

"Woe unto you that are full, for ye shall hunger."

Luke 6: 25.

Not spiritually (although even the penalty of remorse may follow your neglect of this national warning) but ye shall hunger in the trying physical sense in which hunger now grips the peoples of Europe.

We know "it is difficult to talk to the belly which hath no ears," and it is just as difficult to persuade a person who has a full dinner before him to-day that he may want for food next month.

But you may as well let this fact sink into your mind—the last people that Canada and the United States will allow to suffer for want of food are our fighting men, and if a sufficient exportable surplus of food cannot be raised and saved by voluntary efforts, then very drastic rationing measures will be enforced.

It may astonish you to learn that in 1917 Ontario did not grow enough wheat for its own needs. Consequently every Ontario farmer whose land is suitable, has been urged to sow 5 acres more spring wheat this year so that Ontario's demand for wheat shall not be met at the expense of that portion of the Western crop that should more rightfully be shipped overseas.

For this same reason every householder who has a garden or a piece of vacant land is being urged to grow vegetables, because the more vegetables that are grown and eaten in Ontario, the less wheat and meat there will be consumed, and that being so, the Ontario wheat crop should then be sufficient to feed our own people, and leave more Western wheat and other foods available for export.

If you have not yet decided to plant a vegetable garden make up your mind to do so now. You will not regret it. There is still lots of time. Potatoes and beans may be planted up to June 1st and these are the best substitutes for wheat and meat.

For good, practical advice upon how to lay out and cultivate a Vegetable Garden, write for a free copy of the booklet entitled: "A Vegetable Garden for Every Home." This has been prepared by the Ontario Department of Agriculture for the guidance of citizens who will respond to this call for increased production.

A Truck for the Farmer

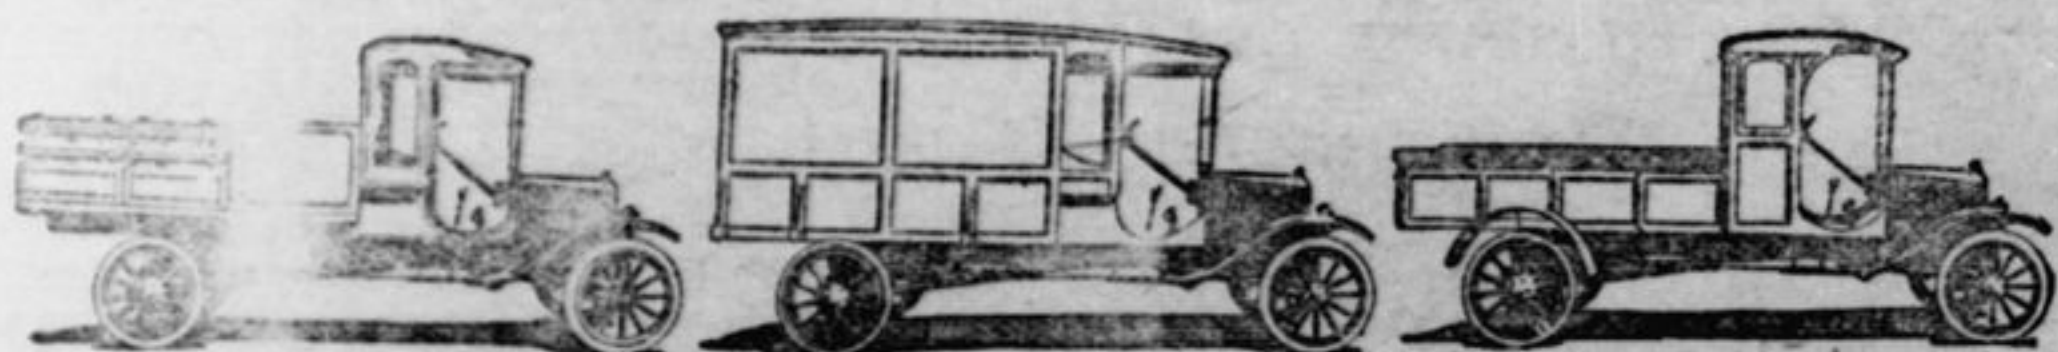

FARM equipment which will effect a time and labor-saving, and therefore a money-saving, must be carefully considered by every good farmer now-a-days.

The farm wagon, which for years was the most useful of all farm equipment, is now being replaced on the best farms by a sturdy, dependable motor truck. The truck will haul any farm product—fruit, grain, vegetables, stock, fertilizer, or wood—around the farm, or to the town or city many miles distant, in half the time, and at a much lower cost.

The Ford One-Ton truck is a rapid, economical and very serviceable means of transport. One of these on your farm will save you weeks of time in a single season and will enable you to pass through a crisis of labor shortage with less difficulty.

The Ford truck is supplied as a chassis only. This permits you to select any of the many body styles especially designed for the Ford truck and already on the market. Thus you can mount the one which suits your individual requirements.

British People are Calm and Confident

Pte. Chas. C. Ramage meets old Durham boys while on furlough

Bristol, England, March 28, 1918.

Dear Father,—

At present I am enjoying that wonderful thing known as "Blighly Leave" and the change from the grey life of the trenches to a rest in England is a most appreciable one. All the boys will tell you that a real bed and real meals and a brief return to the old way of living in addition to the sight of an English face and English smile, fills a void created by the terrible life in France.

