PRICEVILLE AND VICINITY

PRICEVILLE AND LIMITS

Saturday night 10th May, 1919, 8.30 p. m. This was a disagreeable sort of a day, partly rain and some small hail, high wind direct from the east.

Seeding is badly delayed on account of the dampness of the season. We asked a good neighbor across the fence how much had he sown. He said "I sowed 5 acres and have only about 45 more to sow."

Feed is somewhat scarce and dear. The grass has made no appearance yet of any account but cattle in general feed fairly well.

Rev Mr Ross of Corbeton preached in the Presbyterian church here last Sunday. On Thursday of next week Rev Mr Jones of Anson will be inducted in the Presbyterian church, Priceville at 1.30 p. m.

We need a doctor and shoemaker badly in Priceville. In olden times we used to have two doctors sometimes and all made a living. But now we hardly know a doctor when we meet him. It is said it is a good sign not to know the doctors too well but a very, very bad one not to know the preachers when we meet them.

Mr Farquhar McKinnon was appointed caretaker of the Presbyterian church here. Mrs McKinnon is a woman who will take pride in doing her part in keeping the church clean for it is said that cleanliness is next to godliness, so by keeping the Lord's house clean it shows that duty is well attended to.

But we must not forget the good ladies that spent a day or two a week ago scrubbing and dusting the basement of the Presbyterian church and making it to have the look of being situated in a christian locality. We heard a good minister, none other than the late Rev Mr Warren, rebuking those who were in the habit of chewing tobacco saying in his own quiet manner "Will those of you who are in the habit of chewing tobacco, or rather abusing yourselves, will please not spit on the floor."

Rev Mr Ross of Corbeton preached in the Presbyterian church here last Sunday. On Thursday of next week Rev Mr Jones of Anson will be inducted in the Presbyterian church, Priceville at 1.30 p. m.

We hear that Angus McKechnie who was in Fergus hospital for treatment is home. We hope to hear of his ailment being better.

We said a while ago that we needed a shoemaker badly in Priceville for on the west there is none nearer than Durham, on the east none nearer than Flesherton, on the north none nearer than Markdale and south we are not sure if there are any nearer than Mt. Forest.

So there is a good opening for the right man to start a branch for he cannot fail to do well. One time we had four good ones here but now we would be content with one. Our last one has moved to other quarters.

We read Gilbert's fish story and it contains good sound ideas. So if his suggestions were acted upon years ago those of us who are getting to be old boys could avail our spare time catching some of the descendants of the said fish in our rivers long ago.

We are sorry to hear Mrs Dugald McCormick is not feeling well since the death of her husband. Naturally she feels her loneliness in this world now. We hope to hear of her being better.

Butter is selling for 50c a lb and eggs 46c a doz in this town. A good story was told of an old farmer's wife down the country just at the time butter was at its real value. She in giving a gentle hint to some of the farm hands who she thought was indulging too steep in her butter dish, said "my but butter is dear in Dorchester and Hamilton, it's now 20c a lb. One wily fellow who took in the situation said "Is that so; I am sure if the rest are getting 20c you ought to get 25c for your butter" at the same time dabbing his knife deeper into the butter dish. The old lady felt so proud of the price given her butter that the boys never heard about the price any more.

The funeral of Miss Mary Stewart, North Line, Armetesia, took place to McNeal's cemetery on the 8th May. Miss Stewart was only ailing for a short time from pneumonia. She was a sister of Messrs Dan and Alex. Stewart and kept house with her brother Alex. who will sadly mourn the loss of a dutiful sister. His niece is still with him. Miss Stewart died on the farm where she was born. The obsequies were conducted by the Rev. G. Kendall of Dundalk.

Commencing Thursday, 15th inst, Dr Hutton will visit Priceville Thursdays of each week. Office, Peter McArthur's store. Hours 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

HOPEVILLE

Cool weather still prevails. More snash ne would be welcome. Miss Mary Love, Toronto, is visiting at her home.

Messrs A. H. Barnett, F. W. Deith and E. E. Hockridge attended the reception at Fairbairn Friday eve for Messrs F. W. Deith and J. Garden.

