Rowell's Earnest Words

"What will You Do?"

The meeting in Massey Hall on Thursday evening last was a striking and unusual testimony to the courage of the young leader, who with eloquence and earnestness is making appeal for support largely on a moral question.

This is no political trick. Rowell's life and character are both of a piece with his sentiments. He does not achieve success he is bound to deserve it. For many years the annual gatherings of all the churches of this province and in every community, have condemned the liquor traffic and deplored its evil influence. For many years temperance men of both parties have appealed for leadership to battle with the traffic. Over two years ago arose a leader in N. W. Lowell, who ranged himself and his party in line with the churches, in line with temperance organizations, in line with every agency for moral reform, and made a pledge that he would submit the question to the country. Listen:

"I have redeemed that pledge, the issue is now before you. There are men and women who for a score of years and more have prayed and worked for the coming of this hour. The hour is here, the clock has struck I have discharged my responsibility. It rests upon your conscience. What will you do?"

Here a storm of cheering broke out. As it subsided, "Three cheers again" was shouted from the middle of the hall. Once, twice, thrice, Mr Rowell attempted to continue, but expression was only the signal for renewed outburst. He went on at last:

"The organized temperance forces of the province have asked two governments to do this. They promised to get behind either government that would do it. The churches of this land in convention in conference and assembly urged governments and political leaders to do this. I have done it (Hear, Hear). "I place myself in the judgment of the people of this province, irrespective of party. Is there anything more that I could have done that I have not? In other words as well as in good report, meeting differences with men—some in my own party—and abuse from my opponents, I made a promise of what I would do. Have I ever wavered in adhering to that pledge? (No, no) I was true to you, will you be true to me? (Hear, hear and cries of yes, yes) Then, if you do, I give you my word—you know it is true—that the 29th June will sound the death knell of every licensed bar in the province of Ontario."

Loud applause again prevailed. The Leader had showed he had the quality of a nationalist. Genuine earnestness was as notable as his lucid presentation, and if this mixed meeting of Liberals and Conservatives in Tory Toronto is an idea of the campaign, who still say on which side victory will be?

A Conservative Alderman, Mr James Hates, made a speech in hearty sympathy with the Rowell policy. He was still Conservative, but the attitude of Sir James and his cabinet on moral reform compelled him to line up with Mr Rowell.

Will this attitude be generally followed by temperance Conservatives? Or will they sink past professions, forget what they have heretofore asked for and turn the cold shoulder on the courageous man who twice has asked Sir James Whitney to take his question out of politics, but twice has been disappointed?

"What will you do?"

MULOCK

A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday last, June 3rd at the home of Mrs. Neil McKinnon when her youngest daughter Rachel, was united in marriage to Mr. Jas. McDougall, Crawford, their pastor, Rev. Mr. Leslie officiating. The bride in a becoming dress of white voile, trimmed with white satin and wide guipure lace and carrying a bouquet of bridal roses, tied with streamers of knotted satin ribbon, took her place under an arch of evergreens to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Sarah McDougall, sister of the groom.

After the ceremony a bountiful repast was served which proved the culinary skill of the bride.

About a hundred guests were present including some from Toronto, Elderslie, Elmwood and Chesley. Mr. and Mrs. McDougall will reside at Crawford where they have the good wishes of many friends.

Mr and Mrs Robt Long and daughter of Walkerton, spent Sunday at the latter's parents, Mr and Mrs John McGillivray.

Mr Dougall McDonald, Lamash, had the misfortune to have a valuable horse kicked by another when the two were together in the field and its thigh bone broken. Little hope is held for its recovery. At this time of year it will be a serious loss.

The box social at Lamash on Friday evening was largely attended. The program was good and the boxes sold very reasonably. The proceeds amounted to about $40.

On page 1 will be found an account of the lamented death of Mr Arch. Brown.

DORNOCH

Mrs R. J. Corlett, accompanied by Master Cameron and baby Marguerite left on Tuesday's excursion for North Dakota, where she will spend six weeks visiting her parents, Mr and Mrs Malcolm Cameron and many relatives in that part of the Southern Republic. Her cousin, Mr W. J. Greenwood of Traverston, left on the same date for the same destination. Bon voyage.

Mrs Gordon Ross and two daughters left on Thursday for Kent Co., after a month's pleasant sojourn with friends in and around the village. She will leave for her home in Lethbridge, Alta., in the course of a fortnight.

Rev. Mr Mills, of Dornoch, conducted the services in Chatsworth Presbyterian church on Sunday evening. Rev. J. F. MacKinnon being absent at the General Assembly. Mr Mills is a fluent, impressive speaker and is a general favorite with his parishioners.

The home of Mr and Mrs Danoan Campbell was brightened by the presence of their daughter, Miss Colena, of Toronto, who spent a pleasant two weeks' holiday with them. She returned to the Queen City on Monday preceding last.

Mr James Buchanan, an old Dornoch boy and now a citizen of Bruce Co., spent the week end with his sister, Mrs Wm. Smith.

Mr Archie Ledingham, well and favorably known in Dornoch and Williamsford, is receiving many hearty handshakes after an absence of several years in the West. Archie is the proprietor of a flourishing mercantile business at Strongfield, S. S.

Mrs Michael Smith and family have left their temporary residence north of the village and have gone to Chatsworth, where they will reside in future. Their removal is a decided loss to the social life of the community.

J. L. Smith, our genial M. D., has purchased a touring car from agent Smith of ye Editor's town. Not only will the possession of this luxury be a source of pleasure and recreation to the Dr. and family, but it will be of great convenience to him in his extensive medical practice.

Mr Don. Campbell, of the 2nd concession of Bentinck, raised his new barn on Thursday of last week. The frame work fitted together with an exactness which proves Harry Helt to be a competent mechanic. The sides were explained by two experienced hands at the business, Messrs J. H. Alexander and Chas. Mortley, the latter winning by a substantial margin. With the exception of a few bruises, no accident happened to mar the proceedings.

The village baseball diamond is being well patrolled and from the amount of material present on previous nights, there should be no difficulty in selecting a club that would uphold the laurels of village sport. A decade or so ago Dornoch was famous as a football center and with persistent practice, there should be no reason why we cannot compete successfully in our baseball venture as our predecessors did in Association football.

Mr Alex MacIntosh had the misfortune to lose a valuable mare on Friday of last week from the ill effects of an overfeed of grain. The value of live stock that has thus "kicked the pail" within a radius of five miles of Dornoch during the past two months, would make a big fat bank account.

The village sent quite a large contingent of stalwart Liberals to the Convention in Durham on Wednesday. If the discussion of the current issues of the day becomes as heated as the atmosphere is at the present time, the political pot should boil merrily.
