A Spirited War Song

The following spirited verses were sung last week in Toronto at the complimentary concert given by the Mendelssohn choir to the members of the overseas forces. Though the naval victory it celebrates is over a century old, the spirit of the piece is applicable to-day and many of the allusions.

NELSON'S GONE A-SAILING
Nelsons gone a-sailing and the foe is hard to find.

See old Britain's colors gaily fly!
Roaring down the sea waves, beating up to wind.

Searching every ocean under sky.
Lights upon the water, lights upon the shore.

And Oh to take to sea with him again.
For the French are coming and the ports are humming.

With the murmur of the women and the trample of the men.

Nelson's gone a-sailing with a double-foe to dare.

See old England's colors gaily fly!
Outward to the Indies, back to Fin- nistars.

Searching every ocean under sky!
Watch the Cadiz fair way; hug the Spanish shore!

Yonder are the masts upon the main;
They are burst asunder in Trafalgar's thunder.

He's caught them and he's fought them and the seas are ours again.

Nelson's gone a-sailing and again he's come ashore.

See the colors trailing half-mast high!
Wrap the flag about him, mourn him eyerore.

So for King and Country let us die.
Name him in the market, name him in the home.

Name him where the children come and go.

With the full tide flowing and the good gate blowing.

They shall hear his voice among them as we heard it long ago.

—Henry Newbolt

Crime Cut Two Thirds

One month of Prohibition in the State of Oregon has apparently won the "Portland Oregonian," a newspaper which was none too friendly to the measure prior to its enactment.

It now sums up the result as "All well and then some!" In the city of Portland grocery stores have replaced saloons, rents have improved, more money is in circulation for groceries, dry goods and other staple articles, according to the statement of C. C. Colt, President of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, and others.

Assistant City Attorney Stadler says "one can mention a thousand things, it seems, cured by Prohibition." "I am sure to say that 80 per cent of all crime involved liquor" is the statement of Judge Stevenson, retiring police court magistrate of Portland.

For nearly every crime committed he has repeatedly heard the single excuse "Judge I was drunk when I did it." The comment of all the Police Officers is similar. Arrests for January, 1915, were 1,774 and in December 2,004; in January, 1916, when Prohibition commenced there were 778. The value of Prohibition to the "Safety First" movement is shown in the statement of Harry P. Coffin, Chairman of the Public Safety Committee of Portland. "Last December," he says "we had 18 cases of driving motor cars while intoxicated; this month we've had none. Accidents have been reduced by Prohibition from 21 arrests in December to five arrests in January, and speeding has dropped from 41 cases in December to nine this month.

WEAK, AILING CHILD

Made Strong By Delicious Vinol
Lakeport, N. H.—"Our little girl 8 years of age was in a debilitated, run-down condition and had a stubborn cough so she was weak and ailing all the time. Nothing helped and until we tried Vinol. Then her appetite increased and she is strong and well, and I wish other parents of weak, delicate children would try Vinol."—GEO. A. COLLINS.

This is because Vinol contains the tissue building, strengthening cod liver elements and the tonic iron which a weak and run-down system needs.

BRONCHIAL COLD

Yields To Delicious Vinol
Philadelphia, Pa.—"Last Fall I was troubled with a very severe bronchial cold, headache, backache, and sick to my stomach. I was so bad I became alarmed and tried several medicines, also a doctor, but did not get any relief. A friend asked me to try Vinol, and it brought the relief which I craved, so now I am enjoying perfect health."—JACK C. SINGLETON.

We guarantee Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis.

WELBECK

Pte. Ezra Past drove down from Owen Sound to spend the week end with his father, Mr. John Past.

Mr. Andrew Hay returned to his home in North Dakota last week, after spending a few weeks with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hay since going west "Ben," as he was affectionately known among his comrades, has prospered and grown fat, owns a section of land and ploughed it with his own traction engine.

Misses Helen Watson, Mary and Etta Alexander and Mr. Archie Watson attended the party given by Mr. and Mrs. Alex Campbell on Wednesday evening of last week.

Mrs. Campbell, of Durham, visited Welbeck friends last week.

Mrs. Stewart and Mr. Colin McIntyre attended the funeral of a nephew Mr. John McInnes, near Paisley, this week. The circumstances of the young man's death is rendered doubly sad by the fact that he was predeceased by a younger sister only a few weeks ago.

"We believe that some of our numerous single men may have been roused by the recruiting meeting at Dornoch on Monday evening.

"If German steel is sharp and keen, is ours not strong and true? There may be danger in the deed, but there is honour too."

The Misses Welbeck are fussing with tinsel and pink crepe paper, jam-jams and "such like" in anticipation of the patriotic box social in Dornoch on Wednesday. We don't do much in the line of entertainments ourselves, but we back up Dornoch every time.

Mr. John Stewart sold a horse at a good figure in Durham on Thursday. Mr. H. Alexander also disposed of a young team last week.

Mr. Fred Hill is helping to keep alive Welbeck's one active winter industry by supplying Truax & Son with saw logs.

Mr. E. Leuck is filling a contract from the Township Council for twelve thousand feet of bridge covering.

Mr. Geo. Hay has purchased a horse power.

A large and formidable looking man marched in on the Welbeck household one day and, shedding an enormous fur coat, demanded "Who lives here?" While the family was regaining health, the giant poured a running fire of personal questions upon them, all the time making rapid notes in a huge book and ended explosively with "Have you a dog?"

Mr. Welbeck had had no time to tuck his shaggy tramp-eater into the ash barrel, so he meekly assented. A few minutes later he looked up from the paper the stranger had thrust into his hands and belted "He has raised me thirteen dollars!" Mr. Welbeck seized his shot gun, but the assessor was already on the other side of the swamp.
