TO RENT—At reasonable rate, rear part of double dwelling house on main street, Upper Town, containing six fine rooms. Possession given at once. Apply to Wm. Black, Durham.

The annual Garden Party of Durham Presbyterian Church, unavoidably postponed last month, will be held on the Mansie grounds on Tuesday, August 14th. Ice cream, berries and other refreshments served. Good program will be rendered. All are welcome. Admission 10c.

Two rinks of Durham bowlers took in the tournament at Hanover Civic Holiday Hunter's rink lost in the opener, but Dr. Hutton's came through till the second day before going down by 3. W. H. Wright of Owen Sound won the trophy and the other O. S. rink was also a winner.

The Rocky Red Cross workers met at Mrs. Colin McArthur's home on July 24. Thirty ladies were present. Eighteen pillow cases, 5 hospital robes, 2 day shirts were made and 2 pairs of socks started. After a dainty lunch, a collection of $5.60 was taken up. The next meeting will be at Mrs. G. Boyd's.

FIRE DESTRUCTION—Two barns on Mrs. Walls' property, a little south-west of the Corporation, were destroyed by fire Tuesday, also five loads of hay. Mr. Wm. Wiggins has the place rented and will be the loser of the hay. Mrs. Walls had left on the afternoon train for Kitchener and we could not learn if there was any insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Before very long there will be no beef nor bacon on Tuesdays and Fridays, on the bill of fare in any public eating place in Canada. There will be only two courses allowed for breakfast or luncheon, and three courses for dinner. This sounds like good judgement and should help to conserve the food supply of Canada. If it would succeed in bringing down the price then it would be an excellent thing.

It may not be generally known, but it is a fact of interest, that the Ontario Temperance Act provides that after a person has been once convicted for having liquor on his premises, his premises is thereafter classed as a public house in the terms of the law, and that after the fine is imposed, he is not entitled to have liquor on the premises even for medicinal purposes.

J. Arthur Cook and family left Monday for their new home in Thessalon. They motored to Owen Sound, Monday evening and finished the trip by boat. Before leaving Mr. Cook was presented with a purse of gold by his friends at St. Paul's church where his services as choir leader have been greatly appreciated. The presentation took place at the Rectory. Mrs. Cook and family were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Allan for a few days before leaving—Mt. Forest Rep.

Thompson, son of Mrs. Thomson, Upper Town, writes to his mother, acknowledging boxes she had sent, and also acknowledging some sent by others, whom he would like to thank, personally, but must do so through THE REVIEW. KILLED IN ACTION
Pte. Wm. Falkingham Meets A Hero's Death

On Monday evening Mr. W. L. Falkingham received the sad telegram that has brought and is bringing sorrow into so many homes. In substance it read: "Deeply regret to inform you that Pte. Wm. R. Falkingham is reported killed in action, July 23rd."

So the glory of the "latest big push" against the enemy spells gloom in one home amongst us, and that home will have the sincere sympathy of a wide circle of friends, as they try to exchange thoughts of the living for memories of the dead.

And these memories will be precious. Willir, as he was affectionately called, was only 23 years of age, he was one of the outbreak of the war, almost three years ago. His cheery letters home, some of which we published, all showed that his realization of the objects of the war and his own position was clear and distinct. He had the true soldier instinct and bravely he died as he bravely served.

And his service has been no unsecure. Three times he was wounded at the front, sent to hospital, and on recovery faced the unholly music again. His place is now empty and it is just such empty places that appeal so strongly at the present time for recruits to take up the banners that have fallen from the hands of those who have made the supreme sacrifice.

Wm. R. Falkingham was born in Norfolk Co., near Simcoe, but Durham and vicinity claim him as he was but two weeks old when he moved here with his parents. His mother died a number of years ago, but he has ever been true to his home. Father, stepmother, two brothers and five sisters will all cherish his memory. His last letter home spoke of great masses of the enemy confronting him and he has been fated to become their victim.

Electric Storm was Destructive

Sunday evening last a severe electric storm with heavy rain, passed over this neighbourhood. The barn of Mr. Horsburg Lot 16, Con. 2, Normanby, owned by Mrs. A. Marshall, Durham, was struck and destroyed and we hear of other damage at more distant points. In town a tree near station-agent Hay's home was blown down, taking with it the telephone cable wire and two posts, effectually blocking the hill for a night, and warning lamps were hung out. Of course, telephones were put out of commission and a few days will elapse before normal conditions are restored.

The accompanying rain was very much needed and came opportunely, even with having delayed here and there for a day or two. Good crops of hay are being reaped, some places better than the year before.

