LIEUT. WILKINSON MAKES SUPREME SACRIFICE.—On the Somme battlefield on Sept. 15th, Lieut. Wm. Wilkinson, son of J. S. Wilkinson, Toronto, Editor-in-chief of the Toronto News, has been killed in action. Lieut. Hearst son of Ontario's premier, who was in the same battalion, noticed Wilkinson's fall, and wired to the latter's twin brother Walter, who is special correspondent for the News in London, England, of his death. Thence the sad news came to his home in Toronto. Lieut. Wilkinson was about 27 years of age, and was a nephew of Mrs. T. A. Harris, of town. Many here will remember Will and his brother Walter, who when lads were several times here during the holidays. Before enlisting, Will was on the Toronto News staff, and had been reporter and city editor on several Western papers.

Rally Day Services were held in the Presbyterian church both morning and evening on Sunday last. The Sunday School scholars were present in large numbers in the morning occupying the centre front pews, with Supt. Thos. Allan presiding. Rev. Mr. Whaley gave a most instructive discourse and one easily intelligible to the little folks on "Doing My Bit." It was the Young People's Society rally service in the evening and special music was rendered by a male quartette and the choir, reinforced by several of the Y. P. S. members, who sang, "As a Volunteer." It was a foreign mission service, in charge of Mr. Peter Ramage who outlined the various fields ministered to by the Canadian Presbyterian church and their activities. Misses Margaret McGillivray and Jean McGowan also gave map talks on Mission Work in the Korean and North Honan fields, while the pastor delivered the principal address "Troops and Trenches in foreign fields." Both services were appreciated by large congregations.

ORCHARD.—Bills are out for the 23rd Anniversary of the Orchard Methodist Church on Sunday and Monday, Oct. 8 and 9. Rev. Mr. Stewart of Drew is the visiting preacher, and addresses, Durham Male Quartette and other music, with Dr. Jamieson M. P. in the chair is the program for Monday evening preceded by a Thanksgiving Dinner from 6 to 8 p. m.

We acknowledge the receipt of an attractive picture calendar, issued by Hon. C. H. Ferguson, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines. The picture and letterpress is meant to boom Northern Ontario the "New Land of Promise and Prosperity." It announces Twenty Million acres of finest agricultural land at 50c. an acre, and particulars can be had from H. A. McConnell, Parliament Building, Toronto.

LECTURE ON HAWAII.—Miss Lottie Elliotson, who is touring the province, giving lectures on the Hawaiian people and their customs appeared in the Methodist Church here Wednesday night, before a fair-sized audience. She gave a good address, though the enunciation is not of the best, and also two well rendered eulogistic numbers, but these were not appropriate for a church. A fine musical program was also given by local talent.

The passing of King Alcohol here in Aytou was at times tame. About six o'clock an hour before the closing of the bars, there was a bit of roystering but the hotels had been sold out save a few bottles of beer and soft drinks. Everything in the line of hard stuff was gone before the closing hour.

Had there been a large stock of liquors left a rough house celebration would probably have been the result. We must congratulate the hotelkeepers of Aytou and Neustadt for the order that they preserved throughout the day and for the management and good judgement, to have no surplus stock on hand. One of our highly respected citizens of town walked to the Post office on Monday morning and passing a friend remarked "Why is this town like a cemetery this morning?" "Dead I suppose" was the answer. "Well yes" remarked the gentleman. "The bodies are still here but the spirits are gone." —Aytou Advance.

$116 QUILT.—The Women's Institute had a most successful entertainment at No. 9 school house, Glenelg on Tuesday night, lasting till near Wednesday morning. The admission was only 10 cts. but no less a sum than $15.33 was taken in at the door. Proceedings began about 8 with a sumptuous lunch, easily worth a quarter and after the greater part of two hours the meeting was called to order and under the genial chairmanship of Mr. Wm. Irwin who made an address, a fine program was carried out, marked throughout by unusual excellence. Miss Scott gave a reading, Mr. A. Bell a couple of solos, two little Bell boys and a Lindsay boy a rousing patriotic piece loudly applauded, Victor Williams a recitation, Miss Winnie Blyth a pleasing solo, Misses Meads a duet, Geo. Ritchie and family, violin selections, while Misses Margaret McGillivray, Rita Irwin and Mamie Mountain accompanied the several performers. A feature of the evening was the drawing for the quilt on which much loving work has been put in recent weeks. By the sale of tickets and name inscriptions $116 was collected, for which the women, we may be sure, will find a worthy outlet. The lucky number was held by Mrs. Wm. Hargrave.

Baptist Anniversary

Sunday last good congregation listened to stirring sermons by the Rev. Judson McIntosh, B. A. of Owen Sound in the Baptist church here. He is a fluent speaker, clear in thought and impresses the gospel message earnestly and effectively. In the evening he took his text from the story of Aaron and Hur holding up the arms of Moses, Ex. 17:12 "His hands were steady until the going down of the sun."

Being "steady" was a desirable quality at Anniversary times and especially in such war times as the present. He made a eulogy of Moses and said a line stretched over the ages, held by Moses and Paul, would be above the head of all other men. Men did their bit in holding up hands, there was work for us all in this direction, in church work, etc., etc. It was easy to march with the crowd, not so easy to face tasks alone. He found lessons along this line in the lives of Lincoln, of David of Dante, of Burns, of Matheson, Bunyan and above all of Jesus. It was not true as Napoleon said that God was on the side of the strongest battalions, men and battalions with ideals behind them are the strongest force. There should be as large an army met weekly in the prayer meetings as were fighting at the front.

