrs. Giles being prominent. Special mention should be made of Mr. Dingman's solos which were warmly applauded.

Rev. Mr. Hartley congratulated the two parties to the nuptials being celebrated. He dwelt on the value of co-operation and pointed out the difficulties that meet a pastor in his first year. He promised his co-operation with his brother ministers as in the past and conveyed the hearty good wishes of himself and his people to the Baptist pastor and congregation.

Rev. Mr. Prudham brought congratulations also in a pleasantly facetious vein. He was glad to see them getting under way again and was sure they would get a good cargo. He praised the independence of the Baptists, and hoped the day would come when outside authority would be reduced to a minimum. He hoped to have the same harmonious relations in the future as in the past. "We can make the enemy run if we all link arms," but we must magnify the presence of Christ.

Mr. John Snell conveyed for himself and the Presbyterian congregation hearty greetings and was heartily in accord with the splendid sentiments already expressed. Mr. Wm. Calder was in his best mood and gave the Baptist congregation credit for being the best band of workers in town man for man. Mr. Wylie would find some bright young people at his back. Mr. Laidlaw welcomed them with warm words, spoke of the usefulness of the minister's wife recalling the great work done by Mrs. Newton. Mr. Wm. Irwin had similar compliments for the Newtons and former pastors and facetiously assured Mr. Wylie of hearty support as long as he remained a good citizen. Mr. C. Ramage congratulated the congregation in their choice and was sure the future would bring its rewards.

Rev. Mr. Wylie felt keenly the difficulty of replying suitably to the many kind things uttered and the wealth of good wishes extended to himself and wife. He would try to be a good leader but above all he would try to be a faithful minister of Jesus Christ. He sees in Clinton he would value highly Christian association with brother ministers. All parties gain by living unity. There was a dead unity that produced no glow nor warmth, so he hoped for the unity of the spirit that comes from being all one in Christ. His experience in the preliminary services had led him to believe his call was from God and he made very plain that his main purpose was to preach faithfully the gospel of Jesus Christ. He closed with warm thanks to all for kindly welcome.

A vote of thanks to Miss Rita Irwin for presiding ably at the organ and to Mrs. Dingman was heartily given and benediction by the pastor closed this part of the program.

The social time that followed was thoroughly enjoyed. An elegant repast was spread in the school room for all the participants. The ladies had outdone themselves in the abundance of good things provided. Personal handshakes and good wishes in abundance closed the proceedings.

Baptist Church Pastor Installed.

The Baptist congregation here called to be congratulated on the happy selection made in Rev. Mr. Wylie, formerly of Clinton, who on Sunday last preached his first sermons here and entered on the good work until here conducted by Rev. Mr. McCausland. Good congregations assembled at both services and quite a number from other congregations, especially in the evening, were in the audience. He is a clear, earnest speaker, lucid in presentation and much zeal in his chosen work.

His evening discourse was founded on the question of the jailer, "Philip! What must I do to be saved." After a rousing comment on the events that led to the imprisonment of Paul and Silas, the constancy and courage they showed in their dungeon an attitude that should be the mark of every Christian, he entered on the question of Salvation, showing what it is. The primary purpose of Christ coming into the world was to free man from sin and from its power and therefore from its punishment. He had to suffer and die, but he did not die as a witness his dying words were "I am saved." His life and death was the work of Salvation. We have to do with the word.

The cry of the jailer was too seldom heard, yet the word was preached faithfully and the love of Jesus shown up as of old. What was lacking was a realization of the connection between the soul and the body. The body is not so blessed. We are saved for His glory and praise and that His life may be continued in us, that we may advance to the ministry of service to others not so blessed. We are saved to eternal life, to a crown, a throne and he quoted "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life."

He closed with an earnest appeal for all to have knowledge of this salvation in their own persons. More than mere mental assent to the question of salvation was necessary: "faith and belief must get further than the head, it must get to the heart."

Lawn Bowlers Organize

This promises to be a flourishing season for the lawn bowling club. A number of the enthusiasts assembled last evening and elected officers as follows: Hon. Pres.—R. Cochrane; Treas.—Dr. Pickering; Vice Pres.—A. W. H. Lauder; Secy. Treas.—W. S. Hunter; Executive Com.—D. C. Town, E. Goodwin, G. Gagnon, S. Hughes; By-Law Com.—Dr. Hutton, E. G. Goodchild, J. S. McArthur; Property Com.—J. Lloyd, F. Search, A. W. H. Lauder. The fees were placed at $5.00 for old members and $3.00 for new ones. Tenders are to be asked for a caretaker for the green.

A Unique Lecture

A well filled church greeted Mardig Kruger Dyer, the Armenian student who lectured in the Methodist church on Monday night. He has a fair command of English, has a sense of humor and knows whereof he speaks by the personal experience of the Balkan and near the Black Sea, their physical features, their people, habits customs, marriage ceremonies, etc. Went into the source and results of the late Balkan War and has a strong regard for Bulgaria. His graphic stories of the atrocities of the Turks and the grinding nature of their government was interesting and painful. He has a fund of humor and caused great amusement as he told of his difficulties with our language. Intensely interesting from first to last he left a good impression.

WON SCHOLARSHIPS.—Mr. R. D. Turnbull, of Knox College, who preached in the Presbyterian Church here the first Sunday in March, was the winner of the Byne Memorial Scholarship and first in the Religious Education Scholarship in recent exams. His picture appeared in Tuesday's Star.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Sam McComb is visiting her daughters in Brantford for a couple of weeks.

Miss Etta Twamley of Crawford is a visitor this week at Mr. C. Ramage's.

Mr. F. W. Kelsey made a business trip to Toronto last week.

Mr. Walter Brown, who has spent a week with his parents here, left Tuesday to resume his duties as 2nd officer on one of the Great Lakes boats.

Mr. Jas. Brown who has been for the past few months with his sister in Holstein, was visiting his cousin Joe Brown here, for a few days. He contemplates going to Ottawa for a few days before returning to Regina.

Miss Fox from Walkerton was the guest of Miss Zeta Black over the week end.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Wylie and two daughters arrived Thursday last and are now domiciled in J. M. Burgess' residence.

Mr. Brock Grant after a stay of over a month at home recuperating from his illness, returned Saturday to resume work in the Bank of Montreal, Picton.

Mrs. J. H. Hunter, Mr. H. A. Hunter, and Mrs. Lorne Summerville, called Tuesday week for the Old Country where they will tour for three months.

Mr. Adam Brown intends leaving Thursday to resume his lighthouse duties near Parry Sound. Navigation is to open up a week earlier this spring.

Mr. Jas. McCloekin, butcher of Cayton, well known here, has sold his business there and intends going West to Moose Jaw with his family.

Mr. T. R. Whelan went to Mount Forest on Tuesday morning.

CONNECTED.—In our last week's issue, we referred to Mulock and Hutson Hill schools being closed on account of infectious diseases in the sections. The latter school was named in error, as it is open as usual, though there is the illness stated in the section. We had been informed by two parties of its closure, who deemed the news reliable at the time, and regret that it was published.

THROUGH FLAMING GASOLINE.—The neighboring town of Harriston had a most spectacular fire on Saturday last when 6000 gallons of gasoline and 50 barrels of coal oil were burned. Manager R. D. Reid performed a daring act by rushing through the flames to close a vent in the dome of an 8000 gallon tank and succeeded, while hundreds of onlookers held their breath and the firemen played the hose on him. (The fire followed an explosion which shook the town.) Mr. Reid, just previous to the explosion, had left the barrelling room and so escaped instant death. Loss about $5000, Insurance $2000.
