

PRICEVILLE AND VICINITY

PRICEVILLE VILLAGE

Easter Services with appropriate music will be held on the Priceville circuit as follows: Priceville 10:30 a.m., Ebenezer at 2:30 p.m. and Salem at 7:30 p.m. The subject is "Immortality." A large attendance is invited.

Pte. Jack Radcliffe, just returned from France, is visiting old friends in and around Priceville.

Miss Ursie Matheson is engaged in teaching school at Holland Centre for a month or so.

Mrs. J. H. McLean also Dr. McLean and P. F. McArthur were in Durham last week.

Garr. Heck McLean of the 67th Battery, Toronto, spent the week end at home.

Mr. Jas. Harrison left for Cochrane Thursday morning where he will likely go into business.

Mr. Alfred Hincks who was operated on by Dr. McLean last week is feeling better again.

Pleased to hear little Jimmie Sinclair, son of the C. P. R. Agent here who had pneumonia, is getting along nicely.

We welcome Mr. Jno. McMeekin and family to our town. They are taking up their residence in the house owned by the late Alexander McDonald. Mr. McMeekin intends visiting railroading.

Mr. John A. McDonald, Topcliffe, was home Monday after spending several weeks in the city.

Miss Ethel Watson spent the week end in Durham.

The concert held in the O. D. R. schoolhouse on Friday, March 22nd, was quite a success. Owing to the conditions of the road, eighty dollars was realized for Red Cross purposes.

Priceville citizens had the honor Monday of welcoming home their first great war veteran in the person of Pte. Danis McKinnon of a Highland Batt., son of Mr and Mrs Farquhar McKinnon, north of Priceville, the young soldier has been overseas for nearly three years, took part in many severe engagements was in an English hospital for almost a year, and is now invalided home. Owing to our town not having a band and none of our good Scots putting in their appearance to welcome home our hero with the bagpipes which we are sure he would enjoy as well as the ones assembled there to express warm welcome to him. We hope some of our good pipers will be kind enough to come forward and help us make part in welcoming home Corp. Bob Cankey who is expected home any day. Also the rest of those returned lads who have sacrificed so much for us. Surely Priceville will not fail to do their duty.

The last meeting of S. S. No. 7, the Red Cross was held at the home of Mrs. Donald McMillan on March 17, 1918. No. ladies present: A. Spocking of 6 doz. pillow cases, 1 doz. hospital towels, 3 doz. dresses, 1 doz. handkerchiefs, 14 doz. pairs of socks were made, also 14 pairs of overalls were packed. Collection $35. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John O'Neil on March 27.

SWINTON PARK

High water at present, difficult to get out.

Mr. A. J. Porter finished his contract at Dromore.

Mr and Mrs Robt. Lawrence spent Sunday with Mr and Mrs Neil McLeod.

Welcome home to Pte. W. J. McLeod.

Mrs Aldeorn spent last week with her daughter, Mrs W. McMillan of Artemesia who is at present under the doctor's care.

Nothing daunts Mr Joseph Stevenson truly. He believes faint heart never won fair lady.

Miss L. M. Daniels is nurse in attendance for Mr Henry Frock. Glad to report Mr Frock is doing nicely.

Swinton Park Glee Club is busy practicing for a high class entertainment in the near future.

HOPEVILLE

Mrs Jas Scott is visiting at Rev. E. O. Forde's, Clinton.

Some syrup makers have tapped but the run is slow, yet.

Mrs W. McEachnie of Markdale is a visitor at A. H. Barnett's.

Mr Sandy Wilson, and not Mrs Jas Wilson, as stated in last week's paper, is away West for the summer.

Considering the condition of the roads Friday evening, a goodly number ventured out to encourage the young people in their play "D.A." or "The Grand Re-union" which was well presented in every sphere, and is a credit to the young people of our community. We hope this will not be the last of its kind as we believe it to be a great dramatic educator. Proceeds were almost $60 for which the R. C. S. C. are very thankful.

A Unique Appreciation

From Comrades of the late Sergt. Don. L. McKinnon

(Though dated Dec. 1, the following letter reached the family in Toronto only last week. We don't remember ever seeing such a unique testimony to the worth of a companion, but those who knew Donald are not surprised.—Ed.)

