

Kitchener was right

when he said—

"Either the civilian population must go short of many things to which it is accustomed in times of peace or our armies must go short of munitions and other things indispensable to them."

NOW the only way we can possibly live up to that obligation is by going without in order that our soldiers may have. For the money we waste is not money at all—it is equipment, clothing, shot and shell that are urgently needed in France. By denying ourselves, therefore, we enable Canada to procure to the fullest extent the materials and labor which she and our Allies need for the successful prosecution of the war. What happens when we fail to save? A pull on labor by the Government in one direction and a pull on labor by the people in the opposite direction.

Hundreds of millions of dollars are of no use to the country if goods and services can be secured only to the extent of eighty millions of dollars. So we must do everything in our power to release both goods and labor for the purposes for which Canada needs them.

WHETHER it be food, coal, wool, steel, leather, labor or transportation, the result in all cases is the same. Whoever competes with the nation by freely satisfying his own desires, selfishly appropriates to his own use that which is so urgently required for our fighting men in France.

For the sake of your country and the boys "over there," spend cautiously. Think of what Lord Kitchener has said, and ask yourself first, "Is this something I really need or can I do without it?"

PRICEVILLE AND VICINITY

PRICEVILLE AND LIMITS

The last week was somewhat disagreeable, raining most of the week and the ground is soaking wet now. Those that some crop out yet will find that it will take some time before it is fit to take into shelter. Threshing is in order now, the grain it is said is turning out good. Colin McLean is dusting out the smaller jobs before moving out in the country. The McKinnon boys are away up to Proton somewhere.

Rev. Mr. Moyer of Conn and Rev. Mr. Matheson of this place, exchanged pulpits last Sunday, the latter preaching Anniversary services at Conn. On account of the disagreeable weather, the church was not too full. Mr. Moyer is a good speaker.

Jim Ford is improving but will take quite a while before he will be able to do any work. Neil McDougall who fell some time ago is improving slowly. Mr. Dugald McCormick is holding on well and is somewhat better than sometime ago.

Little Alice Reilly is suffering from being threatened with pneumonia and is attended by Nurse Charlotte McDonald. Hope the little sufferer will be around again soon.

The town line south in the corporation was graded lately and although the work was done to perfection its mud up to the hubs of the rigs now. We hear its the intention to lay it gravelled soon. So it cannot be done too soon for the accommodation of motorists. As for horses and rigs they get along alright.

All classes of people are cautioned to live as sparingly as possible, and other stuff which are only used sometimes as a luxury. In olden times only a pound of sugar would be bought maybe every 2 or three months at 5 cts a pound or 15c. And at this time of year the old pioneers had to live on potatoes, probably till snow came as miles were far away. So they thought potatoes and buttermilk was as Pat said "fine mate."

An old highlander was boasting of how strong all his father's family were long ago. He said in his best language; "No wonder we are strong for we had as much as we are of brochan shorts or porridge made of shorts. Perhaps some of our brave boys at the front would be glad to get some of the food of long ago when suffering with hunger."

We did not hear of the nature of our boy's wounds. H. McDonald, who was wounded in France a couple of weeks ago as the information went to Priceville, Que. instead of Priceville, Ont.

Stothart & McLean were shipping stock on Monday last.

The Institute Red Cross workers, Priceville, intend having a lunch booth, serving brown bread sandwiches and pie at Fall Fair, Oct 4th, on School grounds. Also a bazaar table with articles for sale. All who assist in providing for lunch booth or bazaar table show their interest in the work of sending comforts to the boys who are defending our homes and country.

In loving memory of Pte. Goldwin Patterson, who was killed at the Somme battle on Sept. 16, 1916, and in memory of Gasser Donald McKinnon who died of wounds on Sept. 15, 1917.

They marched away so bravely Their young heads proudly held Their footsteps never faltered Their courage never failed,

There on the field of battle, They calmly took their place, They "Fought" and "Died" for Britain And the honor of their race.

Though they sleep not in their native land

But 'neath a foreign sky Far from those who loved them dearly In a hero's grave they lie, No more we'll hear their hearty laugh

Or see their smiling face, Somewhere in sunny France they lie In an honored soldier's grave.

