PRICEVILLE AND LIMITS

Died at his residence in Priceville on Tuesday evening, the 31st Dec. 1915, Mr Donald McLean, after a lingering illness of some months but he could see with the eye of faith that the natural sight was only for a time and that in the great hereafter he would realize the joys of seeing eye to eye in the home where all is brightness. Mr McLean, with his father's family, came to the township of Proton some sixty years ago, when there were no conveniences of any kind to be had. He was born in Isle of Tyree, Scotland. Only last summer his brother Alexander who took care of both of her brothers in their last illness, is left lonely, but she has one consolation that she did what she could to ease the suffering of her brothers. The funeral on Thursday, the 30th Dec., was largely attended, his pastor, Rev. Mr Matheson preaching an appropriate discourse at the house. Mr McLean is the first buried in the new cemetery presented by his cousin, Dr Hugh McNeil of Chicago.

Arch. McDonald, south line, is spending the holidays visiting friends down the country and Toronto. The trustees of S. S. No. 10, Glenelg and Egreemont, accepted the application of a Miss Mary McDonald, of Moffat, near Glenelg, for 1916. There were twelve applicants for the position.

Mr Malcolm McInnis, (Councillor) is spending his holidays with friends in Toronto and intends to be back this week.

Mr Arch. McCuaig attended a meeting of the Directors of the Grey and Bruce Insurance Company at Hanover, Friday, the 1st Dec. Died at her son's residence, Mr T. A. M. Ferguson, east of town, the relief of the late Wm. Ferguson, Schools for the County of Grey, at the age of about 90 years. Mr Ferguson was amongst the pioneers of Artemesia, coming there about 65 years ago where they had the first P. O. in this locality. The remains will leave her son's residence on Tuesday morning in train for Shelburne, where her husband, the late Mr Ferguson, is buried.

The Rev. Mr Matheson is to preach a series of sermons for the next six Sundays, commencing on the first Sunday in January, 1916, from 2nd Samuel, 15th, from the 8th verse.

- 1. The glory of fighting for the right.
 - 2. The intervention of God in behalf of the right.
 - 3. Victory a blessing only when God is acknowledged.
 - 4. Three ways that words kill more than the battle.
 - (a) Hatred, malice, moral and otherwise.
 - 5. (b) Sp darkness and false conceptions.
 - 6. (c) Wild beasts.
- The above will be interesting discourses at this season's time on account of war.
- The New Year was blustery and rainy at night, but turned cold and stormy again.
- Dr. Hugh McNeil, of Chicago, attended the funeral of the late Donald McLean, also Donald and Alex McLean of Proton Station and others from a distance.
- Miss Tena McDonald (Duncan) who spent the summer and fall at the old home at her father's, Duncan McDonald's, D. Road, Glenelg, left for California to visit her aunt and uncle, Mr and Mrs Shannon, of that place.

HOPEVILLE

The New Year began with very mild weather. The thaw of Sunday has since caught a cold.
Mr and Mrs F. Hardman and babe, Toronto are visitors at Mr. D. McInnis'.
Miss M. Gray, Toronto, visited over Sunday at the Manse.
Mrs Forde, Toronto, is visiting her son at the Manse.

BEAVER CREEK

Saturday, Jan. 6, 1916—a New Year begun and we begin it by going out to the soldiers in the trenches. The Patriotic concert of New Year eve was quite a success, each number being heartily enjoyed. The proceeds amounted to $44.50. Much credit is due to Miss G. Barton and Miss M. McWilliams, Dundalk, for their very able assistance.

Half a Million Men

Premier Borden announced a New Year's Gift to the Empire when he called for the doubling of Canada's present authorized force of 250,000. It will be done too, and the mere fact of the determination to do so will be echoed in every part of the Empire and lead German into the past. Let us hope the dignity of the nation will not be further compromised.

Temperance Progress in 1915

Special to the Review,
Toronto, Jan. 1st, 1916
Nineteen hundred and sixteen does not dawn under skies altogether black. It has always been said that war and social progress were incompatible and on general grounds this is undoubtedly true. In Canada, however, and particularly in Western Canada, war and social reform seem to have come together.

Special to the Review

January 1915 in Saskatchewan, for example, saw the liquor traffic still holding its place; 1916 sees the private sale of liquor in that province entirely abolished and only twenty-three Government-owned shops left.

January 1915 in Alberta saw the liquor trade still powerful; January 1916 sees it overwhelmed. It has been voted out of existence by the people and the doors of every bar and shop will close on July 1st of this year and after that date there will all be no club licenses.

January 1915 in Manitoba saw the Roblin Government still entrenched; 1916 sees the Norris Government in power and pledged to the most far reaching social reforms, including the early submission of a referendum on total prohibition.

During the past year in British Columbia the Liberal party under Mr Brewster has taken on a new lease of life and has also adopted a definite stand in favor of a referendum for total prohibition. It will be interesting to watch what the Bowers Government will do.

East of the Great Lakes the progress has not been quite so spectacular, but nevertheless it has been real. Prince Edward Island already is dry. Nova Scotia is dry with the exception of Halifax. New Brunswick has only a little over one hundred retail licenses and in Quebec more than three-fourths of the parishes are dry and notable victories for temperance have been won during the past year, particularly in Lachine and Three Rivers.

The Ontario situation is improving steadily and the results of Mr Rowell's campaigns of education, combined with the world-wide opposition to the liquor traffic with the advent of the war have had a strong influence. The year has seen the inauguration of the Central License Board, also the significant new movement of the non-partisan Committee of One Hundred, which aims for an Ontario dry by the first of July.

Submarines in the Mediterranean

The War has taken on a new phase: unwanted activity of submarines in the Mediterranean. Several British liners have been sunk and without warning, in one case 300 lives were lost. A Japanese ship was also destroyed and other casualties of a like nature to merchant men and war vessels.

The British navy or other devices that cleared the British waters will have to be made where on coasts of Greece or Turkey these submarines are obtaining supplies of oil, &c. The danger is so great that insurance rates are away up and traffic to the far east is turning to the old route by Cape of Good Hope.

On one of the ships sunk an American consul was a victim and the American press and most of the exasperation if President Wilson and his cabinet take this latest outrage with the indifference of the past. He has out his honeymoon short. Let us hope the dignity of the nation will not be further compromised.

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquefies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."