But my leave has been marred and is not as restful as one could wish. When I left France on the 18th inst, all was quiet in the figurative sense of battle language. Three days later hell broke loose when the German horde swarmed westward for their great offensive. The day after that I left from France was stopped tight. So I was lucky to get away. Several boys on leave from France received telegrams ordering their immediate return to duty. I saw some tear them up. In one sense I blame them, do you? They had earned their leave. No telegram had reached me yet so I intend to take my full time, and then the change from Blissful Blighly to Frightful France will be as from Heaven to Hell. I fully realize what there is to face.

The Canadians are not as yet in the gigantic battle as the British. But they will not be long out of it. It isn't their nature to be out of a big scrap. If the Germans get Amiens and Doullens, it means probably the retirement of the Canadians from Vimy Ridge and Hill 70 to keep the alignment of the front. But they will not be long out of it. It isn't their nature to be out of a big scrap. If the Germans get Amiens and Doullens, it means probably the retirement of the Canadians from Vimy Ridge and Hill 70 to keep the alignment of the front. But they will not be long out of it. It isn't their nature to be out of a big scrap. If the Germans get Amiens and Doullens, it means probably the retirement of the Canadians from Vimy Ridge and Hill 70 to keep the alignment of the front.

It is wonderful to watch the spirit displayed by the people in Great Britain during this great struggle. Never in the history of the race has there been so stoical, calm and confident in the ability of their army and its leaders as to-day. The vapors of parliamentary tongues and the noisy meetings of peace cranks are not typical of the people's spirit and it takes a crisis such as exists to-day to show that traditions of the past are not being wasted. The people have sacrificed and suffered and are prepared to do so still to have a victory for civilization against the disintegration of our national life and Christianity. They fear, but are not afraid. I have been in London, Edinburgh and Bristol and everywhere remain that steadfast calm, awaiting a more favorable verdict to our arms and knowing that every day the Kaiser continues to hurl his legions into the vortex of death, that so much sooner success will crown our efforts. We know that the people at home in colonies and allied countries will be similar feelings, waiting and praying for the day of cessation of strife and the day of victory.

People here restrain from speaking too much on war topics. They mostly avoid the pessimistic strain and work their feelings off on damning the Food Controller and his system of rationing food. Almost all foods, except bread, is served in ounces and the allowance per head is considerably smaller than in pre-war days. Sugar is worth its weight in gold and one cannot buy it in restaurants. Drinking tea about 10 times per day is an old English custom and it is taking a long time to die. If you are in a restaurant, it is curious to observe, ladies take a couple lumps of sugar from their handbag and drop it into their tea. Yes, sugar and silver are carried in the same receptacle, and one is as precious as the other. Here is a scale of allowances, per head per week, for rationed articles:

- Sugar—8 ounces.
- Butter or margarine—4 ounces
- Meat—8 ounces (when you can get it)
- Tea—1½ ounces.
- Cheese and bacon are hard to secure and will be also rationed soon.

After a spell in France, Blighly looks better than ever and you will see new charms every hour, which did not exist before. At least it was so in my case. I was up the line when word about my leave to England came to me. It was evening but I did not hesitate to depart to Headquarters which was five miles to the rear. It took me two days from that hour to reach England and even in those 48 hours there were thrills. As I left the battlefield, Fritz started his evening torrent of gas shells, but I evaded them. Next day at a French town when I entered for the coast, the enemy had his long-range guns active and he bombarded the town for 3 hours. Then the following day, just as the boat was on the point of lifting anchor an enemy aeroplane appeared overhead. It was not a bomber but merely a scout, sight seeing. If it had been a bombing plane, we were at his mercy. An air craft fire soon made it too hot for him and he moved off. The journey across the channels was made in 1½ hours and we saw numerous destroyers patrolling the waters. London was reached at twilight.

I had the pleasure of seeing Will Campbell and Capt. (Dr.) Chas. Farquharson at Londonderry House Hospital in Park Lane where Will is a patient. Chas. who was visiting him the same time, is on the staff of the Red Cross Hospital at Taplow and is looking exceedingly well. Will is improving nicely and should soon be able to dispense with the two canes he uses to navigate about with. His right eye and temple which were crushed in by the mishap are conforming to natural shape slowly. Few aviators have been so lucky as he and you may be sure he is having an admirable time while convalescing in London.

I saw a few of the 4th C. M. R's., formerly 147th boys, also on leave in England. One of them, a Sergeant, told me that Clarence Darling was unfortunately enough to have both legs amputated but I hope this report is untrue.

Edinburgh with its historic background, retains all its charms. Princess street and the well-known Gardens are as interesting and beautiful as ever. Colonial Soldiers are especially delighted with the Scottish Capital and Canadians, Anzacs and South Africans are to be seen everywhere. I was one of fifteen boys invited to a house dance by a club of girls one evening. There were nine Canadians, four Australians and one South African there and though we were all strangers at first, one soon becomes acquainted. We certainly enjoyed the house party.

Now I am in Bristol with mother's cousins, Mr and Mrs Pearce and family. George who belongs to the Worcester Regt, was recently gassed but is improving nicely in a local hospital.

To-morrow is Good Friday and I will return to London. I expect to be in the big Metropolis for Easter Sunday and am going to St. Paul's for the service. Next day—France.
