SALVAGE FROM THE BATTLE-FIELDS AND CAMPS.

Three Hundred Women Sorters Deal With the Discarded Garments Of the Treops.

A big enterprise has been built up at Dewsbury by the War Office, by which discarded uniforms aand other articles of clothing collected on the battlefields and in home camps are dealt with in such a way as to save the nation hundreds of thousands of pounds, says the London Daily Chronicle.

Since the work has been in progress about 45,000,000 separate articles have been dealt with, including 4,100,-000 jackets, 4,500,000 pairs of trousers, 620,000 great coats, 903,000 pairs of riding breeches, 2,700,000 puttees, 3,500,000 shirts, 856,000 caps, 1,800,000 cardigan jackets 18,000,000 socks, 2,700,000 pairs of drawers, 6,-000,000 other articles.

Anthrax. The disease of anthrax occurs among sheep, horses, cattle and other in your neighborhood this fall. herbivora or grain eating animals. No animal of any of these classes is capable of resisting anthrax infection providing suitable conditions obtain. The disease is also liable to attack human beings although it does not appear epidemically in man. Many cases have been reported where men have died as a result of contracting anthrax from the skinning of an infected animal or from handling the weel or skins of animals that have died from the disease. This information is brought out in Bulletin No. 23 of The Health of Animals Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture entitled "Anthrax." The bulletin is written by Dr. Chas. H. Higgins, pathologist, and deals with the subjects of occurrence, methods of infection, soil infection, diagnosis, etc. It is pointed out that the carcass of the animal that has had the disease should be destroyed by fire, care being taken that all discharges and litter about the animal be burned with it, even to the halter that it has been wearing. Under no circumstances should the animal be skinned, as this is a most dangerous procedure. Neither should it be dragged over the farm. Deep burial is sometimes resorted to, but it is not nearly so satisfactory as burning. Veterinarians, farmers and others who have reason to suspect the existence of anthrax are compelled, under the Animal Contagious Diseases Act, to promptly motify the Minister of Agriculture, the Veterinary Director-General or the nearest Veterinary Inspector.

South American ants sometimes construct tunnels three miles in length.

Dough should be kept covered while rising to prevent a crust from forming, which interferes with expansion.

The Real "War Bread" must contain the entire wheat grain-not the white flour center — but every particle of gluten and mineral salts—also the outer bran coat that is so useful in keeping the bowels healthy and active. Shredded Wheat Biscuit is the real "war bread" because it is 100 per cent. whole wheat prepared in a digestible form. Contains no yeast, baking powder, seasoning, or chemicals of any kind. Food conservation begins with Shredded Wheat Biscuit for breakfast and ends with Shredded Wheat Biscuit for supper. Delicious with sliced bananas, berries, or other fruits.

The Royal House.

A very common error is to assum that it is the house of Guelph which rules over the British Empire. The royal family were Guelphs from the accession of George I. to the accession of Edward VII., who was the first King of the house of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. Ill informed jersons are rather apt to dwell on the German connections of the royal house of Britain, to the exclusion of all considerations of its British elements. The King, for instance, is a descendant of Alfred the Great, of Edgar Atheling, of William the Conqueror and of Robert Bruce, to mention but a few of his illustrious ancestors.
