BORN. BRIGIANCE, Auctioneer

A SHARP—On Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie while riding in a buggy, ran into at the top of Jackson's hill, in the darkness, by another buggy guided by a Mr. Trafford. The collision frightened Mr. Ritchie's horse, pulling his driver out of the buggy, striking his head on the wheel and landing him on the road. He received an ugly scalp cut ten inches long and a half inch deep. The scalp was laid bare, requiring seven or eight inches to repair it. He is getting along well.

$100 IS GOLD.—A despatch to the London Advertiser last Thursday from Zorra tells of a glowing yet regretful farewell meeting to Rev. S. M. Whaley, B. A., from his congregation there and among many hearty good wishes he was presented with a purse containing $100 in gold. Rev. Mr. Whaley will be inducted to Durham Presbyterian congregation before this reaches our readers and we welcome him to our citizenship, and we hope to a life of usefulness here.

THE INSIDE OF THE COP.—A very able sermon on this widely read and marketed book was delivered in the Methodist church on Sunday evening by the Rev. W. W. Prudham, the pastor. In Mr. Prudham's opinion the book is an able effort, the result of much ingenious thought and labor and his mark true in respects to many phases of modern church life in certain churches of the land. The book he said, had a three-fold value, notably for its literary style and labor and his treatment of the sociological question and its bearing on theology. The greater part of the sermon was taken up in giving a resume of the story in the book.

DROWNED IN CALGARY.—A sad telegram reached Mrs. Dunsmore, upper town, on Monday last, that her son Neil had been drowned in Calgary. No particulars, except that the body had been recovered. Mrs. Dunsmore has the sympathy of many friends in the painful circumstances.

Field Day and Convention

A Field Day under the Dominion Alliance is planned for Grey County on the 20th inst., to be followed on Monday, 27th inst., by the County Convention in Presbyterian Church, Markdale, morning session at 10, afternoon at 1:30. The circular calling it says it is for the consideration of questions of urgent importance to the County and Province. The general theme is to be "Our Propaganda." Alliance speakers will discuss, "Relation of the Churches," "Political Aspects," "Present opportunity and outlook."

Fire Brigade Chief Resigns.

The uncertainty since the beginning of the year as to who would hold the chieftainship of the Fire Brigade, has now been definitely settled. Howard McDonald is the new chief. There had been two parties, one wishing ex-Chief Torry to continue in the position and the other supporting McDonald. The matter could not be settled at Council last Monday night, and they called a special meeting Wednesday to deal with it. However the situation simplified itself by the definite resignation of Mr. Torry, who had handed the keys to the mayor and who insisted on withdrawing. The committee of Council then had nothing to do but confirm the appointment of the new chief.

The resignation and retirement of Mr. Torry after about 15 years' service is worth noting. During that time there have been several fires and the brigade under his care and chieftainship has rendered excellent work and has saved much property. We hope the same loyalty will be given to the new chief by the brigade, and that the town's citizens generally will continue to support this most worthy of organizations in no stinted style.

REV. S. M. WHALEY, B. A. Inducted Wednesday as Pastor of Durham Presbyterian Church.

Induction of Rev. S. M. Whaley

Warm Welcome to Presbyterian Pastor

For the sixth time in 55 years Durham Presbyterian congregation has chosen a minister and the latest union of pastor and people was happily consummated yesterday 15th April, 1914. The nuptials were honored by the finest of weather, by a very large attendance, by the Presbytery of Saugeen, by most hearty and cordial good feeling, and by the presence of Rev. Dr. Estabrook, the late pastor, Rev. Mr. Cooper, Mr. Forest, who as interim moderator, admirably discharged his duty, has transferred his authority to Rev. S. M. Whaley, B. A., and all who knew him and who heard him believe the mantle has fallen on worthy shoulders.

Wednesday was the worst possible printer's day and this week we can give but a mere skeleton outline of the proceedings that moved along so harmoniously and were so heartily enjoyed. About 2:30 p. m. Rev. Dr. Forth, Dr. E. S. Holstein, appointed the preacher of the day, opened the services, taking his text from Heb. 9: 28, "So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many." He gave an able discourse, ranged round two main themes: "What does the sacrifice imply," and "What does the sacrifice teach."

Presbytery Moderator Mackay took the chair at the close of the service and called on Rev. Mr. Cooper, who narrated the steps he had taken in the interim resulting in the hearty call to Rev. Mr. Whaley. Mr. Mackay then put the usual searching questions to the new minister which were answered clearly after which prayer followed and the right hand of fellowship given by the Presbytery to their new colleague.

To Rev. S. M. Young, Clifford, was delegated the duty of giving charge to the minister. Rev. Mr. Cooper followed with a charge to the people, and both charges were models in their way and we shall refer to them later. The afternoon services closed devotionally and after an interval of social chat, adjournment was made to the basement where the ladies had tables spread with abundance of good things and where opportunity was possible to have personal introduction to the new shepherd.

EVENING MEETING

Rev. Mr. Cooper was placed in the chair for the informal program that was given up and the first word must be given to the choir for their excellent services, even though lacking leader Telford and some other members. In this connection two splendid solos were given by Miss V. Caldwell and Mr. Grant McComb, the latter dedicating the laurels he won last Sunday evening by one of the best solos ever given by the church.

The chairman in his address and later Mr. Young, narrated their experience at Stratford Presbyterian in facing the delegation from Zorra that strove to retain Mr. Whaley. Mr. Cooper testified to the very pleasant relations he had had with the congregation. Rev. Mr. Thynne, formerly of Markham where Mr. Whaley has one of "his boys," had many kind things to say of him and as did all speakers congratulate both parties to the union.
