A Double Bereavement.

By our Priceville & Limits cor.)

This week it is our sad and painful duty to write on two deaths.—a brother and a sister, Mrs Donald Campbell and Hugh McDonald. We often write obituary notices of other friends and sympathize with them in their sore affliction but when duty calls us to write of members of our fathers and mothers families, it's quite different. We feel at this writing so sad at the double bereavement that we can hardly give justice in writing of the departed ones.

We give a backward look to the time when an unbroken family of father and mother, six brothers and four sisters assembled at the old home-stead on lot 11 con 1 N D R Glenelg, where both of the subjects of our brief sketch were raised from an infancy. Three brothers and two sisters that cheered the old home have gone to their reward, viz: Neil McDonald who died on the 5th Feb, 1899 at a comparatively young age; Charles died on the 12th Nov., 1898 some years younger and Mary, the oldest of the family, died on the 11th April, 1909 and now the two subjects of our writings, Mrs Campbell was married to the late Don Campbell of Fairbairn, Egremont, on the 4th April, 1898, lived a happy life for 8 years when death called the husband away 21 years ago in his faithful duties as husband. He gave his widow the privilege of selling the farm which she did to Mr Robb of Egremont. Having no family she came back to the old home where she ended her days. Mrs Campbell's ailment was diabetes and other trouble, and being of a quiet disposition she bore her troubles patiently. During the two weeks previous to her death, she was tenderly nursed by her niece, Nurse Charlotte McDonald. By the brother and sister, Donald McDonald and Miss Christina, the old home will feel sad and lonely as they are the only members left there now. But as a dutiful brother and sister they can say that they did what they could to alleviate the suffering of a departed brother and sister and now they can reflect and can say as did one of old that in life they lived pleasantly together and in death they were not separated.

Mrs Campbell's funeral took place on Friday, 13th April, and the brother Hugh's took place on Sunday, 15th April. Owing to another funeral on this Monday afternoon, the 16th inst. of Mr John McQuarrie, it necessitated having the funeral on Sunday. The remains were taken to the church, when the pastor, Rev Mr Matheson, preached the funeral obsequies for a large and appreciative audience.

Mrs Campbell's funeral service was held at the old home-stead by Rev Mr. Matheson also. Owing to the bad state of the roads Mrs Campbell's remains could not be taken to Wood-lad cemetery where the remains of her husband are buried. Both brother and sister are now resting in a beautiful plot in McNeil's cemetery.

The brother Hugh's funeral was on his birthday born in the old home where he died on the 15th of April, 1855. For over 20 years he was not very robust in health and during that time could not do any work requiring strength, but he was always cheerful. He never was married and from his youthful days his life and character was worthy of imitation by other young men. He bravely bore his long ailment to the end and was laid to rest Monday last the 9th when he was taken suddenly ill and made the remark that he was going to die. So to this dutiful brother and sister death came to release them from the suffering of the body to enjoy the home where no pain or sickness is known.

The pall bearers for the brother were four nephews, Jno Calder Arch, McKinnon, Arch McDonald, Chas. McDonald and Messrs Peter McArthur and Councillor Malcolm McInnes who kindly took his double cased rig on both occasions to take the pall bearers. For the sister were seven Thos. Nichol, N. McPhail, J. Stonehouse, Angus McKechnie, Malcolm Melonis and John McKeen, all neighbors. W G Watson was undertaker and had three funerals in succession for the last few days. Sister, brother now has left us. Here their loss we deeply feel. But 'tis God that has bereft us. He can all our sorrows heal. But again we hope to meet them. When the call to us shall come And in Heaven we hope to greet them Where no farewell tear is shed.

The Late John McQuarrie

Death came as a relief to the above gentleman on Friday morning, 13th inst, after a severe suffering of four months and a half from the effects of a broken limb. Mr McQuarrie was one of the pioneers of the N. Line, Glenelg. Coming there with his father's family when a boy in 1851, so him as to many boys of that far-away date, the hardships of entering the woods was familiar to them. Mr McQuarrie was the oldest of a family of 5 sons and 2 daughters. Consequently he would be in his 78th year. Being of a hardy nature hard work did not seem to have any effect on him and very few in his younger days could beat him at the cradling or swinging the axe in felling the bush in those far away times. In the year 1867 he married Miss Mary Marchison who proved to him a true and faithful wife and stood by his bedside sometimes day and night during those long months of his ailments. To Mr and Mrs McQuarrie were born 5 daughters and 1 son, Alex. The daughters are Flora, also ways at home, Kate, Mrs McKinnon of Duluth who so faithfully came to assist mother and other sisters in attending to her father; Annie, Mrs. Gilbert of Toronto; Maggie, Mrs. Knoll and the late Mrs N. McDougall of Duluth. Mr McDougall was over to see his late father-in-law a couple or more months ago and probably cannot come over to attend this funeral which is to take place this Monday afternoon to McKechnie's cemetery, Durham Rd, Glenelg.