Mrs Dixon, Drum re, is visiting her daughter Mrs J. Sinclair. Miss K. Gillespie visited her aunt Mrs Jas. Scott over the week end.

Messrs David and Harry Scott were in Guelph Tuesday of last week on suiting a specialist regarding Mr D. Scott's illness.

Rev. Smith of Bromore will preach at Esplan Sunday, May 18th at 7.30 p. m.

Mrs T. W. Wiltshire returned home Saturday eve after ten weeks under special treatment in the hospital, Toronto. We are glad to know her health is much improved.

Miss Fanora Christie returned from Toronto last week. Mr and Mrs Jake Schmidt, Lorne and Irene, Eugenia, visited Mr Schmidt's parents at New England Saturday and Sunday.

The ladies met at the manse Thursday afternoon to quilt and to present to Mrs (Rev.) Cate a fancy quilt; a sumptuous tea was served and all reports a pleasant afternoon.

A Splendid War Report

We have received from Government sources a copy of the "Report of the Ministry of Overseas Military Forces of Canada," which seems to be a most complete record of Canadian activities throughout the war. It is a volume of 633 pages, replete with maps, illustrations, statistics, &c. that ought to be the last word in correctness. Accompanying the book are two maps of the war zone, in which every place is brought out in fine distinctness. The book is printed in London, England, and we thank the unknown donor.

Obituary

HUGH BALL

The owner of this well-known Normanby name died at the home of his son Ephraim, near Mt. Forest, on Wednesday of last week, 7th May, after only three days' illness, arising from heart weakness.

He was born at Enniskillen, Ireland 87 years ago and came to this country in early youth with his parents. There were several sons in the family, three of whom settled in Normanby, some miles north of Ayton at the well-known "Ball's corners."

One of these brothers was the father of R. J. Ball, M. P. Deceased married young and a large family bears his name. One son Joshua is dead, but seven sons and four daughters survive.

The sons are Joseph at the Soo, James in Normanby, Hugh, Mt. Forest, Walter in Glenelg, Jacob and Thos. both in Ayton. The daughters are Mrs John Thompson of Normanby, and another Mrs Jno. Thompson, Toronto, Mrs Nate Brigham, Mt. Forest, Mrs Chas. Saunders, Durham.

Interment took place on Friday.

MISS MARY STEWART

After nine days' illness with pneumonia Miss Mary Stewart passed away on May 2nd, 1919. Deceased was born on Oct. 2nd, 1850, N. D. R., over fifty years ago. She was of a very kind disposition and beloved by all who knew her.

She was for many years a member of the Priceville Presbyterian church. She leaves to mourn her loss one sister (Ellen) Mrs W. J. Bell, Paisley; four brothers, Roderick and Arch'd. of Flesherton, Donald and Alex, the latter with whom she resided. The remains were laid to rest in McNeil's cemetery Monday afternoon followed by a large concourse of friends, Rev. Mr. Kendall of Dundalk officiating.

The pall bearers were Robt. Campbell, Caledon, W. J. Bell, Paisley, Dan Muir, John Muir David Hincks, Alex Carson. Those who attended from a distance were Mr and Mrs R. Campbell, Mrs Peter Baxter, Caledon, Mrs J. Baxter, and Gordon Caledon East, Mrs Sarah McPherson, Orangeville, Mrs Thos. McPherson, Mono Mills.—Com.

MRS. ROBT. McNAUGHTON

The death of this lady, who was Miss Janet Waters, well-known in north-east Normanby, took place at her home in Willow, Sask., on 22nd April last. Some weeks before she was taken ill with what looked like a stroke, but made a good recovery and was able to be up and about again. The day she died she had gone with her husband to Assiniboia in his car and declared she felt much better for being out. On reaching home she went to her room, and soon after her husband heard her moaning, and on going to her, she said it was her head. Soon after she became unconscious and quietly passed into the great beyond, leaving a dazed and stricken husband and his sister to mourn her loss.