More lightning destruction is reported. The pig and hen house of Neil A. McQueen, 20th Con., Egremont, was destroyed Sunday evening. The building was frame and bricked inside, the hen house part, 24 x 60, being plastered also. Mr. and Mrs. McQueen were at church and called at a neighbor's on the way home to shun the storm. Some pigs and hens were burned in the fire. Only $200 insurance on the building, and a small ins. ra. on the contents, so it will amount to a considerable loss.

A building of Mr. Thos. McAllister was struck and fired, but noticed and extinguished in time.

Mr. C. Lang in town had a close call as his chimney was destroyed and the fluid branched through the house, himself being stunned.

Was Decided Success.—John Rowland a Whirlwind Chairman.

Tuesday evening the lawn and veranda of Dr. Jamieson M. P. P., as well as the grassy street adjoining presented an animated scene. The tables, booths and other paraphernalia for disposing of ice cream, bananas, sweets, flowers, etc., were well patronized, so well, that with the small entrance fee of 10 cts, a sum of about $200.00 was realized. The sky looked gloomy but the evening was warm, grass dry and no interruption of rain occurred or other mishap to mar a most pleasant evening.

Mr. John Rowland of Walkerton was made chairman and he had a select program to conduct. No fewer than four returned soldiers on it gave it a military character especially with such a militant chairman, whose patriotism is not hid under a bushel as proved by the well-known recent incident, where he was the means of teaching a Minto farmer a much-needed lesson not to speak disparagingly of soldiers or soldiering.

There were musical interludes also: the band furnished patriotic airs, Miss Irwin gave a piano solo and was accompanied. Solos were given by Allan Bell and W. G. Mistle, the Misses Kerr gave a pleasing duet and the Methodist quartette—McCrae, Glass, Mistle and Saunders—sang in fine harmony.

Capt (Dr) Stanley Ball, son of R. J. Ball, M. P., gave a graphic account of war experiences he had come through. He went to India, was at Delhi on Indian Mutiny ground, then to Bombay, across Arabian Sea and up the Tigris river over the ground traversed by Gen. Townsend, who had to surrender at Kut. Most graphically he depicted the wiles and thievery of the Arabs, the barb-wiring processes they had to undertake at night for protection, and gave credit for success in reaching Bagdad and beyond solely to superiority in artillery. One desperate venture was the crossing of the river in boats, in the teeth of the enemy's fire, 10 men to row 12 to fight in each boat.

The treatment of our wounded even in Turkish hospitals, was barbarous. The women excelled in cruelty. When some fevered and wounded British prisoners asked for water, the women filled their mouths with sand.

A private of the Black Watch was the first to enter Bagdad. The Turks tried to ruin everything before leaving, and the British had to erect gallows and hang 7 or 8 of them as a warning to others.

Lieut. Pinkerton left Toronto in Sept. 1915 and told of the horrors of that winter waiting on artillery. In Spring of 1916 matters improved, but the Canadians he said were usually pitted against the best German regiments and the Huns were taught that the Canadians were the best soldiers in the world, a statement received with great applause.

He described the capture of the trench at Courcellette, had had the privilege of going with the first six tanks, which were at first as much a surprise to Canadians as to the enemy, but not as much terror. The grey dawn of morning saw the Germans headed for their fatherland, for the Canadians took two lines of trenches, and expected reinforcements not coming were ordered to take a 3rd line and did it.

Artillery was the big factor in the war, but for this German infantry would ever be driven out of France. He had praise for the French and for the Canadians who had made a glorious name. It was up to Canada to send more help. Britain thinks Canada has done nobly.

How Pte. Jim Warrington Died.

The following letter received by Mrs. Warrington tells its own story:

Death of Mrs. Chas. H. Moffat

An unusually severe affliction has fallen on the home of Mr. Chas. Moffat, Guelph, by the death of wife and mother, on Sunday, fifth of August. About a week previous she gave birth to a child, but complications, coupled with an anemic condition from which she has suffered for some time, proved fatal in spite of medical skill and tenderest nursing. She died in town at the home of her mother, Mrs. Dan. Greenwood, where the child was born. A consultation of doctors was held including Dr. McLaurin of Toronto, formerly of Durham, and a transfusion of blood from a relative was thought of but high fever and her weakened condition made this impossible.

To the bereaved husband, left with the care of three small children, to his father, deceased's mother, and other relatives, deep sympathy will be extended in the humanly speaking, untimely death. Mrs. John Firth, Guelph and Miss Clara Greenwood at home are sisters of deceased, her only brother, Arthur Greenwood is well known.

The funeral took place on Tuesday to Durham cemetery, a large concourse assembling to pay the last tribute to one beloved in life. Rev. Mr. Moyer conducted impressive funeral services, and many floral offerings spoke sympathy for the living and respect for the dead. The pall bearers were Victor Williams, W. J. Ritchie, Ernest Greenwood, Herb Edge, Wm Firth, Fred Staples. [See also Edge H. b. d. g.]
