C. P. R. AFTERNOON TRAIN—As a result of solicitations from a number of towns along this branch of the C. P. The eastbound train now leaves here at 4 p. m. and arrives back at night at 9:30 o'clock. As it entails no early rising, this service will probably prove more popular with the traveling public. This afternoon train now arrives in Toronto at 8:25 p. m. and returning leaves Toronto at 3:25 p. m.

A LANDMARK GOING—The old large two story frame building at top of Durham hill, formerly the Kress furniture store, is being torn down this week. It has been empty for years and the owner, Mr. Hugh McKechnie sold it to Mr. Zenus Clark who is tearing it apart for the valuable lumber which it contains, and which he intends using in building a residence.

Durham is this and last week having her High and Public schools inspected by two professional ladies, Dr. Gray and Nurse Jamieson, and are sent out by the Ontario Education Dept. The duty of these ladies is to personally investigate the condition of health of each child in the school, and this followed by a card filled out to the parents, of the deflections if any of the child. Of course some of the deflections are very slight ones and can be easily remedied. They are tested as to sight, hearing, teeth, skin diseases and throat troubles. There were found to be, after the research in the Public school 26 children who were considered "normal" or perfectly sound. These ladies are only paving the way for a more rigid system which the Education Dept. intends to develop in the line of securing a school nurse. It is thought that with the cooperation of Durham and Hanover School Boards and rural School Boards between these two towns, a system could be evolved where they could engage a school nurse permanently for these said schools. It is a big step in the life of the school and should meet with encouragement from all ratepayers.

Anniversary Services

Durham Methodist Church

The Methodist Church proved quite inadequate on Sunday evening to accommodate the many who wished to have a part in their Anniversary doings. There was a fair congregation in the morning, but the downpour of rain at the assembling hour prevented congestion. A great attraction was the presence of Rev Wray R. Smith, a former much-loved pastor who preached morning and evening.

The church was adorned with flowers and festoons of grain suggested thankfulness for abundance. The choir had special music and were brilliant in their number being H. G. Mistle of Waterloo, who took several solo parts and completed the old quartette to the delight of all. The choir's rendering of "Angels of Jesus, Angels of Light" was most excellent.

Rev. Smith, since 15 years ago, is a little grayer, but still vigorous in presenting Bible truths. He made some pleasant reminiscent remarks recalling his period, and of course missing a number of old faces. He has a fine sense of humor and can tell a story well. His text was from Ezekiel 33: 32 "Thou art unto them as a very lovely song," and he had found light on this old testament oracle in the New Testament, proving the couplet: In old testament is new contained. In new testament is old explained.

The world, he said, had lost its keynote, there was a lack of harmony because it had not recognized that Christ was a lovely song, as expressed in the hymn "Jesus the soul of music is." Well that people should listen, but not all day long. Let them sing. There was a time for work and a time for worship. David, when in trouble "cried" unto the Lord, he could not sing, but when replaced in God's favor, he says: "He put a new song in my mouth." "What a fine world it would be if everybody was in tune." "Keep your body in tune by observing the laws of health but remember Jesus Christ is the keynote to bring harmony into all relations: business, social, religious, national. He will be unto them as a very lovely song."

The sum of $419 was subscribed during the day. A blackboard ruled into 10's, 5's, 2's and 1's, was gradually filled up and even overflowed, and this, with the collections, will make a helpful contribution to church and mission funds.

On Monday evening the church was scarcely so well filled but all who were there, had the good fortune to have a talk from Rev. Mr. Smith. Though fifteen years since Mr. Smith left Durham, the church people had not forgotten his art, and accordingly made use of it. The talk was chiefly confined to juvenile subjects but throughout it all there was a thread of moral interwoven, closing his talk and pictures with a vivid picture of "Red rum" spells—murder, spite backwaters. The choir rendered a spirited anthem, and a violin orchestra composed of Messrs Geo. Yirrs and Hugh McCrae and Misses Myrtle Yirrs, Flossie Lawrence and Stella McCrae rendered a couple of numbers to the pleasure of all. Mr. Yirrs also contributed a violin solo. A vote of thanks for his talk was moved to Mr. Smith by Dr. Wolfe and Mr. Thos. Reid and was heartily carried.