France, Dec. 1, 1917

Dear Mrs McKinnon:—

How powerless are we, Don's comrades and friends to express our sympathy for you, for all the members of his family, in this time of great sorrow; and to express the fullness of our admiration for him, of our cherished friendship, of all the fond memories of our mutual pleasures and of the living traditions of his great unselfishness and loyalty to all things worthy of pure homage, while he worked and lived among us. How halting and timorous perhaps may be our words, lest they seem to lack the sincerity of our emotions and fail to bring some small gleam of light to relieve your distress.

Some of those who have signed this letter knew Don before the war; others were with him in the training camps of Canada and England and for more than a year on active service in France. We are but a few of the great number who learned to know and appreciate him for what he was worth; and we have all felt that profound sense of loss that only comes with the death of one whose friendship we cherished for the impulse it gave to what he knew was best in us, whose influence we respected for the confidence and determination it engendered in the face of grimmest circumstance, whose sheer inspiration carried us further than we could have gone without it and whose fine sympathy so often quieted the angry waters of doubt and sore despair. He was all a comrade should be, sharing toil and inconvenience and danger with characteristic unselfishness and disregard for the comfort and welfare of his men and only one who has been out here knows to what extent the physical well being of a man depends on his section Sergeant. He did much to inspire and keep alive that "camaraderie" which is the very soul of a military unit.

The sound and lofty idealism which carried Don into the war, remained bright and splendidly real to the end and enabled him again and again to fight off that awful depression which one of his finely wrought nature inevitably feels in the face of this war's sordid reality, incredible destruction, tragic waste and folly. His experience proved a notable instance of how the will to do and suffer and smile for what one knows is right and just, may transcend heart-breaking fatigue, physical discomfort and all the rack and turmoil of cruel circumstances.

His boyish and gay hearted laugh, his wealth of homely sympathy, his adherence to a pure and noble faith, and the final measure of his great sacrifice,—these we shall always remember.

Believe us utterly sincere in this expression of our thoughts, trusting, ay, believing, that in the full knowledge of Don's life and death, and in the gleaming light of that compassionate history of Another's great sacrifice and atonement, a large measure of comfort may dwell within your bereaved heart, we extend once again our tenderest sympathy.

His grave lies in one of these big military cemeteries that one finds here and there in the areas back of the battle zone. It is on the outskirts of a sleepy little French village that straggles over the flat shoulder of a hill and nestles into the shallow valley below. Only occasionally the faintly vibrating thunder of distant drum fire drips across the undulating countryside and dominates the lazy hum of farm and village activity. Once a week the "Place" or Square in the centre of the village, is picturesque in its market setting; and here, when the summer sun filters through the overhanging foliage of beech and elms, and splashes the cobble stones with yellow and gold, are to be found the vendors of seasonable fruits and flower girls in colored head shawls and wooden sabots, and scented flowers in riotous confusion. We have arranged that, from the flower girls in the tented market square and from the patch work gardens of the cottages, chosen blooms shall be gathered and placed on Don's grave that it may be ever fresh and green as you would wish it and fragrant with flowers. They may perhaps make it look less lonely and stand for the green memories that we shall always carry in our hearts.

The few of us who sign below have been favored by opportunity and must represent the larger circle of Don's friends who are too widely scattered to make the getting of all their signatures possible.

The uncertainties incident to warfare have unfortunately prevented us from getting the enclosed pictures at an earlier date.

Sincerely Yours,
W. F. Crowley, R. M. S.

Stocking our Streams

On Monday evening, March 25th, a number of our citizens met in the Public Library and organized the "South Grey Fish and Game Protective Association."

The object of this Association is the protection and replenishing of our fine fishing streams and lakes. The following officers were elected:

President—Thos. Allan.
Secretary—C. Elvidge.
Treasurer—Jno. Kelly.
Managing Committee—Ed. Kress, S. McIntyre, E. McClocklin, S. F. Morlock, J. P. Telford.

A membership fee of $1 was agreed upon and E. Kress and S. McIntyre were appointed to solicit membership and collect fees.

Through the Agency of Dr. Jamieson, the Association have been offered by the Government Speckled Trout and Black Bass Fry to restock our streams and lakes which the Association are taking advantage of, and will place a number of thousands of these fry in our streams and lakes this spring.

The Association passed a motion that all farmers through whose lands the streams to be stocked flow, and who permit the use of said waters to the Association shall be honored members of the Association.

The object of the formation of this Association is not to restrict fishing to the members of the Association, but to endeavor to bring our fishing streams up to their former standard through restocking and seeing our fishing laws rigidly enforced.

