COOK IN DETROIT

Detroit papers last week gave a humorous coloring to Constable Cook's visit to their city to bring home Thos. Mighton.

Arriving with the first faint flush of dawn and giving off a strong odor of moth balls, three sojourners in our city for the day one Cook, high constable of the town of Durham, in the province of Ontario.

High Constable Cook is a sort of composite of the sheriff of Nottingham, of Sherwood Forest fame, and Sherlock Holmes.

Last Friday night the Sunday School held a social in the Grange Hall which was well attended and although the hall was crowded, the order was perfect.

In the land of our forefathers in Scotland, last night was Halloween in the old style and was kept up to the rules of the order to perfection by old, young and middle-aged.

Grain in general did fairly well. In some instances ten, twenty and some thirty, but none as high as the hundredfold.

Our town shares a fair business. We see P. F. McArthur attending behind the counter in Pattison & Son's. Peter is an old hand at the business as well as the obliging proprietor.

constable of Grey county, and I come for Thomas Mighton," he said, in a voice that was unquestionably authoritative.

In less than a minute, 20 interested detectives had grouped themselves around the new arrival, and were putting him question after question concerning the man he had come to bring back.

"Oh, yes," said one, "we had an awful time locking that man up. He knocked out two detectives and threatened to shoot another."

"Do tell," remarked the constable, his eyes looking over the group, incredulously. Then he went on:

"Oh, I'll take care of 'im alright. You see," he pulled several heavy chains from the inner recesses of his coat, "he isn't going to get away. I've been looking for that man for eight months or two years. He got away from me once. Why, he slipped them shackles right off'n his wrists when I was a-takin' 'im from Winnipeg to Durham. But no more, no sires! Them shackles goes on his arms this time, and there's a ball and chain agoin' on his leg."

Cook and his prisoner, impeded with chains and shackles of every description left for Durham at noon. Mighton is wanted for assault with intent to kill, it being alleged that he attacked a man whom he found in his home, and then kidnapped his three children from his wife and left. The children were recovered in Manitoba and have been taken back to Durham.

PRICEVILLE AND LIMITS

Saturday night, the 13th Nov., 1915, fine, clear and cool, cold all day and plowmen worked with coats and mitts and say they were not too hot at that. Friday night or last night, very high winds, almost gales, light sleepers were disturbed by the roaring of the wind, but those who sleep sound did not pay any attention to the weather as long as they found themselves in the same position they were when going to roost.

Threshing and ploughing is the order of time at present, but likely both will soon be wound up at the approach of a snowstorm, for traction engines cannot be driven when the snow is a few inches deep. Neither can the plow be used when snow is a couple of inches deep on the land.

In the land of our forefathers in Scotland, last night was Halloween in the old style and was kept up to the rules of the order to perfection by old, young and middle-aged.

Grain in general did fairly well. In some instances ten, twenty and some thirty, but none as high as the hundredfold.

Our town shares a fair business. We see P. F. McArthur attending behind the counter in Pattison & Son's. Peter is an old hand at the business as well as the obliging proprietor.

We had a look at the blackboard at Pattison's and read in plain figures—Eggs, 38c a dozen or 3 1/2c a piece. It is fine for the woman who goes in with a big basketful to get such a high price, but the consumer who probably has to pay 40c from the retailer, scratches his head.

Advertisements Show Where We Are Welcome

An advertisement is a beckoning hand, a token of invitation, a sign of welcome.

A business serving the public should most certainly advertise—beckon, welcome, and show an eagerness to serve.

The attitude of a business serving the public, yet which does not advertise, is not one of courtesy or appreciation.

A business which uses the expanding factor of advertising is on a fair way to reach its fullest possible potential development.

To the People in and about Durham You will have a better service, not to say better values, if every retailer in Durham will advertise his business every week in THE DURHAM REVIEW.
