

...K's
Park &
Beans

...perfect whole
...full strength
...no equal.

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...HOT OR SELL
...of Bales, Fats
...of Bromides, etc.

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

...WANTED
...Cooker &

...FOR SALE
...St. Catharines Street

...LIVE TOWN IN
...Stationary and Cook

A Foolish Vagabond;

Or, the Belle of the Season.

CHAPTER XI.

Sir Stephen closed the door after him, then went back to the room and stood peering down at Falconer who leaned back in his chair with his eyes closed. He had a look of intense concentration on his face, and his hands were clasped in his lap. Sir Stephen bit at the end of his moustache, his thick black brows lowered, and he scarcely knew how to begin the "what," and Falconer waited, without any offer of assistance. At last Sir Stephen said:

"You asked me outside just now, Falconer, if I would like to see you. I am thinking the question ought to come from me."

"Yes," assented Falconer, his eyes growing still narrower. "Yes, I suppose it ought."

"Would your answer have been the same as mine—'friends'?" asked Sir Stephen in a low voice.

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"It ought to be to be seen. If ever you had cause to regard another as an enemy, I've had cause to regard you as one, Falconer."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

CHAPTER XII.

Sir Stephen's face grew strained, and a curious expression crept into it. "If you ask me why you should not, I give you no reason," he said. "You were poor I should offer you money—more, a great deal more than I received—the old claim, but can see that that would not tempt you to forego your revenge. Falconer, you are not poor; your daughter is a money-bag."

"No, I'm not in want of money. You're not the only man who has had a change of luck. No, you can't bribe me; even if I were hard up instead of rather flush, as I am, I wouldn't take a hundred thousand pounds for my revenge."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

CHAPTER XIII.

Sir Stephen's face grew strained, and a curious expression crept into it. "If you ask me why you should not, I give you no reason," he said. "You were poor I should offer you money—more, a great deal more than I received—the old claim, but can see that that would not tempt you to forego your revenge. Falconer, you are not poor; your daughter is a money-bag."

"No, I'm not in want of money. You're not the only man who has had a change of luck. No, you can't bribe me; even if I were hard up instead of rather flush, as I am, I wouldn't take a hundred thousand pounds for my revenge."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

"I've no need to take it up; it's right enough without railing," reported Falconer, and he touched his breast with his thick fingers. "I'm not likely to forget the trick you played me, nor likely to forget the man who turned on me."

"I should be glad to see you for a moment, then he said:

HOME

How to Reduce the Meat Bill.

The meat bill is the first place for the average housewife to look for large expenditures, and this is largely because Canadians have not yet learned the art of using everything that is left over.

It is not an attractive combination of words, "left overs," when applied to to-morrow's luncheon or dinner, but when used with judgment, one's most intimate friend would not recognize them.

In the first place impress upon your cook the fact that the best chefs in the world—the French—never throw away even a teaspoonful of vegetables. Everything is saved and transformed into some delicious tid-bit—tomorrow, as the uninitiated have a prejudice against "hash" and other homely dishes, but if a day or two elapse between the roast and "Marguerites" the family never knows that the much lauded "French creation" is a concoction of Jane's made from a small piece of the mutton or a croquette or any bit of meat which was left over.

To clean brass flower pots or trays, rub them with a piece of lemon; then pour boiling water over them, and finally polish with a soft dry cloth.

Toughness of angel cake is often due to the fact that the eggs are not beaten properly. They should be beaten so stiff that they will stand alone.

When boiled and unboiled eggs get mixed, spin them, and the boiled ones will spin quite fast, while those which have not been cooked will hardly spin at all.

Powdered oatmeal is excellent for the complexion. A little of it thrown into the water in which the face and hands are bathed has a softening and whitening effect.

No matter how much dripping is used, fish, when being fried is apt to stick to the pan's bottom. A tablespoonful of dry salt rubbed over the pan will prevent this.

To clean a white knit sweater or shawl put it into a flour bag containing equal parts of flour and salt and shake well. No washing will be required after this process.

Sal-ammoniac will clean a furred kettle. Fill the kettle with cold water, add a little sal-ammoniac to it and boil. All the fur will dissolve. Well rinse the kettle afterwards.

When ironing it is a very good plan to get a clean brick, a white one if possible, as a stand. The iron will retain heat much longer than if it is on a wooden board.

Cream cheese, mixed with boiled salad dressing and minced chives, makes a most delicious salad if rolled into balls and served on lettuce or cross with French dressing.

Cayenne pepper is excellent to rid boards of mice. The floor should be gone over carefully and each hole stopped up with a piece of rag dipped in water and then in cayenne pepper.

Far may be removed from the hands by rubbing with the outside of a lemon or orange peel and drying immediately. The volatile oils dissolve tar so that it can be rubbed off.

To extract ink from cotton, silk or woolen goods, dip in spirits of turpentine and let remain for several hours. Then rub thoroughly between the hands and the spots will disappear without changing either the color or texture of the goods.

When mashing your thin silk blouse put a piece of paper under it while you stitch. Then it will not drag, while the paper pulls off easily without any damage. This also applies when sewing other thin fabrics, such as net, mion and delicate laces.