May the heavenly winds blow softly Over that sweet and hallowed spot, Though the sea divides their graves they will never be forgot.

THE marketing of thin chickens is not conserving our meat supply nor is it the most profitable method to the producers. Present prices of market poultry admits of the liberal use of feeds and the marketing of well-fleshed birds.

The best birds to flesh or fatten are those of the heavier breeds, such as Wyandottes, Reds, and Rocks. The light breeds, such as Leghorns, seldom pay to fatten unless they are very thin in flesh.

The birds intended for fattening should be confined to a small pen or slatted coop. The process is not difficult if you will but pay attention to a few points that are essential.

Do not feed the birds for the first day they are shut up. You should give them something to drink, but it is best to give no feed. After the first day feed very lightly for two or three days and then gradually increase the ration, being very careful not to overfeed. We usually start chickens on very finely ground grains at the rate of three-quarters of an ounce of grain per feed to each bird, feeding twice daily. This can be increased gradually to two or three times this amount. Generally the most profitable gains are made during the first fourteen to sixteen days feeding. Such birds will not be excessively fat, but should be fat enough to cook and eat well. Some markets demand a fatter bird.

The most profitable gains are made on birds weighing from three and one-half to four and one-half pounds when put up to fatten.

The grains fed should be finely ground and, if at all possible, should be mixed with sour milk. Mix the feed to a consistency of a pancake batter. The more milk the chicken will take the better bird you will have in the end. Milk appears to have no good substitute for fattening chickens. If you cannot get milk then add ten to fifteen per cent. of meat meal to the ration and mix with water. The addition of a little green food daily will help matters. Many people get better results by feeding a little salt. About one-half pound to one hundred pounds of dry grain is sufficient. This mixes best by being dissolved in water and adding a little at each feed. Be careful not to use too much.

The best grains available now are a mixture of ground barley, cornmeal, finely ground buckwheat, and shorts. Oats are good if part of the hull is added out, as are also ground brewers' grains. We have used with good results a mixture of two parts of ground barley, two parts cornmeal, and two parts shorts, mixed with twice the amount of sour milk.

In general feed about one-third shorts and then whatever finally ground grains you may have about the farm.

If at all possible mix the ground grains with sour milk.—Prof. W. R. Graham, O. A. College, Guelph.

Importance of Attending Exhibition. Fall exhibitions are a permanent feature in the life of Ontario, and are of particular interest and import to the farmer and his family. True, many of the smaller shows might be greatly improved by the introduction of more new educative features, and some of the larger exhibitions have been criticized in the past for tardiness in placing agriculture in its due place, but at the present time, with things agricultural to the fore-front as they are, exhibition managers realize the value of a strong agricultural and live-stock department and are making this a leading feature of their work. In fact, no fall fair, large or small, could exist let alone prosper, without the products of the farm well represented.

Bearing this in mind, it is important that all attend their local fall fair and their nearest large exhibition. A well-managed fair is an education. The best live stock of the various types and breeds, the highest quality grain, roots and vegetables, the newest devices to aid the farmer and his wife in their work, and the most up-to-date special attractions are all there and each has its value to those who attend with the purpose of improving their knowledge. It is worth while to watch the judging being done to get an idea of approved type and to have one's interest stimulated that he may go home and do better work in breeding live stock or in the production of farm crops. Study the work of the judges. It helps to fix in the mind the proper type of live stock of the various breeds and the requirements of all farm crops. The boys and girls should be taken to the exhibition and encouraged to study and learn as well as to enjoy themselves.

Exhibitions also have their place in the social welfare of the people. It is profitable to get away from work for a few days and mingle with others, there to discuss matters of interest to all, and to see what progress is being made in industry other than that from which the fair-goer gets his or her living. It makes for big-perspective. A little clean, wholesome amusement is necessary in order to get the most out of life.

Go to the exhibition with the idea of improving your education and at the same time to have a real good time. It is profitable to get away from work occasionally and the exhibition offers not only an opportunity for pleasure but also for profit.—Prof. Wade Toole, O. A. College, Guelph.