With the co-operation of the farmers through whose lands these waters run we hope to achieve this objective and thus have fishing and fish for all and be able to keep the beautiful trout streams of this particular section up to their former standard.

VICKERS-EDWARDS

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, March 6th, 1918, in Hamilton at the home of Rev. Mr. Loney, the bride's pastor, when Miss Isalinda Edwards, daughter of Mr. Jesse Edwards of Bunnessan, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Henry Vickers of Fusiere, Sask., who has lately been discharged from the army after eighteen months service.

The bride looked charming in her gown of cream serge draped with satin and she wore a regulation veil trimmed with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of carnations and maiden hair fern. The bride's sister Agnes was bridesmaid and was dressed in white embroidered voile while her brother Silas acted as groomsmen. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold brooch set with pearls. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold brooch, and to the groomsmen a tie pin. The bride travelled in a dress of grey with white satin hat and fur coat.

After visiting friends in Hamilton, Grand Valley and Orangeville they returned to the bride's home at Bunnessan where they visited in the vicinity a few days before going to their home in the West.

GET READY FOR GARDEN

How to Plan Your Work and Work to a Plan.

EVERYBODY GROW EATABLES

The Essentials in Planning Garden—Best Varieties to Plant.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

AT NO TIME in many years has the necessity and importance of the home vegetable garden been so clearly shown as for this coming summer. France, our wonderful ally, has since the French Revolution been a nation of small farmers, her people of small means cultivating some available land to produce a portion of their own household foodstuffs and to increase the wealth of the nation. Great Britain, threatened with a shortage of foodstuffs, determined to cultivate all available land possible to offset this shortage and we, in Canada, bending every energy toward facilitating these great nations should do all in our individual power to do something in the hope of helping ourselves and assisting the commercial vegetable growers who are seriously handicapped by the shortage of labor in the production of vegetable foodstuffs. Every city, town and village dweller has an opportunity to help in this great work, in that there are hundreds of available plots now practically unproductive, which could be made grow vegetables and thus add to the wealth of the country.

Vegetables an Important Food. Vegetables should form an important portion of the daily food of the average human being, for they possess qualities which we are told are essential in the proper digestion of the heavy foods, such as meats.

All backyards cannot be prepared in one year to grow vegetables of an excellent quality. Some portion of the yard, however, may be devoted to this purpose, or, if it is convenient, there are usually many vacant lots which are not too far from one's place of abode which possibly could be devoted to the growing of vegetables.

Some Essentials. First of all it is essential that the vegetable garden, no matter how small, be planted according to some plan or rule. No one attempts to build a house or to set out a perennial flower border without using some drawing or chart to go by. Why should the vegetable garden be treated differently? Haphazard planting will prove a failure, and in order to overcome this it should be remembered in laying out the garden that—

(1) Tall plants will be most effective if placed behind low ones, not intermingled with them.

(2) All plants closely allied should be grown together, not in the same row, but in rows adjoining one another.

(3) The fences may be decorated with vine crops which may be supported on the fences by means of strings or lattice work.

(4) All quickly maturing vegetables should be planted in a portion of the garden by themselves so that they may be harvested and the ground used for other crops later on.

Secure Seed Now—But Plant Only When Soil Is Ready.

The backyard gardener should decide very early which crops are to be grown and should purchase his seed as soon as possible. It must be remembered, however, that much of this seed may be wasted if it is planted too early in the season. The soil must be warm to receive the seeds, and amateur gardeners must have patience until it is certain that good growing weather has come. It is possible in ordinary seasons to plant some vegetables in April, and yet many backyard vegetable enthusiasts will be well advised to wait until the middle of May before doing very much in the garden.

Suitable Varieties. A list of varieties suitable for garden dwellers follows:

Asparagus—Palmetto, Co-rover's Colossal.
Beans—Davis' White Wax, Golden Wad, Refugee.
Beets—Crosby's Egyptian, Detroit Dark Red.

Cucumber—White Spine, Chicago Pickling.
Citrus—Colorado Preserving.
Lettuce—Grand Rapids, Nonpareil, Meion, Musk—Paul Rose.
Melon, Water—Cole's Early.
Onions—Southport Yellow Globe.
Parsnip—Hollow Crown.
Parsley—Champion Mass Curled.
Peas—Gradus, Little Marvel.
Potatoes—Irish Cobbler, Green Mountain.
Pumpkin—Quaker Pie.
Radish—Scarlet White Tip Turnip, No Flus Ultra, (winter) China Rose.
