New Immigration Chaplain

Durham and neighborhood will appreciate the following letter from Rev. Dr. Farquharson. We are sure his kindly offer to take an interest in any of his old boys passing his way to the front, will be much appreciated and acted upon.

Dear Mr. Ramage,-- I am in the old city of Quebec, where I am likely to be located during the period of navigation. My work is that of Immigration Chaplain and my duties are with settlers coming into the country, including sick and wounded soldiers and their friends who are returning. The first vessel since my arrival is expected on Friday and so there is at present little to do. I was thinking that I might be of service in seeing any friends among the soldiers, of whom I was made aware as they go overseas to the war. I do not know what privileges I might have regarding these, but probably I would have some opportunity of meeting them.

I have not so far been over much of the territory around the city, but of course I have been more than once on the terrace surrounding the Chateau de Frontenac and really the view from that point is very magnificent.

I was much interested in the statue of Champlain as he stands on his pedestal with bare head, hat in hand, reverently looking into the unexplored lands to the West. Under him at the side an angel with trumpet voice announces to the tribes inland the arrival, while Indian chiefs come and bow before the shrine of Christianity which his coming represents.

Down somewhat lower than the level of the terrace is the statue of Laval a French inscription celebrates his mission of Education and the exponent of the religion, while smaller pieces of group statuary on the side of the main pillar present the consecrating of wild natives to the service of Christ. Women come with their children to be blessed, sisters minister to the sick and dying and very much of the essentials of Christianity is presented to view.

Further round the terrace to the south-west of the Chateau is the statue of Wolfe and Montcalm. It is as you know a square pillar and its message is that of the stability of noble character. As I looked I wondered if the day would yet come when all the present strife past, we would be putting up pillars of our joint tributes of praise to German, French and Briton as we forget the strife and remember only the better qualities it may be so. We may pray that it be so, but we must be content with the present if we are to be worthy of that day, we would be putting up pillars of our joint tributes of praise to German, French and Briton as we forget the strife and remember only the better qualities it may be so.

With kindest regards, Yours sincerely, Wm. Farquharson

Fighting the One Mill Tax

One of the big surprises in the political situation is the violence of the attack made by the Conservative Mayor of Toronto on the Provincial government for levying the special one-mill tax, which applies equally all over the province. Mayor Church not only declares that the tax is illegal and unconstitutional, but claims that the Ontario government is not even spending the money so raised exclusively for war purposes.

The Mail and Empire (Conservative) links up Mayor Church's attack on the government with the growing antagonism between the government and the municipalities of the province on the question of the management of the Hydro Electric Commission, in other words, the McGarry-Beck feud.

other words, the McGarry-Beck feud. Even this government organ, therefore, recognizes the widening breach between the municipalities and the government, which obviously must endanger the very safety of the government's tenure of power.

SOUTH BENTINCK

A number from this part took in the celebration for the 147th boys at Hanover last Friday.

Sapper N. Grierson, of the Divisional Signal Co., Ottawa, came in on final leave last week, but owing to sickness, will have to remain a few days longer.

Sunday School opened on May 7th with an attendance of twenty-six. Miss Jean Derby left last week for Ottawa to take a course in the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Miss Bessie Park spent a week at Priceville with her sister, Mrs. W. Mather.

Ptes. Fred Corbett and Jno. Derby spent the week end at their homes here.

A number of the neighbors assembled at the home of Mr. Wm. Grierson last Saturday evening, where an address and presentation took place for the boys who are training. Mr. Wm. McCullough acted as chairman and after the address which was read by Mr. Jno. Milligan, the presents were handed to the boys by Mr. Arch. Park. F. Corbett received a handsome wrist watch, while N. Grierson and J. Derby were each presented with a gold signet ring, purse and mirror. After a neat reply from the boys and short addresses by A. Derby, J. Milligan and A. Park the National Anthem was sung. Light refreshments were served and a very sociable time was spent by all. Before parting everyone joined in singing "God be with you till we meet again."

Mr. James Park's house took fire last Sunday, but with the assistance of the neighbors, was put out before much damage was done.

A Big Tax

Special to the Review.

Toronto, May 15th.

Monday, May the 15th, saw the coming into effect of the new amusement tax levied by the Ontario Government on patrons of all places of amusement. It is estimated that the tax will produce an annual revenue of at least $500,000. The real meaning is that the people of Ontario who visit theatres and especially the hundreds of thousands of Ontario citizens, who, in cities and small towns alike, go to see the movies, will have to pay the Ontario Government half a million dollars a year in taxation in addition to all the other taxation they are now paying.

While there is no objection from the people against paying the amusement tax, there is a prevalent feeling that at least part of the necessity for the imposition of this tax is the failure of the government to administer its finances on an economical basis, and as its failure to exact just taxation from some of the wealthy corporations. If they had been as anxious to tax these plutocrats as they are to take toll from the common man in the street there would have been no need for this amusement tax. If, for example, the government levied what they should levy, under the Mining Tax Act, on The Canada Copper Company, which mines nickel, they would take from this company some $400,000 this year, instead of the paltry $40,000, which they are actually taking in accordance with the five year flat rate agreement entered into by Mr. Hearst in 1912 as Minister of Mines—an arrangement which Mr. Hearst admits was not authorized by the legislature.