The neighbor, Mrs Jno. Bell, who sends us these particulars says: "I her: "those who knew her best loved her most. Always helpful and sympathetic "given to hospitality" known in all good works in church and state. In the passing of Mrs McNaughton our community loses one of its finest women and we who knew her best a dear friend. At the time of her death and during the war she was honorary President of the Red Cross Society and an active worker in all its interests, as also in church work and socially in her own home. She was a member of Davyroyd Presbyterian church and will be much missed from its circles."

Deceased was born at Elmwood, Ont., her father being John Waters, later of California. Early in life she became a member of the McNaughton home in Normanby, who were distant relatives, and here she grew to young womanhood and received most of her education at old No. 1, Normanby, where the writer was teacher during her last school days there. Our memory still retains vivid impressions of her as a clever, diligent pupil of kindly disposition and we can well believe she would grow into noble womanhood.

She was married to Robt. McNaughton in 1909, at Regina, having been for some years on the business staff of the T. Eaton Co. He had gone into that country two years before and became one of its progressive farmers. He was devoted to her and will feel her loss most keenly. To him and his sister Mrs Flora, we extend sympathy in which we are sure the many old friends of both in this locality sincerely join.

England Is In Restless Condition

From a letter from C. C. Ramage at Ripon College, England, we quote: "I am sorry my little statue of Joan of Arc was beheaded in transit. I considered it such a pretty little thing. I secured it in a village which the Germans had looted thoroughly before they left during the last days of October. The statuette was lying on the side of a street amid a confusion of many domestic articles. Joan of Arc is the heroine of France, just as Napoleon and Poch are now its heroes. In every church or public buildings in France, you will find a statue in memory of the heroic French girl in much the same pose as in the one I sent home.

I took yesterday (Sat.) afternoon off and went to visit Leeds. It is a very busy city, but I could find no claims for beauty. The townhall is a fine building and Roundhay park outside the city limits possesses scenic grandeur but the smoke chimneys in hundreds, over-ride any possibility for admiration in the city. There were very few soldiers in the city but very numerous were the discharged or demobilized class. You can readily distinguish a demobilized soldier as distinct pride is still shown by the men wearing their cap badge on the lapels of their coat.

We are getting a week's holiday at Easter and I purpose going to London for a couple of days and possibly go to Ireland for the remainder of the time. My visit to Ireland depends upon the authorities granting a ticket there. Ireland as a country is as hostile to England now as Germany is and I believe Sinn Fein hatred is keener-edged than German hatred. The Gov't. realize it too but they are simply up to their eyes in it. They have so much to do, Enemies at home and abroad and nothing getting settled is making a very dissatisfied country.

Thousands are out of work and there are two reasons for this. First the restlessness of men after leaving a "my life is showing off" that it requires much effort to settle down and then the men are unwilling to commence to work under the same conditions and for the same wages as in pre-war days; and no one blames them for this attitude. Owing to the labor unrest and strikes, the manufacturers are losing trade on every hand, while the American contractors are making a great harvest and getting along all the business. It is a well known fact that American business is travelling at top-notch speed. She has millions of gold owing to the allied war contracts; really the U. S. has suffered but little from the war.

The Coming Liquor Referendum

Sometime this coming fall a vote will be taken all over the province to ascertain whether the Ontario Temperance Act is to be retained or repealed. There are to be four questions on the ballot paper, with two columns opposite, headed respectively "YES" and "NO." The voter must mark his cross (x) opposite each question in either the Yes or No column: if he does not the ballot is spoiled. This fact is most important; in most ballots the voter crosses the one he wants and leaves the others blank. That wont do here: all four must be answered. Here are the questions—

THE FORM OF THE REFERENDUM BALLOT

Table with 2 columns: YES and NO. Contains 4 referendum questions regarding the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act and the sale of light beer.

Thousands believe that the Ontario Temperance Act was a beneficent measure and accomplished much good. These will, without hesitation, put a cross in the "No." column to each of the questions. Question 3 put in force would tend to restore the old condition of the open bar, which finds few supporters, even the distillers having pronounced against it. Questions 2 and 3 will please the brewers, question 4 will meet the alleged desire of the distillers. Canadians will not vote to gratify either class. It's a new world. A cross in the "No." column—to all four questions—is the only safeguard to prevent the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act. To omit one vote spoils all.
