JULY 20, 1916

Economy in the Home.

Premier Hearst's Opinion.

Good food, well cooked; the world's strong men are being badly thinned out and the vigor of those who must take their place should be well maintained.

There is loss in cooking excessive quantities. Loss in buying articles of small nutritive value. Loss in buying foods out of season, when high priced.

Loss in badly constructed ovens. Generally too much heat is used. Loss in lack of knowledge as to the temperature at which certain foods should be cooked.

Loss in forgetting to turn off coal oil or gas stoves when work is done. Plain living and high thinking go hand in hand.

Many things we could do without and not miss them—(if—if—our neighbors did not have them.)

Supposed luxuries, presumed necessities, were so because we thought them so, or our neighbors thought so.

Back to the simple life: the war is a great leveler. Read again Premier Hearst's wise words:

"There is, I believe, a call now—a most earnest and special one—for service and sacrifice by everyone in this Dominion, and in every part of the Dominion, and every reasonable step should be taken to reduce the cost of living and to conserve our resources in every way possible for the great task. It is surely a time for all of us to abstain from luxuries and extravagance in what we wear and what we eat as well as in what we drink."

North Perth Bye-Election

Special to the Review, Toronto, July 17, 1916

Now that the smoke of battle has cleared away, an analysis of the North Perth bye-election would indicate that the Liberal victory was a spontaneous expression of resentment on the part of the electors against Toryism in Canada as manifested by the extravagance and incompetence of the present Ontario Government and the impotence and graft of the Conservative Government at Ottawa.

During the short campaign of two weeks, rural North Perth was never busier, the farmers endeavoring to utilize the good hay-making weather, following an exceptionally wet season and noting that was said or done in rural North Perth by either party influenced the voters to any great extent. The meetings that were held were very poorly attended and it is questionable whether much of the material printed by the party papers, pertaining to the bye-election, was read by the farmers during the campaign, owing to the above conditions.

The Government endeavored in every way possible to distract attention from the extravagance and incompetence of their administration, and tried to make Bi-lingualism and Prohibition the issues. They raised a big cry because the Liberals saw fit to contest the riding and used loyalty as a bogey in such a way that it appeared as a big stick over the heads of the electors to compel them to vote Tory or be branded as disloyal and pro-German.

Mr Hay appealed to the electors to elect him and thus strengthen the hands of the Opposition, which would tend to a still greater check being kept upon the extravagance of the present Government.

Undoubtedly the successful result of the North Perth election for the Liberal cause is largely due to the candidate's personal popularity. On the other hand, the tide of public opinion against Toryism, supplemented by the illegal claims of the Conservative campaign managers, is known to have contributed in a marked degree to the defeat of the Government candidate.

Mr Rowell in London

The following special cable from London appeared in the Mail and Empire on July 19th:

"On his arrival in London yesterday, Newton Wesley Rowell, K. C., of Toronto, leader of the Liberal Opposition in Ontario, droye straight to the House of Commons, where he was given a seat in the distinguished strangers' gallery, arriving just as Mr Asquith began his statement on Home Rule. Mr Rowell, who is accompanied by his secretary, Mr Main Johnson, expects to remain a month on this side and will spend the time looking after the interests of the Canadian soldiers in the hospitals and training camps, and if possible, in France. He will also study the general situation here as between military, industrial and agricultural demands, with a view to assisting him as member of the Ontario War Commission."
