The Struggle

(From the Pioneer)

It was a great fight. With assurance and energy the temperance forces attacked a number of what were considered strongholds of the liquor traffic.

Everything taken into consideration, the success was remarkable. It must be remembered that the liquor party did its best, and was liberally supported by the "trade" in other places.

The outcome is another evidence of the great strength of the temperance sentiment of Ontario, which is certain to wipe the whole drink business out of existence before very long.

The days of compromise, alliance, trimming, are gone by. The people are in earnest. They will not longer be treated with contempt or indifference when they demand legislation embodying the public sentiment against the drink curse.

Organizations of all kinds, old and new, are lining up for an advance. In the ranks of the new temperance soldiery there is no idea of toleration of any more postponing tactics. Governments and Parliamentary bodies must face the music and face it now.

The ranks of the mobilized soldiers of moral reform are growing stronger every day; and the bugle call of the convention shortly to be held will no doubt ring out the command for which the people have waited so long; "Let the whole line advance!"

Rats in French Trenches.
There is a plague of rats along the British and French lines in Flanders and France. A soldier describes the invasion as "worse than the Germans" in a letter, which adds: "Trenches, communications, fields, woods, houses, cellars, and barns are choked with them. We have their holding congresses at night in the busiest roads and giving concerts by day in the most crowded villages. We literally march on top of them. They are beginning to be tortured by hunger, and the shortage of food makes them capable of anything. The other morning I saw a cyclist whose tires had been half devoured by a platoon of rats. 'Woe to the man who gets to sleep with a morsel of chocolate in his trousers! He will wake up to find himself without his chocolate and almost without his trousers.'"

WELBECK

One afternoon recently a citizen of the burg met a rosy youngster carrying a little satchel.

"Well Jimmie, are you going to school now?" he asked.

"No, I'm going home from school," replied the infant, as he toddled hopefully on to mother and sapper.

Mr Jas. J. Castle and family have vacated the historic building which was once Welbeck post-office and have taken up their residence with Mr and Mrs Ferris.

Mrs Schearmann and family contemplate moving to New Ontario soon. We believe our friend "Joseph" of the travelling store has rented her farm.

Mr Andrew Hay is home from the West.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the old food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from any harmful drugs. Try it. Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont.
