PRICEVILLE AND VICINITY

PRICEVILLE AND LIMITS

Our exhibition is over and the day was all that could be desired. The attendance did not come up to years ago, however there was a goodly number of all classes of the people, old, young, middle aged and the little ones in their mothers arms. The assembling from different parts brought old acquaintances of years ago in contact with one another and old timers of a couple of score years or more were soon the topic of conversation. Changes made it hard to recognize those of our younger days. The many years that intervened since youth made it hard to place the persons who were well known when they went to school together.

On the brow of the hill could be seen a clump of old highland veterans sitting comfortably discussing old times perhaps in the old site of Tyree or some other island across the sea. Then with the sound of the pipes up they rose to listen to the pibroch of the highland piper and even if deaf in one ear and could not hear on the other, the sound of the bagpipes penetrated into their being making them forget their deafness for they could hear the old familiar music of their youthful days such as "probraah" Dhonnai Dubh Probraoch Dhonnai, &c.

But we are not going to say that these good old highlanders gave preference to the sound of the pipes; no, no. Everything in its proper time for on Sunday if they heard one of the good old Psalms of David sung to an old familiar tune in their native language their ears would not be dull of hearing. But now we are sorry to say the good old language.

the Gaelic has passed away and most of those who spoke it many years ago.

Those who attended from Durham at our exhibition were J. P. Hunter and son, Editor Irwin of the Chronicle, Editor and Mrs Ramage and son Peter of the Review, Mrs Bargeas, (Susan McKinnon) Dr Jamieson and Mr (Geo M Leeson, candidates for the local parliament, Dr Hutton and son Arthur and many others. The concert at night in the hall was well patronized. We do not know what they are going to do when Vet. McIntyre gives up as gatekeeper some time away on in this century.

We notice a change in our railway traffic. The morning train is taken off and first train east arrives about four o'clock in the afternoon causing delay in mail matter but we will have to get used to it.

Lots of rain the last couple of days and the warm rain probably is over. Mr Bert Stonehouse is visiting at his brother-in-law's, Robt Shortreed's.

We attended the funeral of the lamented young man, Donald McCormack of Swinton Park on Sunday last and was the largest ever seen in this part. Sympathetic feeling was felt by all in the manner that caused this fine young man's death, being whirled in his gasoline engine belt while preparing to cut wood for his thrashing. His pastor Rev Mr Jones preached a comforting discourse at funeral taking principally "death" for his text. In his opening remarks he said Death or to be in the presence of death, was a sad and solemn occasion, more so for the manner in which the subject that brought so many to pay a last tribute of respect to a faithful and obliging fellow citizen, had happened. Death takes away the husband from his life partner and from the sisters and brothers on this occasion. The speaker feelingly made the remark that last Sunday the young man lying in his casket right in front of the pulpit, was in his place faithfully attending to matters belonging to his duties as one of the managers of the church. To-day he is lying in the cold grip of death. We look at this young man up early on the morning of his fatality faithfully attending to his lawful calling, anticipating great progress for the future but alas! death claimed to have it his way. Frail man, his days are all blotted for death on the morning he is up early; in the morning he is up early but a moment his plans are all blotted for death as his. The necessity therefore is to be watchful for he comes as a thief at night and takes all our possessions with him, no matter if we are old or young, strong or feeble.

Obituary.

DONALD J. McCORMACK

The funeral of Donald McCormack whose lamented accidental death we recorded last week, took place on Sunday last 5th October, 1919, to Swinton Park cemetery, and was a remarkable demonstration of sympathy and respect to the memory of deceased and to the widow and other relatives, so severely and so suddenly bereaved. The cortege extended for over a mile and seldom were mourners more sincere. Rev. Mr Jones, his pastor, conducted mortuary services at house and grave and was deeply moved, as in his discourse on "Death" he reminded the living of the uncertainties of Life. Floral offerings from relatives were numerous and a beautiful "Gates Ajar" was given by his brother Orangemen, who also took their share in the services.

Donald Jas. McCormack was second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Don. McCormack and was born in Arthur township on 1st Dec, 1881. He came to Proton when four years old and has since resided there. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, who was formerly Annie Lawrence, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lawrence, the latter now deceased. Also two brothers Wm. in Proton and George at Kincaid, Sask., and five sisters, Maggie in Toronto; Mary, Mrs Moore, Markdale; Sara, Mrs Hugh McMillan; Ellen, Mrs Geo. H. Parslow; Isabel, Mrs Jno. Nichol. Among friends and relatives from a distance were Mr and Mrs D. Lunn, Mr and Mrs Allan Patterson, Mr Jco. Patterson, John Gillespie, from Harrison; also Mr and Mrs Robt. Carrie, Miss Jackson and Mr Porter from Wingham.

