Concentration

It is better to advertise intensively than extensively when the sum to be devoted to advertising is small. This means the regular use of the DURHAM REVIEW—52 messages a year addressed to the same constituency of readers.

Intermittent or divided effort is not likely to be resultful. One full-powered blow is better than two half blows.

Concentration of appeal will do a work of conviction and persuasion that will surprise you when the year's returns are totalled up.

A NOTE TO THE PUBLIC

There's a piece for you in this little homily to advertisers; it is: Reward with a full-not divided custom the merchant who steadfastly solicits your good-will. The more you strengthen the hands of the man who serves you the better will be the service returned.

Valcartier is again to be used for the training of overseas contingent. Its advantages it seems are many.

It seems to be practically decided that the Niagara Camp will open this year on 20th May and the 31st Regt will be one of the first to assemble.

To TAX SIGNS.—A movement has been started by the provincial government to place a tax on all signs that decorate the country roads. The money thus gained will be used for the building of new highways and for the upkeep of the old. The matter meets with the entire approbation of county residents, who at the best are not particularly pleased with the glaring signs.

THE HABIT OF PROFANITY.—What honor, what credit to a man is there in the blasphemous repetition of a name that is above all names? Men there are on all sides who cannot utter a dozen words without naming the Giver of Life to emphasize their utterance. It would be bad enough if it ended at that, but when they are sandwiched in epithets of the most immoral and degrading character it casts a slur on the community that cannot be ignored. On our streets and within doors, too, can be heard language that makes one wonder how self-respecting men and women can live within sound of it.—The New Era (Victoria Harbor)

Not Lost, But Gone Before.

In memory of those who have lost their lives in the present war. Canada could offer nothing more beautiful than the best of her sons. Of those over two hundred fell gloriously discharging their highest duty. We are proud of them. They are gone but not forgotten.

Death makes sad havoc here! So stealthily he comes amongst us, With his greedy hands rifling our treasure-casket, Stealing thence the dearest and the best!

We would have watched—and hidden them away, But he is strong, and takes us unaware. Our hearts are poor, losing so many riches, And our homes are still and sorrowful, That erst were gay and musical with song.

There are some names we cannot utter for the choking tears. Some spots are full of painful memories. We scarce can bear to see them. In our hearts are pictures of the misdeed one. Painted there by the deep touch of anguish.

We see the eyes that looked their tender love, The lips that parted off to bless us, But the mist is in our eyes, they are but pictures still.

And such is earth, But ah! there is a home, a land of no more death, Whose sapphire halls have never echoed back the cry of pain Wrung from white lips at parting. There—the sighs are turned to songs, The tears to sparkling gems. The prayers to praiseful anthems, There, are long, we shall regain our treasures.

They are safe—for God will keep them for us, Soon He will enrich us with them there—at home.

T. HARGRAVE INBOTT, The Methodist Parsonage, Holstein.

To the Panama Pacific Exposition via the Canadian Rockies

At the present time a great many are beginning their annual tour. Considerable numbers visit the popular California Resorts, while many prefer the unsurpassed Resorts, Painted Hotels and magnificent scenery of the Canadian Rockies. This year why not combine the two by a visit to the Panama Pacific Exposition?

Numerous people in comfortable circumstances, well able to afford a trip have the mistaken idea that a journey of this nature is most expensive. Not so; thanks to modern railway facilities, an extensive trip, both interesting and educational, can be made with speed and comfort at a comparatively small cost. Why not investigate?

Those contemplating a trip of any nature will receive full information from any C. P. R. Agent, or write Mr. G. Murphy, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.
