Fatal Auto Accident

W. J. McFarland Killed

particularly distressing accident eccurred last Friday afternoon which Mr W. J. McFarland, father Lieut, Col. G. F. McFarland of th The Ludies of the Red Gross Society | Farland, of Berkeley, most severely also in the car, was the only one who escaped injury. The accident occurred about five o'clock in the afternoon at a crossing of the C. P. R. about four and a half miles north of Markdale. The party were on their way from Markdale to their summer cottage at English's Lake, when the accident occurred. It would appear that Mr William McFarland, who was driving the car, attempted to stop the car but could not in time to save a smash up. Before he could prevent it he had run up on the track and in a final endeavor to avoid the encoming engine, he turned the car away from the freight and tried to get in the ditch. Before he could get clear of the track the rear of the car was struck and all the occupants were hurled from it. The elder Mr McFarland was killed instantly.

According to the story told by engineer Burt, the car in which the un fortunate people were riding, was go has nothing to offer the world in the ing only at a moderate rate of speed.

The Late Lieut. John Mills

Messrs John Mills and William Smith, of Dornock, learned yesterday that their nephew, Lieut. John Mills had been killed in action on June 28.h. contrary to the official notice stating that he was killed on June 15th. The last letter from Lieut, Mills was writ ten in a dug-out a few miles from the front line trenches on June 26th and stated that he expected to be in action within the next two days. This letter was received one week after the offic ial telegram, so that owing to the mis take in date, hopes were entertained that Lieut. Mills might still be alive Subsequent letters however, from comrades who saw him fall, confirmed the official death notice.

Lieut. Mills was one of the four of ficers chosen from the 70th Battalion to reinforce the 14th Montreal Scottish. He crossed over to France on the 21st and in France these four were in turn separated, two remaining behind to attend bombing school, whilst Lieut, Mills went forward to a heroic death on his first day in the front line

Prior to enlistment Lieut, Mills was employed as statician in the offices of k adly help by leaving papers, maga- the Ford Motor Company of Canada. He enlisted as a private in the 21st Regiment, but later secured a con mission in the 70th Battalion after special training in London.