The Closing Soldier Banquet

Over twenty soldier boys have returned since the last banquet and these were honored on Friday last by a sumptuous supper in the Public Library basement under the auspices of the I. O. O. E. A few of the boys could not be present, but those who were enjoyed their welcome even as did those who extended it. At the close of the supper Mr. C. Ramage extended the formal welcome to the returned boys, Capt. M. Richardson replying. Rev. E. J. McEwen moved the toast to the hosts of the evening, which was heartily responded to. To Rev. Mr. Hardy was assigned the task of presenting a toast to the soldier brides of whom there were at least five present, these being Mesdames Banks, Bolger, Lauder, Oyns, Richardson. Mr. Hardy, his own bride beside him, did the thing gracefully and a hearty welcome was accorded them.

Adjournment was made to the Town Hall where it was a pleasure to find Pres. Calder, President of the Patriotic Society, presiding, after his severe illness. The massed choirs of the town sang "O God our help in ages past," Rev. Mr. Cole led in prayer, the choir sang "O Canada" and Rev. Mr. McEwen was called to the front. He made fitting reference to the living in his welcome, rehearsed the valor of the Canadians and spoke of the pride felt by all towards the men, who with hearts of steel stayed the enemy and defeated them. To those who would not return he paid solemn tribute. They had died an honorable death and he prayed that the wounds in the hearts of friends would be soothed by the oil of God's loving grace.

Rev. Mr. Hardy said that barrels of human sympathy was in some respects equal to barrels of thanks which cost little. The true sympathy came from above and he drew a fine picture of our Saviour's practice of seeking sympathy—never from men—but time and again found sympathy in closeness to his Father. He dealt lucidly with the great question of unrest, of the good and bad in trade unionism, stock companies, &c. There was danger in all of these unless controlled by the State. "If we could all do as we wished to do we would soon relapse into barbarism." The church stood for comradeship and trade unions and stock companies would do well to cultivate the same quality. The comradeship of the trenches was admirable and we all do well to imitate it.

The chairman in calling the soldiers to the front praised them for having done a man's work and rejoiced that not one had come back with a shadow of disgrace upon them. He hoped they would fit into civil life satisfactorily. The address of welcome, was read by Mrs. Gilbert McKechnie and presentation of address and club bag made by Mrs. P. Gagnon.

The list of those entitled to recognition follows though some could not be present. Their copies of the address were given to friends or can be obtained from Mr. Allan. Geo Banks, Jno Bolger, W. A. Campbell, Roy Cross, Chas. Chislett, Percy Daniels, Arch. Dunning, Russel Gun, Chas Havens, Ed. Havens, Alex Hay, Arch Hunter, Geo. Lloyd, Jas Lloyd, Geo. McMeekin, Wm. Morton, Wilfred Nichol, W. R. McGowan, C. H. Oyns, M. Richardson, Walter Thompson, Geo Trafford, Jas. Warmington, Cecil Wolfe

The chairman at this stage gave the names of the five nurses from town who were also being honored. He eulogized their work, which was less in view, but equally important. There was never a war in which recoveries from wounds and disease were so numerous. Their names are Jean Crawford, Lily Harris, Edith Lloyd, Jessie and Mammie Munro.

A very important feature of the meeting was the presentation of medals to the families of departed sons or husbands as a slight recognition from the Patriotic Society. Rev. Mr. Cole in the chair gave credit to Mr. Calder for the work he had done in connection with the Society and for the soldiers. The families thus honored were: Mr and Mrs Bryon, Mr and Mrs Calder, Mrs Jesse Hughes, Mr W. L. Falkingham, Mr and Mrs Kelly, Mrs Knight, Mr Wm. Lauder, Mrs R. Marshall, Mr Alex. McDonald, Mr and Mrs Dugald McKechnie, Mr S. P. Saunders, Mr Jno. Vollet, Mrs Warmington, Mr and Mrs Wolfe. Most of these were present. Rev. Mr. Hardy read the address below to which Mr. Kelly replied on behalf of the others.

