FREE

A post card addressed to us as below, with your name and address on the other side, will cost but one cent. Drop it in the nearest mail box, and it will be promptly a copy of our illustrated 80-page catalogue for 1916. With it will come also—free—a 15c packet of

Byron Pink Tomato

A perfectly formed tomato, the Byron Pink is uniform, large, and attractive. The flesh is firm, and the flavor delicious and full-bodied. It is a robust grower and a heavy cropper. It is an ideal tomato for forcing. You are going to buy seeds anyway; then you might just as well send for our catalogue and get this free premium for yourself.

The Catalogue tells about the other valuable premiums which we give with every order.

MARCH 9, 1916

Opening week in Legislature

In the speech from the throne there was an inconspicuous paragraph referring to a matter that may prove to be the burning question of the session. Among other bills promised there was "a bill relating to the prohibition and sale of intoxicating liquor in the Province and for the submission of same to the electors."

No details yet, but it is supposed if submitted to the electors, soldiers at front or in training will be allowed to vote. A strong effort will undoubtedly be made to have the government declare prohibition in force at once and take a vote after the war.

Some of the Conservative members are soured because the government did not consult a caucus on their temperance proposals. It was noticeable that the warmest applause greeting the announcement came from Mr. Howell and the opposition.

Mr. Howell has declared that he stands where he stood two years ago and will line up with the ministry in either legislative action or by referendum. No mistaking Mr. Howells into sympathy with the cause. "I am prepared cordially (notice the cordially) to support the government in carrying out the proposals they submit if these proposals are as I understand them to be, as outlined in the Speech from the Throne."

Three contested bye-elections since the general election of 1914 show a remarkable change.

June '14. Bye Elec.
Hamilton W. C. maj 1411 C. maj 36
Dundas " 673 " 62
Peel " 627 L. maj 305

The change against the government in these three contests is 2918 an average of nearly 1000. If the slump continues even half as much, the government will be in danger.

To-day, Wednesday a remarkable demonstration will accompany the presentation of the monster petition for prohibition containing 80 per cent of the electors of the Province.

En Route

[The following extracts from a letter sent by Chas. C. Ramage while passing through eastern Canada on his way to the front will be of interest.]

Trois Pistoles, Que.
This is a point west of Rimouski, seemingly the size of Durham, snow-bound, as all this part of Quebec is. We are farther south than Lake Superior and the snow banks are higher than the train windows and chilly outside. Inside is cozy however and we are surviving nicely after a second night on the train.

At Riviere du Loup, a town of about 4000, the two batteries and ourselves were taken out for a half hour's route march and it was certainly a pleasing walk. It was amusing trying to read

VIRGINIA FARMER

Restored To Health By Vinol
Atlee, Va.—I was weak, run-down, no appetite, my blood was poor, I could not sleep nights and was rapidly losing flesh, but I am a farmer and had to work. Medicine had failed to help me until I took Vinol. After taking three bottles my appetite is fine, I sleep well, my blood is good and I am well again.

the French signs and bill-boards, we tried to read some meaning into them, but either correct, or not could not say. The streets were lined with spectators. This French town is no doubt typical of many in Quebec, with its frame houses, mostly petite, and jagged frontal lines along the street, which are by no means level, but rather like the teeth of a saw. There was a hill, not as long as Durham one, but much steeper and marching up the incline was trying. The thoroughfares are all lined with telegraph and telephone poles. Interesting are the little farms and the homes mostly painted white. The farms, rail-fenced, appear very long but are no wider many of them, than Spadina Ave. in Toronto. I have yet to see a team of horses—all "one hoss shay" here. Great piles of pulp-wood vie with the snow banks in height.

We have passed Rimouski and Mont Joli, each good sized towns, having troops in training. Until now we have followed the St. Lawrence closely, the great river looming up on our left like a grey mist. At Mont Joli we turn south to New Brunswick the next place of good size being Campbellton, where we put our watches on an hour. A rough country and the train moves slowly. Gaspe peninsula can have little commercial value, trees are of the scrub variety, land tidy, yet the French no doubt make a living, where others would fail.

The most conspicuous features of the towns and villages are the Catholic Churches and Convents, mostly large high buildings. Militarism is at low ebb here, as we see large numbers of men of military age and none in khaki. The girls are human though; they come and talk and smile to the soldier, and of course we are human too! At one station several of the boys collected a variety of sweet carresses from some pretty French lassies; unfortunately I was on guard at our coach door at the time!

We take turns hourly at guard duty two men at a time. Not very nice to be rustled out of bed in the middle of the night for your turn! However it has been a fine trip, more like a picnic than its more serious purpose. Passed Moncton in the dark, it is raining outside, so I will draw the curtain and close.

Mr. Rob. Torry has furnished us for publication the following letter from Sidney Baker, formerly employed at the cement plant, now at the front.

France, Feb. 11th
My dear Mr. Torry:
I am just taking the chance I have for a few minutes to answer your ever welcome letter and to thank you for your Jack Canack, which was very good of you to send me and you can bet the boys all like to get them, especially in a country where every thing is strange.

I was very glad to hear that you were in good health and getting in the winter all right. Well I can tell you that I am fine myself, never was better. We are having fairly good weather here, not so much rain as England and everything looks like spring coming.

You will have to excuse my bad writing or mistakes, as I am writing this in the tent on the boards after coming back from the front to rest for a few days. Of course it is not much of a rest, as there is always a job to do around a camp, especially where there are horses.

I shall be glad to get back to the Gous again and take a pop at the Huns. We did some very good shooting and I got several direct hits, so that is not too bad, but they always reply to us. One day as they were handing us a few whistling Willies and wix bangs, a band in a bar close by was playing "The Maple Leaf for Eyer." I thought it was fine.

I was pleased to hear that Fred has joined. Kindly give him my kind regards and everybody else at the Plant. Tell them I am fine and looking forward to coming back to Durham some day.

We are very comfortable—in fact this has got home skinned forty ways. We got a bath and a change of underwear every two weeks, that makes a fellow feel fine. We only get one Franc per day, that is twenty cents, and I can tell you I am broke all the time.

I was looking down the list of names on the paper you sent me and I saw lots of the fellows' names I used to know. I am glad there was such a good showing in Durham. I don't understand what the people are down-hearted at home for, as I can tell you that we never met a man down-hearted here and we sit in the old dug-out and sing at nights and then the order comes stand to and then we hand them a pill or two.

Good-bye, best love to all.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from any harmful drugs. Try it.