Mr McQuarrie was a true member of the Pres. Ch., Priceville, and held the office of elder for some time. He was a man that was well read and a grand historian. He was highly posted on church matters and was a good politician, always a supporter of the R. F. m cause. Rev. Matheson, his pastor will officiate at house and grave.

We, the Priceville boys take our hats off to Capt Hector McKinnon for the very generous manner in which he entertained us at the Anchor Hotel, Shoreham.

Capt McKinnon though higher in rank, does not feel that he lowers himself by mingling with the boys from his own home town "Priceville" although they may be lower in rank.

Word's fail to express our appreciation for Capt McKinnon's kindness towards us ere our departure for the trenches. S. somewhere in France" and our thoughts will often turn back to the bounteous supper he provided for us and only wish he could be with us in France.

Thanking him again for his kindness and wishing him every success wherever he goes; and on his return to Canada, we hope to see Capt McKinnon a member of Parliament and I assure you the Priceville boys will give him their best vote.

In loving memory of our sister, Elizabeth Coburn, who passed from us April 16 1916.

GET READY FOR GARDEN

How to Plan Your Work and Work to a Plan.

EVERYBODY GROW EATABLES

First of Series of Timely Hints—Get Your Ground Ready Now, but Don't Be in Too Much of a Hurry to Put in the Seed.

(By S. C. JOHNSTON, Vegetable Specialist, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

At no time in many years has the necessity and importance of the home vegetable garden been so clearly shown as for this coming summer. France, our wonderful ally, has since the French Revolution been a nation of small farmers, her people of small means cultivating some available land to produce a portion of their own household foodstuffs and to increase the wealth of the nation; Great Britain, threatened with a shortage of foodstuffs, determined to cultivate all available land possible to offset this shortage and we in Canada bending every energy toward facilitating these great nations to do something in our individual power to do something in the hope of helping ourselves and assisting the commercial vegetable growers who are seriously handicapped by the shortage of labor in the production of town, and village dweller has an opportunity to help this great work in that there are hundreds of available plots now practically unproductive which could be made good vegetable gardens, thus adding to the wealth of the country.

Vegetables an Important Food.

Vegetables should form an important portion of the daily food of the average human being, for they possess qualities which we are told are essential in the proper digestion of the heavy foods, such as meats. To help you do your part in your backyard this column will discuss some of the practical problems in connection with vegetable growing during the next few weeks.

All backyards cannot be prepared in one year to grow vegetables of an excellent quality. Some portion of the yard, however, may be devoted to this purpose, or, if it is convenient, there are usually many vacant lots which are not to be used from one's place of abode which possibly could be devoted to the growing of vegetables.

Some Essentials.

First of all it is essential that the vegetable garden, no matter how small, be planned according to some plan or rule. No one attempts to build a house or to set out a perennial flower border without using some drawing or chart to go by. Why should the vegetable garden be treated differently? Hardly any plantings will prove a failure, and in order to overcome this it should be remembered in laying out the garden that—

(1) Tall plants will be most effective if placed behind low ones, not intermingled with them.

(2) All plants closely allied should be grown together, not in the same row, but in rows adjoining one another.

(3) The fences may be decorated with vine crops which may be supported on the fences by means of strings or lattice work.

(4) All quickly maturing vegetables should be planted in a portion of the garden by themselves so that they may be harvested and the ground used for other crops later on.

The work of planning the garden to determine what vegetables and how much of each is to be grown will be influenced by one's individual tastes. One should grow an abundance of such crops as one consumes the most.

Secure Seed Now—But Plant Only When Soil is Ready.

The backyard gardener should decide very early which crops are to be grown and should purchase his seed as soon as possible. It must be remembered, however, that much of this seed may be wasted if it is planted too early in the season. The soil must be warm to receive the seeds, and amateur gardeners must have patience until it is certain that good growing weather is really here. It is possible in ordinary seasons to plant such vegetables in April, and yet many backyard vegetable enthusiasts will be well advised to wait until the middle of May before doing very much in the garden.

DURHAM ONTARIO

Comrades! If you cannot carry a rifle, you can serve your country on the farm. "The plow is our hope," declared Right Hon. David Lloyd George, the Prime Minister of Great Britain. The tremendous significance of these words in the face of a world shortage of food must be a matter of concern to all. It points out the path of duty to men and boys unable to enlist in the army but capable of helping to increase production.

Help the farmer increase production

At this supreme hour when ample food production is one of the indispensable means of victory, the country faces a serious shortage of men and boys on the farms. The Department of Agriculture emphasizes the urgency of every man and boy taking to heart this splendid opportunity for patriotic service.

Decide now to help in the war. If you are between the ages of 14 and 18, and have good term record, you can secure promotion at school by enlisting for farm service any time between April 20th and May 20th.

Parents are urged to encourage their boys to enlist for farm service. The physical and moral welfare of your boy will be advanced by a summer spent close to Nature; an interest will be awakened in an important industry of the country that will be a help to him in his whole future.

The Department appeals to retired farmers, to men following no occupation (retired), to business men who can spare at least a portion of their time, to all men who can arrange their affairs so as to help some farmer. Every man is invited to enlist for farm service.
