Sumptuary Laws

While Premier Aquith is urging economy in both eating and drinking as a necessary war measure to conserve the resources of the nation it is interesting and suggestive to read the opinion of Thos. A. Edison on sleeping and eating. In regard to sleeping he says: "there is really no reason why men should go to bed at all and the men of the future will spend less time in bed than the man of the past. In the old days man went up and down with the sun, a million years ago now he won't go to bed at all. The result will be a great increase in the sum total of man's normal capabilities."

In regard to the food question he says that when all the world is eating what it needs and no more poverty will soon cease to exist and he cites his own experience to prove it as follows: "I consume five ounces to a meal, three times a day, including the water in the food. I drink lots of water. The man engaged at hard physical labor, whose work makes the engine of his body require more fuel than mine does, could get on perfectly well with eight or ten ounces to a meal, altho he might find the achievement of the habit difficult. On the average men would get on better if they reduced their food consumption by two-thirds. They do the work of three horse-power engines and consume the fuel which should operate 50-horse-power engines. If the world would do away with poverty. Stop and think this matter out. We now are consuming as food 600,000 bushels of wheat to accomplish a result which would be accomplished better by the consumption of 200,000 bushels of wheat. This is wasteful in more ways than one. In the first place it wastes the wheat, and by making the supply short makes it expensive and decreases the power of each acre of land to support human life. In the second place it increases the death—and illness—rate of those who overeat. Putrefaction of food-stuffs in the lower intestines is the cause of most diseases. Humanity will never reach its ultimate development until it cuts down on sleep and food. I consider this the most important conclusion which I have come to during my years of hard and constant effort."

From Niagara to Barrie

Jottings by the Way.

Barrie, Ont., Nov. 12, 1918
O Company, 76th Batt.

The Review, Durham:
Dear Editor.—
Our great route march is over and although the daily papers gave accounts of it, I should like to relate a few of the things I noticed on the way.

Our battalion was to have left Niagara on Thurs., Nov. 4, but owing to the rain, we did not break camp until Friday. We left the old camp ground at ten minutes past one and were soon well on our way towards St. Catharines. Nothing unusual occurred on this stage of our journey. At Port Weller we passed the new Welland Canal now under construction and the old canal at the outskirts of St. Catharines. We arrived at the Armories in good time and were told by the citizens of the town that we had made the best march of any of the battalions. We had only covered twelve miles, yet all of us were ready for a good night's sleep.

Next day we had sixteen miles to travel, so we got a good early start. We made good time as far as Jordan, when our scouts brought back the word that the enemy had been sighted. Accordingly we were opened out to two columns, one on each side of the road, and proceeded in this way for a couple of miles. This is the method used for marching in the danger zones in France. The road led through a long narrow gully, affording splendid protection for an enemy but say that we had been supplied with blank ammunition at St. Catharines.

At noon we reached Vineland and stopped there for dinner, which consisted of hot stew carried in the camp kitchen which followed us. But that was not all. After dinner the ladies of Vineland treated us to all the pie we could eat. On leaving we naturally gave them three good cheers.

On reaching Beamsville the enemy was again sighted and once again we were opened out, but nothing occurred. We reached Grimsby Beach, our stopping place, at dusk and as soon as supper was over, we again turned in.

Sunday we were supposed to be in Hamilton and all were disappointed because we could not make it, but good things were in store for us where we were. For dinner the ladies gave us chicken, pies and apples and for supper, cake. In the evening we gave them a concert.

While at the Beach we were attacked by the enemy on Saturday night. However it didn't succeed as it only began at 8.50 p. m. and in our mimic warfare a truce is declared from Saturday 10 p. m. until Monday 8 a. m. In fact a great many of the boys never knew that there was an attack.

On Monday we had twenty miles to travel and so left Grimsby Beach at 8.30 a. m. By 10.40 we had reached Stony Creek, having covered a distance of thirteen miles. Here we stopped for dinner and once again we got all the pie we could eat. One lady told me that she had done nothing for eleven days but bake pies for the soldiers. Here also we saw the monuments erected on the famous battle-ground of Stony Creek and of course both the dead heroes and the ladies received the usual cheer.

We left Stony Creek at 1.30 and marched the seven miles to Hamilton without a stop. At ten minutes past three we were drawn up in the Armories, thus breaking all marching records. In the evening our company was taken to G. W. Robinson's tea-rooms and given a free supper.

On reaching the Armories we were surprised to find Chas. Ramage there, as we did not know that he was stationed in the dressing-station there. He informed us that our battalion had fewer sore feet than any of the others. We were given all day Tuesday to spend in Hamilton and as we had to make room for the 86th, we were billeted out in the Y. M. C. A. and the churches. However very few of us had to sleep there, as the Hamilton people are very enthusiastic and couldn't do too much for the soldiers and so many of us spent the night in private homes.

We left Hamilton about eight o'clock Wednesday morning by four special trains—three passenger and one freight. Everything went well until we reached Georgetown—the home town of Lt. Col. Ballantyne. Here the train stopped for nearly an hour and although we weren't allowed off, lots of good things were brought on. Once again the ladies supplied us with all the pie and cake we could eat, and after we had had our fill of that, they sent us up snow apples by the barrelful. One would have thought by the amount done away with, that we had had nothing to eat for a week.

The next stop was at Cookstown and here we were allowed to get off. Once again we got our share of apples and the Cookstown boys got pie and cake. At both these places the band got off and gave a concert.

At last we reached Allandale and marched to Barrie Armories. After getting settled in our bunks we went to the mess hall for dinner and still once more the tables were loaded with pie. Although no one was hungry still the pies disappeared and what we couldn't eat then, we finished at supper. All along the route we found the people very enthusiastic, but Hamilton was ahead of them all for enthus-

STOP

That cough or it may stop you. The old adage "A stitch in time saves nine" is particularly true of a cold. The time to get busy is when you feel one coming on. In order to effect a sure cure, use
