South Grey Temperance Association Endorses C. Ramage's Candidature

Noted Toronto Speakers heard on Friday.

By a unanimous vote, the South Grey Temperance Association assembled in convention in the Town Hall here on Friday afternoon, passed a resolution strongly endorsing Mr. C. Ramage as the candidate to support the interests of temperance legislation in South Grey. The resolution was moved by Mr. Thompson Boyd of Bentinck, seconded by D. Knechtel, Hanover, and reads as follows:

"That having heard the report of the Committee representing the South Grey Temperance Association, appointed to interview the candidates nominated for the Legislative Assembly and receive their replies as to their attitude on the present temperance issues before the electorate of this Province, this South Grey Temperance Association hereby declares that the position of Dr. Jamieson is entirely unsatisfactory to us, his record (upon which he stands and to which he appeals) having been that of repeatedly voting in the House against the provisions of the present platform of the Dominion Alliance when proposed to the House by Mr. N. W. Rowell, while Mr. C. Ramage has given a clear, explicit and positively affirmative answer pledging himself if elected to support in the House the full platform of the Dominion Alliance, viz., the abolition of the bar, the abolition of drinking clubs, the treating system and of the 25th majority requirement in local option voting, therefore Resolved that this South Grey Convention hereby endorses Mr. C. Ramage as the only candidate whose attitude on the present Temperance issues before the electorate is satisfactory to the Temperance people who demand legislation decidedly in advance of that now on the Statute book."

Previous to the passing of the foregoing, stirring temperance addresses, in which the duty of the electors on the great issue now before them, the abolition of the bar and clubs, were delivered by Revs. Jno. Muir, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, Cooley of Hanover and Prudham of Durham. The speakers were a unit in declaring that now was the opportune moment for the temperance forces of the province, no matter of what political stripe to rally together and unitedly work and vote in support of their own formulated temperance platform, by supporting Rowell candidates. Mr. Rowell had some time ago adopted this platform, after repeated refusals by Premier Whitney to consider it.

Mr. Henry Cook, of Bentinck, spoke on local option conditions in Bentinck township and other matters, and raised doubts regarding proposals of the policy adopted by Mr. Rowell, which Rev. Mr. Muir speedily dispelled. Rev. Mr. Magwood arrived during the afternoon, but spoke only a moment or two, reserving his address for the evening mass meeting.

At the mass meeting Rev. Mr. Magwood of Toronto, formerly of Holstein, gave a stirring address in which he appealed to all temperance men to support Rowell candidates, as he was proud to do. "I'm still a good Tory," he exclaimed, "don't you Grits think you've captured me, but I'm going to vote in the best interests of temperance and cannot do otherwise than support the policy adopted by Mr. Rowell." Rev. John Muir followed, with a convincing address in an hour's address along similar lines. Rev. Mr. Magwood spoke at a large meeting in Hanover the same evening.

Smith Bros. have recently disposed of Ford cars to James May, engineer at the Cement works, and to Wm. O'Mara of Dornoch. Our northern suburb is now becoming quite a car centre, with hopes already in the neighborhood and prospects of more. Mr. M. McAuliffe, upper town, is another purchaser.

List week's Chronicle says: "Mr. A. A. Catton, manager of the Furniture Company, has been in the West for the past couple of weeks—and to comfort our Liberal friends we may say that he may not be back for the election. This will save our cotem, charging him with interference with the workmen in the factory." Let us state that to the Liberals it makes little odds whether Mr. Catton is back for the election or not. Dr. Jamieson, holding a large proportion of the stock of the furniture company, has already visited the workmen of that institution, who are led to understand they are expected to support him. We have heard of cases of workmen there who intend voting for Dr. Jamieson simply through fear of losing their position should they do otherwise.

Disappeared last December; Remains Found on Saturday

Don. McDonald's Body Discovered Through Aid of Dog.

