Innumerable Difficulties Beset the Editors at Dawn of New Era Among European Nations.

The French edition of the Almanach de Gotha for 1919 has been brought to Paris fresh from the Justus Perthes printing press at The preface contains a confession of the innumerable difficulties which have beset the editors at the dawn of the new era. "The dismemberment of Austria," they observe, "and the transformation of twenty-two German states into as many republics interrupted our labors as we were going to press."

It is stated in the Ber-Hy papers that James Simon is finding means to break up his very valuable collection of pictures, which inrludes masterpieces by Franz Hals and Vermeer. He seems to have given some of the pictures to the Kaiser Friedrich Museum in Berlin, but to have transferred most of them to a syndicate of international dealers.