A refreshing night's sleep is almost an impossibility if the bed has been carelessly or improperly made, and one rises in the morning unfit for the day's duties, no matter what the occupation takes. To a tired worker it is an absolute luxury to lie on a cool, comfortable bed, with just the correct amount of clothing, and each article properly arranged.

A salad of green peas is made with cold boiled green peas, a fresh firm lettuce, a sprig of parsley, minced; a few leaves of fresh green mint, and, if liked, a chive or two finely minced. Wash and trim the lettuce, and break it small. Put the peas thoroughly among the lettuce; add the other ingredients, and pour over a simple dressing of oil, vinegar, pepper and salt.

Apple and Rhubarb Jelly.—Wash and slice ten stalks of rhubarb, cut and core three medium sized apples, then stew apples and rhubarb together. Hang up in a jelly bag. For every pint of juice take a pint of sugar.

Rhubarb and Orange Marmalade.—One quart rhubarb cut in small pieces, four oranges peeled and cut fine, six cupsful of sugar. Take orange peel and run through meat grinder. Make a syrup of the sugar and some water until it threads. Put ingredients in and simmer for an hour. Put in jelly glasses and seal with paraffin.

Tomato Tumble.—Boil half a pound of macaroni twenty minutes, strain, and cut into lengths which will fit a plain round mold; line the mold with it, arranging the top by bending the macaroni in a spiral form. Fill this mold with a mixture made of one pound of tomato, one pound of mushrooms and a quarter-pound of grated cheese, all pounded together with four ounces of butter and the yolk of an egg, season with a little salt and red pepper. Put a paper round the mold and steam for one hour. Turn out and serve with a thick gravy, or tomato sauce, round. This makes an excellent first course dish for luncheon.

Household Hints.—When peeling onions hold a cork between the teeth and the eyes will not become affected. Corks may be kept from becoming mouldy by laying a little bag of mustard on the top of the pickle-jar.

Crackers covered with grated cheese and toasted in the oven are good served with salad for luncheon.

A little vinegar placed in the rinsing water on washing day will prevent the hands from becoming rough and chapped.

To clean brass flower pots or trays, rub them with a piece of lemon; then pour boiling water over them, and finally polish with a soft dry cloth.

Toughness of angel cake is often due to the fact that the eggs are not beaten properly. They should be beaten so stiff that they will stand alone.

When boiled and unboiled eggs get mixed, spin them, and the boiled ones will spin quite fast, while those which have not been cooked will hardly spin at all.

Powdered oatmeal is excellent for the complexion. A little of it thrown into the water in which the face and hands are bathed has a softening and whitening effect.

No matter how much dripping is used, fish, when being fried is apt to stick to the pan's bottom. A tablespoonful of dry salt rubbed over the pan will prevent this.

To clean a white knit sweater or shawl put it into a flour bag containing equal parts of flour and salt and shake well. No washing will be required after this process.

Sal-ammoniac will clean a furred kettle. Fill the kettle with cold water, add a little sal-ammoniac to it and boil. All the fur will dissolve. Well rinse the kettle afterwards.

When ironing it is a very good plan to get a clean brick, a white one if possible, as a stand. The iron will retain heat much longer than if it is on a wooden board.

Cream cheese, mixed with boiled salad dressing and minced chives, makes a most delicious salad if rolled into balls and served on lettuce or cross with French dressing.

NEWS FROM SUNSET COAST

WHAT THE WESTERN PEOPLE ARE DOING.

Progress of the Great West Told in a Few Points.

There are 30,000 fruit trees on the ranches at Hatzic, B.C. A $200,000 opera house is being built in Cumberland, B.C. The labor market is said to be badly overcrowded in Dawson. Maple trees from Manitoba are being planted at Sunderland, B.C. The cannery in Kaslo, B.C. A company for raising foxes has been organized at Whitehorse, B.C. A lot on Third Avenue in Prince Rupert was recently sold for $15,000.

A carload of dairy cattle from Ontario was sold at Chilliwack, B.C., for $140 each.

A weird monster of the deep, half fish and half animal, was caught in the sea near Prince Rupert, B.C.

It is reported that six feet of zinc ore was struck in the U.S. mine in the Jackson Basin of the Slovan.

All Asiatics are now prohibited from entering Canada unless they are tourists, students or merchants.

At Vancouver a Chinaman was arrested charged with passing counterfeit money, the same being a Prince Edward Island bank note.

It is estimated that 3,000 carloads of fruit and vegetables will this year be shipped from the Okanagan, B.C., valley.

Bled a safe and made off with nearly $12,000 in bills and valuable papers from the post office.

Fred Young, proprietor of the Kamboj, B.C., Standard, was overhauling some guns when one of them was accidentally discharged, and Mr. Young died as the result of a wound received.

A Vancouver Chinese had a suspicious mark on his thumb, and told a magistrate it was caused by a ball.

The magistrate decided the mark was made by using an opium needle, and fined him $50 and costs.

The Westminster, B.C., Gas Company received a shipment of 800 tons of coal from Tacoma, U.S., causing indign