The action of Moses was the pledge of victory. It was not marked by brilliancy, but by stability, not starting alone but sticking—was required. Though often in danger we still can trust. We are not pawns played on the great chess-board of the world, but we are part of a Divine plan and it helps us to be "steady" when we hear Jesus saying "Lo! I am with you always."

Pastor Wylie surpassed himself in a fine solo and Mr. A. Bell is ever a stand by in that line.

MONDAY EVENING
The program and lecture by Rev. McIntosh was worthy of a larger audience. Of musical talent there was abundance and we think we never saw a higher average of excellence by the choir, Misses Walker, Irwin, Wylie and Mrs. Pink and by Pastor Wylie and Messrs. Mistle, Bell and Fallaise.

The lecture on Kitchener was the feature of the evening and we think all present had their estimate of the man heightened, though feeling that "the ball was never told" of the great soldier since Wellington. He made an opening to a reference, geographical and historical to the Orkney Islands, near which the great man met his death. He gave an outline of the personal appearance of "the man who made himself a machine," and gave little anecdotes of his youth and later student days among which were illustrations of the softer side of his character, shown in abiding affection for his old nurse and in other ways.

He was born in Ireland though the accident of his parents moving there, prided himself on his Irish birth. In 1870 he broke into his college studies by enlisting with the French and early showed such ability that he was appointed on a Commission to explore the Holy Land, of which he made the most authentic survey map. He had rivals, and his magnanimity of spirit was shown by helping them in difficulties.

The rising in Egypt was the occasion that brought him fame, his ability in organizing being the clue to his success. It was said that in his nature he had much in common with the eastern mind. He learned the Egyptian language, and was the great instrument in avenging the death of Gen. Gordon. He was given a peerage for his services in Egypt.

In the black day of Dec. 1890, when the nation called for Roberts, Roberts chose Kitchener, and he added to his fame in South Africa as in North. He reformed the army in India and his work there was the foundation of the present magnificent loyalty of India's people. The lecturer made fine use of a metaphor here. Germany thought the British Empire was like a tree when the fruit was ripe, shake it and the fruit would fall. They expected India, Australia, Canada, etc., etc. would be detached—but all the foreshaking was a failure, for every British colony clung fast.

He made reference of course to the Khartoum incidents that gave him his title but we think the lecturer should expand on this point. Kitchener's resourcefulness in difficulties, his shrewdness in selecting men and in sizing up situations, his reserve towards women giving rise wrongly to the idea that he was a woman hater, and other traits in his character were lucidly set forth. He repeated Asquith's famous eulogy, made some days before Kitchener died, and read the well-known letter that Kitchener caused to be put into every soldier's helmet at the opening of the war. He had often been called upon to face storms, and we know he faced the last storm of the sea with thoughtful courage.

He changed the Sudan in three years in three years, he reorganized the Indian army methods, in three years in S. Africa he brought order out of chaos, and it now appears that his prediction made in 1914 of this war lasting three years was also to come true.

"God Save the King" closed the meeting.

STEWART—BELL
At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Robt. Bell, Glenelg, on Wednesday, 20th of Sept., a very pretty wedding was celebrated, the principals being her daughter Miss Blanche and the groom, Mr. Geo. Stewart, a well-known farmer at Bunness, Rey. Mr. Whaley was officiating clergyman and the ceremony took place on the verandah under a beautiful arch of evergreens, the house and surroundings also being decorated and all in good taste. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Allan Bell, and was attractively attired.

After the ceremony and congratulations from the hundred or more guests present, a sumptuous wedding dinner was partaken of. Many valuable presents, among which were a couple of substantial checks, testified to the regard and respect held to the young people by their many friends. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold pearl necklace, to the organist, who played the wedding march, Miss Lawrence, a gold brooch.

The evening advanced with good fellowship and music, and the light fantastic toe, and the company separated breathing again good wishes to the happy young couple.

Recruiting Corps at Fall Fairs.

Another strong attempt is now being made to fill up the ranks of the 147th before it goes overseas. Capt. Linton Douglas, Capt. H. S. Mullaney (Chaplain), Lieut. Rutherford, Serg's Clarence Darling and "Scottie" Stewart, Corps, Young and McDonald, are among a recruiting party spending at present two weeks in the county and attending the various fall fairs, in an effort to complete the 147th Grey Battalion.

Pts. Watson and Quanton of D. Company, two of team which won for the 147th, the Camp Borden championship in bayonet exercise will give exhibitions at the fairs which they attend. This will be most interesting revelations of modern warfare.

The opportunity to go overseas soon without a long wait will no doubt appeal to young men, and for the credit of the county, backed by the reputation the 147th has made, it is hoped there will be a ready response on the part of the almost 50 men required yet.

Report now has it that the Grey Battalion will leave for overseas about the middle of October, while a rumour is also heard that the battalion will be stationed in Toronto for the winter. Recruiting for Grey's new 218th battalion will not commence until the present one is complete.

John McDonald of Chatsworth

One of the most well known citizens of Grey County died on Saturday last, and as the news reached here there was sorrow deep and sincere in many breasts. He was born in Sydenham township in 1849, lived on farm till 29 years of age, then studied and took his degree. Not following this up he began conveyancing in Chatsworth, broadening out into a private banker, and it was in these last capacities he became widely known for the success that he achieved. A few years ago his bank was merged into the Merchant's Bank, and of this branch he was manager till his death.

He was a public spirited citizen, trusted in business and loved for his personal qualities of head and heart. He was a member of the County Council for years, was Treasurer of Chatsworth and took a great part in the development of rural telephone lines.

His wife survives him, one son in France and another in Edmonton.

Mr. Wm. Laidlaw has commenced his new business as Bruce St.
