VALVE-IN-HEAD MOTOR

Considering the number of unusual features possessed by the Valve-in-head motor, it is not any wonder that this type is earning for itself a high place in the minds of a great many motor car owners, and is becoming more popular every day. To begin with, it uses gasoline miserly, and what is used is not wasted in the least, so it is easy to see how this type of power plant would be much in demand to-day. To understand the advantages and workings of the Valve in Head Motor, it is not necessary to have any technical knowledge, for the plan is simple and it is understandable by anyone. In the common method of gasoline engine construction the gasoline vapor is usually introduced into a side chamber—a sort of waiting room. There it explodes with a force that travels in a round-about way until it strikes the piston.

In the Valve in Head motor, it is different. In this type, the gasoline vapor is introduced directly into the cylinder head, and the explosion occurs directly over the piston head, and the cylinder, being without corners to collect gases, the fullest benefit is secured by the explosion. All the gasoline vapor explodes and all its force goes to the flywheel. It is for this reason that the Valve in Head is powerful and dependable. All Chevrolet models are equipped with this type of motor.

More than two hundred thousand Chevrolet cars are in use to-day. This, in itself, is ample evidence that the followers of this type of motor are increasing each day.

THE DAY

[For years before the war German officers in convivial moments, drank to the toast "The Day," meaning the day in the future when they would humble Britain. The "day" is speeding as time advances and the following magnificent poem fits in fine with the fierce fighting in Flanders' fields. The author is Mr Henry Chappell, a railway porter at Bath, England. Mr Chappell is known to his comrades as the "Bath Railway Poet." A poem such as this lifts him to the rank of a national poet.]

You boasted the Day and you toasted the Day,
And now the Day has come.
Blasphemer, braggart and coward all,
Little you reck of the numbing ball,
The blasting shell or the "white arm's" fall,
As they speed poor human's home.

You spied for the Day, you lied for the Day,
And woke the Day's red spleen.
Monster who asked God's aid Divine,
Then strewed His seas with the gassy mine;
Not all the waters of the Rhine
Can wash thy foul hands clean.

You dreamed for the Day, you schemed for the Day;
Watch how the Day will go,
Slayer of age and youth and prime
(Defenceless slain for never a crime),
Thou art steeped in blood as a hog in slime,
False friend and cowardly foe.

You have sworn for the Day, you have grown for the Day,
Yours is the harvest red.
Can you hear the groans and the awful cries?
Can you see the heap of slain that lies,
And sightless turned to the flame-split skies
The glassy eyes of the dead?

You have wronged for the Day, you have longed for the Day,
That lit the awful flame,
'Tis nothing to you that bill and plain
Yield sheaves of dead men and the grain;
That widows mourn for their loved ones slain,
And mothers curse thy name.

But after the day there's a price to pay,
For the sleepers under the sod,
And He you have mocked for many a day—
Listen, and hear what He has to say:
"VENGEANCE IS MINE, I WILL REPAY"
What can you say to God?

Biggest Thing in the War

Such is the description of some recent work by the Canadians and Australians, but it was chiefly a Canadian battle. The "work" praised is an advance which for gallantry under difficulties, and results of the action surpasses even Vimy Ridge.

General Currie is the hero of the hour, for his troops, the Canadians, were given the place of honor in attacking the Hindenburg line. They were not found wanting, they reached the line, went beyond it and are now further east than any allied troops since 1914.

Everywhere the Allies are victorious; the British have Bapaume, French troops took Roye and Cambrai and St. Quentin is now the objective.

The war is not won however. Germany yet holds much that she overran since March 18th last, but since July 18th she has been beaten and baffled, her soldiers are tiring, 120,000 prisoners have been taken and hundreds and hundreds of guns.

Conan Doyle believes the war will change very suddenly from the appearance of a close drawn struggle to a German surrender. He insists there are 3 requisites for peace:

- 1—Invasion of Germany, something she has not thought possible.
  - 2—Occupation of Berlin and signing a peace treaty at Potsdam.
  - 3—Most important of all she must pay to the last penny, the expenses her outrageous conduct has cost the Allies.
- We would add a fourth—The execution as common criminals of the parties chiefly responsible—even though it be the Kaiser—for the Lusitania, the murders of Edith Cavell and Capt. Fryatt and the bombing of hospitals.