Dear Friends,—We have asked you to meet us to night for a sad but sacred purpose. We have honored the boys who returned, and in welcoming them home we never failed to call to mind the boys—your sons or husbands—who would not return. They sleep in the land where they fell, shrouded in glory. We cannot clasp their hands and listen to their story, we cannot even place a flower upon their grave, but we can, and do, cherish their memory with a deep feeling of pride for the deeds they have done and the noble part they took in a righteous cause.

Welcome the Teachers

To-day and to-morrow South Grey Teachers own the town. Inspector Wright and his big family are meeting in the High School and Educational interests will do first place. To-night, Thursday a mass meeting will be held in the Town Hall, the chief feature on the program being a lecture by Prof. Geo. A. Cornish of the Faculty of Education on "The History of the Great Lakes." Citizens of all kinds should get out to this meeting as it will be of absorbing interest, and not a few would benefit by dropping in at the regular sessions.

To the Electors of South Grey;

Ladies and Gentlemen: I regret to have to address you again to give prompt and emphatic denial to stories being circulated plainly with a view to injure my candidacy. These stories impeach my loyalty and that of my sons. One that has reached me more than once is that I stated that if my boys were taken, I would let my crop rot in the field rather than let the Allies have it. This is gross calumny and utterly false. My boys were not old enough to go to war; I offered to go myself but was not accepted. If my loyalty was not questioned during the war nor a year after it, why should it be now? The season is obvious. I am out to win, but I would never wish victory by such detestable methods. Electors, you are the judges! Yours for service. GEO. M. LEESON

The Durham Rink is about to be sold on an outside party, unless steps are quickly taken by organizing some local Co. to purchase and retain it as a rink. With this in view, a 30 day option has been obtained on the property, and a meeting will be held in McLachlan's store next Monday night to further the project of local capital taking it over. If you are interested in holding the rink as a valuable asset for recreation in the town, and a good business proposition as well, come out to the meeting.

Death of Mrs. W. S. Hunter

After a lingering illness contracted in a severe attack of influenza last fall, Mrs. Wm. S. Hunter passed away on Wednesday night at Muskoka Sanitarium, where she has been since last February. The deceased young lady was Miss Florence McCoskey, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McCoskey of Durham. A sister died in Georgetown a number of years ago.

Three years ago next month, the deceased was wedded, and besides the sorrowing husband and parents, a little daughter, Elsie, survives to mourn a kind and tender hearted wife and mother. The late Mrs. Hunter was of a cheerful disposition, an active worker in the Presbyterian Church, and a favorite among all who knew her. Before her marriage she was stenographer for some time in J. P. Telford's office.

The remains will be brought home this week end for interment. To the sorely bereaved relatives, the deep sympathy of town and community is extended.

McCormick—Wilson Nuptials

On Monday, Sept. 29th at St. Paul's Presbyterian manse, Sault Ste. Marie, the marriage was quietly solemnized of Miss Pearl Wilson of St. Paul, Minnesota, formerly of Durham, to Mr. Alex McCormick of Sault Ste. Marie, formerly of Bentinck. Rev. Mr. Inman tied the nuptial knot. There were no attendants. The bride was attired in a brown tweed tailor made suit with white georgette crepe blouse, and brown velvet hat trimmed with bronze foliage and carried a shower bunch of asters.

They have taken up residence in Sault Ste. Marie, where the groom holds a responsible position in the steel works. Both of the contracting parties are well and favorably known in town and vicinity and with a host of friends in this neighborhood we wish them a happy and prosperous future. Mrs. Bond, the bride's sister, is visiting with her for a few weeks before returning to St. Paul.

Referendum Notes.

The statement of the Liberty League that a "Yes" majority to question one of the ballot would not restore the barometer is flatly contradicted by Premier Hearst and he ought to know. Voting by a cross, X, in the four "No" spaces will make it sure.

Every bar and drinking place in Ontario is now placarded with Liberty League posters; every church and school has a referendum atmosphere or literature. What man or woman valuing good citizenship will range themselves up to vote "yes?"

IMAGINE AUTO DANGER.—Can any voter vote "yes" and think of the danger to all who travel the roads if liquor is again allowed? There are twice as many cars as before the war, the danger from some drivers, primed with liquor, is so evident that all who give it thought will vote "no" four times.