An unsolved mystery for over six months past was cleared up last Saturday, when the remains of Donald McDonald, 8th con., Bentinck, were found among a clump of willows in a swamp on an adjoining farm. The dog came into the house Saturday afternoon carrying a shoe containing the foot bones, which Mrs. McDonald recognized and she at once informed the neighbors and a search was instituted. The dog led them to the swamp and Mrs. Alexander with Mrs. McDonald had first to discover the skull, while fifty feet away, other neighbors came across the remains of the body. Part of an arm and leg lay severed nearby. Close at hand also was the hat he had worn, with the hair matted to the inside. Dogs or other animals had doubtless found the body months ago, which accounts for the remains being found severed. Different stories gained currency as to how death must have occurred, a cup near by giving rise to a wild rumor of suicide.

Dr. Gun, the coroner, inspected the remains on Sunday and called an inquest Monday morning to clear up the affair. Messrs R. Ledingham, Thos. Bell, Ed. Simpson, Alex. M. Donald, Don. McDonald, H. Alexander and Wm. Sherman composed the coroner's jury and evidence was furnished that the cup had been there for 8 or 10 years, being used for drinking from a spring nearby and the McDonalds had never owned it or a similar cup. From the position in which the body was found, it is presumed death was natural and sudden, possibly from heart failure. Following is the jury's verdict:

We, the jury, impanelled to enquire into the death of Donald L. McDonald, find

1. That the deceased came to his death on Friday, Dec. 5th, 1913, from causes unknown to us. The evidence shows that he left the house about one o'clock on the afternoon of Dec. 5, without leaving word with his family as to his intentions for the afternoon. The body was found in a swamp about 1 mile from the house on the afternoon of June 20th, 1914.
2. We desire to exonerate Mrs. McDonald and her family from all suspicion, as the evidence shows that they have done all in their power to assist in finding his whereabouts, which remained a mystery until Saturday, June 29th.

Alexander McDonald, Arthur Gun, Coroners

Burial took place on Monday afternoon to Saugen cemetery, a large concourse of neighbors and friends observing the last sad rites. Mrs. McDonald and family have the deepest sympathy of the neighborhood but in their sorrow, they will doubtless find some measure of comfort and relief that the long months of dread suspense and doubt have come to an end.

Challenge as a Result of Erroneous Chronicle Editorial

Revs. Cooley and Prudham make Convincing Replies.

The malicious misrepresentation and attack upon Revs. Cooley and Prudham in an editorial on last week's Chronicle based upon the former's address at the mass meeting in the Pres. Church Sunday evening the 14th, has brought forth the following decisive refutations, which they have forwarded to the Chronicle for publication:

To the Editor, Durham Chronicle:

Dear Sir:

A copy of your issue of June 18, with editorial reference to an address given by myself in the Presbyterian Church, Durham, has come into my hands. For absolute misrepresentation of facts and for conclusions that are baseless your editorial comment excels every newspaper item I have read during this election. You confess you were not present at the meeting and acknowledge your doubts and uncertainty as to what was said on that occasion, and yet proceed to traduce and slander two ministers, whose only fault was an attack on the bar room and an appeal for its abolition throughout this province by the only possible means of achieving it, and in which they were simply obeying the unanimous decision and orders of the authorities of the Methodist Church. Your statement that "the personal references to Dr. Jamieson and Mr. Ball were wholly uncalled for," if you had been present, I would brand as a malicious falsehood. Since you were not there you must have been lied to and unfortunately used your columns to give circulation to the untruth. The discussion was wholly on principles, absolutely impersonal and neither Mr. Ball or Dr. Jamieson was mentioned at all. Further the issue is wholly a moral issue and the appeal is one to men's consciences, and therefore nowhere so in place as in the pulpit and churches. Nevertheless since you object to that "as mean and cowardly to hide behind the sacred desk to advocate party politics," to oblige you, so that you will not need to sit in the coward's throne of an editorial chair, and utter innuendoes and slanders against ministers, I herewith challenge you or Dr. Jamieson or any person whom either you or he choose to put up to represent you and I will meet him on the open public platform in Durham before this contest closes, and let the people judge as to what I say and the right of the case between us.

I ask that as you have given publicity to the untrue version, you will publish the truth and let the public know the facts.