Sam Clark, M. P. P. for East Northumberland, stated the case in a nutshell when he said "The government taxes the poor man who wants to see a nickel show and lets the plutocrats of the nickel companies off with a song."

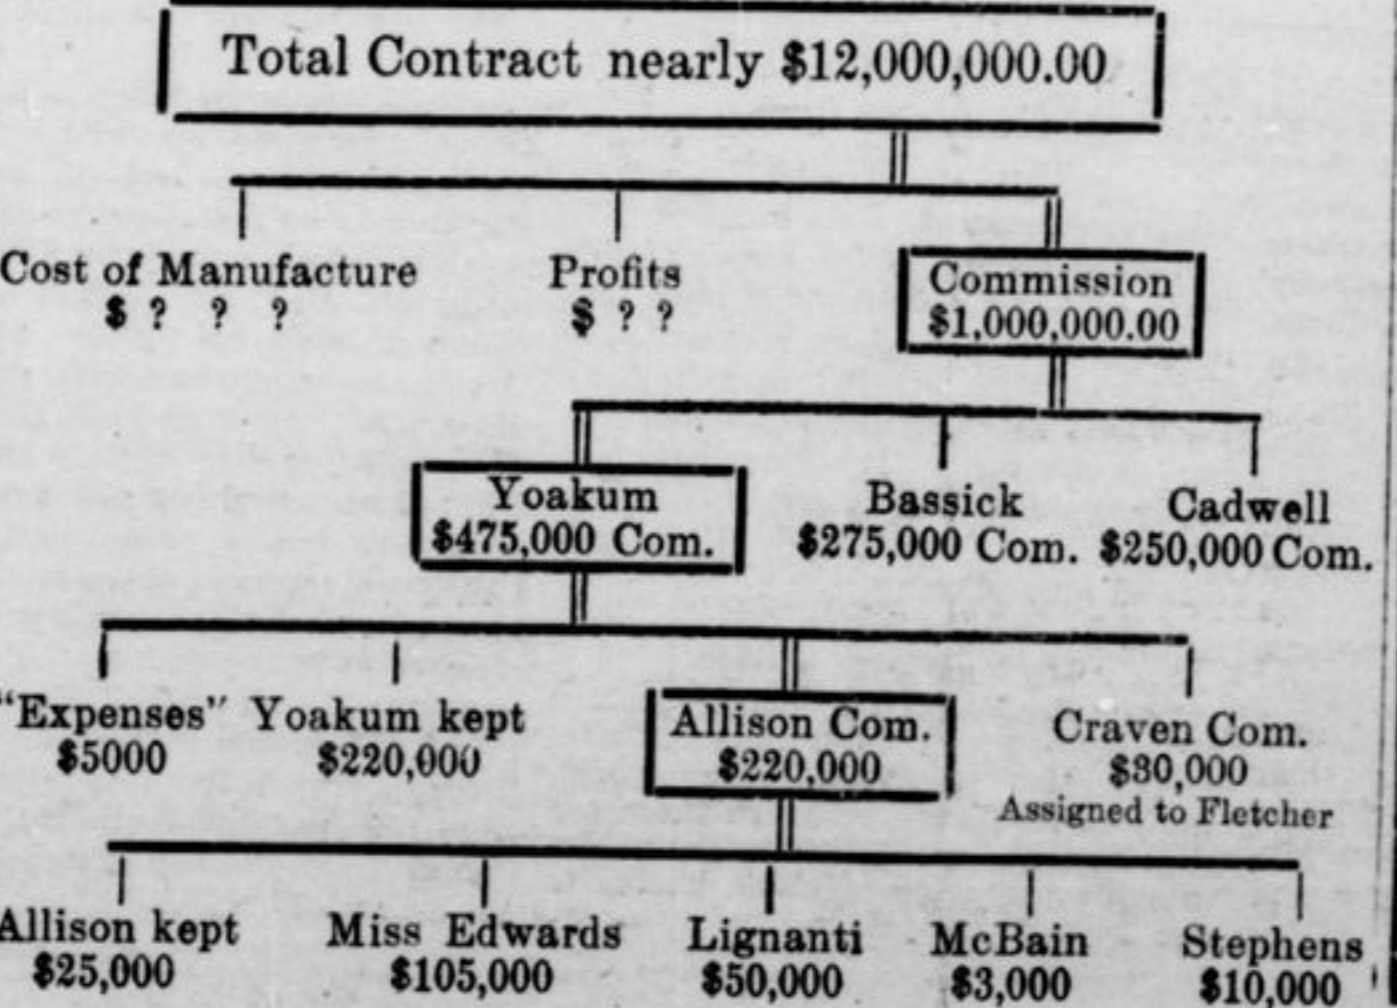

In 1906, under the Conservative administration, the expenditures of the Province were eight and a half million dollars, to-day under the same administration, the expenditure amounts to twenty-three million dollars.

How $1,000,000 is said to have been Divided

With Acknowledgments to the Toronto Star

The following diagram is meant to show graphically how a million dollar commission on Fuse contracts found its way into the pockets of a number of exploiters. The only lady in the group was Mr. Allison's private Secretary and as one paper says should he advertise for another he will have a host of applicants.

By following the short double vertical lines and the panels the nine or ten beneficiaries of the million dollars can be traced. We cannot give the amounts for Manufacture and Profits respectively but the million dollar commission as brought out at the investigation, is accounted for.