The Editor of the REVIEW.—

Any one present at the Mass Meeting in the Pres. Church on Sunday, June 14th, will readily recall that Mr. Prudham gave no address and made no remarks. The attack in the Chronicle is therefore without basis in fact. It is built around a lie. It is intended to deceive. Why the editor should have written what he did without consulting the parties concerned as to the correctness of his facts indicates the either bias or lack of manliness. The either bias or lack of manliness of indulgence against Mr. Cooley of indulgence in personalities is likewise wanting in fact. He made no use of the names of Dr. Jamieson or Mr. Ball. Why the Chronicle should hark back to the responsibility of writing on the great issues of the day and indulge in petty diatribes is hard to read candid, clear sane appeals to men's better nature at a time like this. As a reader of the Chronicle for two years I cannot recall anything like as hard things said about the perpetrators of youth and the corrupters of morals as have been said of late about men who for a generation in pulpit and out of it, advocated the abolition of the bar, believing it to be the greatest menace to our social, economic, moral and religious life.

The Chronicle strangely forgets if it ever knew, that in the campaign of 1905, Mr. Whitney appealed to the clergy of Ontario to assist him and that after the election was over he publicly thanked them in these words: "As you all know the clergy have done their duty, they deserve the thanks of all men." The Mail and Empire at that time said, "If a clergyman cannot declaim against any public wrong doing, why have a pulpit at all?"

AGE LIMIT LOWERED.—At their Annual Meeting in Quebec last week, the Canadian Order of Foresters decided to reduce the age limit of admission to the order from 45 years to 33 years. This change practically makes it a young men's Order and will ensure a continuance of the low rates now in force, as the interest on investments already pays one-third of the death claims.

Shops more Easily Closed under Rowell Policy

Some Conservative speakers and papers are now attempting to deceive the public into believing that under the Rowell policy of closing the bars and clubs, the shops left open will be a much greater menace to our province than at present. Under Rowell, citizens can dispose of the shops much more easily than under the Whitney gov't. No new shops will be opened in place of bars, and an even majority vote will close present shops, instead of a 60 per cent vote required to close shops, bars or clubs, as at present. Mr. Temperance says where do you stand? Will you vote for Rowell and Ramage—to abolish all bars and clubs, and with only a 50 per cent vote, shops as well? or will you line up with the saloon keepers, brewers and distillers in opposition to this policy?

As the hay crop has proved a failure, Wm. Black has put in a stock of corn, rape and millet. Sow some and secure a good crop of winter feed.

Mr. Jas H. Coleridge has sold his residence on George St. to Mr. J. H. McCayden, carrier on R. R. No. 1. The latter will not move to town for some time.

JUNE HORSE FAIR—Was a big success last Thursday for the summer season, 32 horses changing hands. Sellers were here from Chesley and Warkenton, a result of Mayor Black's extensive advertising. The buyers were eager, one man purchasing 11, and were willing to pay all the animals are worth. Those with horses to dispose of may rest assured that they will receive the top price here as much as anywhere in this locality.

PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS, 1914

Polling, Monday, 29th June

To the Electors of South Grey:

Gentlemen,—I have been honored with the unanimous nomination of the Liberal Party in South Grey and am before you as a candidate in the election now pending.

It will be impossible for me in the few days at my disposal to visit every section, but a residence of many years in the riding, and as publisher of the Durham Review, has made me fairly well known and I hope to become better known in this brief campaign. I ask the forbearance of all in unvisited parts, come to the nomination on 2nd June, or to my meetings as announced when it will be my privilege to present to you the principles that will guide me as your representative, if elected, and discuss the issues of the day.

I am heartily in sympathy with the progressive policy presented by the Opposition Leader Rowell especially with the measures he has striven to bring in Parliament dealing with the Liquor Traffic, Assessment Reform, votes for married women with property, and other measures designed to protect the young, raise the fallen and advance the moral interests of society. Church meetings and Christians of all denominations are practically a unit in supporting these measures and I ask you to crystallize this sentiment into votes on 29th June.

I shall endeavor to give true service to the best of my ability and respectfully ask your influence in the campaign and your vote on June 29th.

Yours for Service,
C. RAMAGE