WINTER HOME FLOWERS

Brightening the Windows When Bloom is Most Welcome.

Cleaning and Grading Grain—How a Good Fanning Mill Properly Operated Will Greatly Increase the Yield of Field Crops—Every Farmer Should Have One.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

To insure a supply of flowers during early winter for the window it is necessary to have suitable plants started early in the fall. Among the best kinds for early winter flowering are a few of what are known by florists as Dutch bulbs. Of these there are only a few kinds or varieties that can be had in flower early in the winter. White Roman Hyacinths are very satisfactory for early flowering. The colored Roman Hyacinths are not as good, and do not flower as early as the White Romans. The loose growing, richly perfumed flowers of the White Romans are very pretty and acceptable. The Paper White Narcissus can also be had in flower in the window before Christmas by potting the bulbs toward the end of September, or not later than the end of October. All of these bulbs can usually be had early in October at seed stores. Pot the bulbs in rather sandy potting soil as soon as the bulbs can be obtained. The soil should not be too rich in fertilizers. Three or four bulbs can be put in a three-inch pot. The top of the bulbs should be just under the surface of the soil when potted. The surface of the soil should be about half an inch below the top of the pot for water space. Water the bulbs well as soon as potted and set the pots away in a cool, dark place in a dark cellar or cupboard until roots have well started, usually for about four or five weeks. When roots are well started, they should be brought through the hole in the bottom of the flower pot, moist, not too wet, until they are through. Dutch Hyacinths and many other varieties of Narcissus (Daffodils), Tulips and Freesias can be potted in October or November, but few of them will flower until January or February.

Chinese Sacred Lilies.
 Bulbs of these can be started in deep saucers or soup plates in October for early flowering. Set the bulbs firmly in the saucer and then fill the saucer or dish with fine gravel stones, so as to almost cover the bulb. Grow the saucer with water and set them away in a dark, cool place, as mentioned before, for about three weeks, until roots have well started, when they can be brought into the window to flower. These will flower in December. Keep the saucers filled up with water as required. Callas, Epiphyllum or Xmas Cactus, Cyclamen, Primulas, several varieties of Begonia, especially the Gloriosa d'Orleans type of Begonias, are suitable for Christmas, as well as the dwarf Semperflorens type of Begonia that flower so profusely either in the window in winter or out of doors in the summer. Late flowering Chrysanthemums are also good for early winter decoration. All of these last named plants have to be grown expressly for the window or purchased from a florist. The bulbs named as suitable for early flowering can be grown with very little trouble and expense by any one who takes an interest in flowers and in flower growing. No plants or flowers give more satisfaction in winter than do the winter flowering bulbs before named.

Cleaning and Grading Grain.

These two farm operations may be accomplished at the same time and by the same means. The fanning mill is the most successful medium in obtaining this result and too much importance cannot be placed on the use of this machine. The successful operation of the fanning mill depends on two factors, that of wind blast and the use of sieves. The removal of light or inferior grain and the smaller and lighter weed seeds is almost wholly dependent on the wind blast. It also assists the sieves because it removes part of the grain which would otherwise have to pass through the sieves and be placed on the important sieves are those of the top and bottom. The top sieve should be just large enough to let the grain pass through and keep back the larger impurities. The bottom sieve should be of just sufficient size to keep back the good seed.

The utility of many fanning mills is impaired by the owner not possessing a full assortment of sieves and by his using poorly-fitting sieves, which allow weed seeds and grain to lodge in the mill. The efficiency of many fanning mills too is often lessened by the operator being in a hurry. To obtain the best results, grain should pass slowly over the lower sieve. When the fanning mill is turned too rapidly or the lower sieve has too much slope, many of the smaller impurities will not be removed.

When the soil is moist, but not sticky, the drag does the best work. The road will be better if the drag is used on it when it is wet.

Repairs to roads should be made when needed, and not once a year after crops are laid by.

Has Done Good Work Ontario Temperance Act A Great Benefit to Province

THE Ontario Temperance Act has reduced crime by over one-third and drunkenness in public has practically disappeared.

Alcoholic insanity has disappeared.

Gold cures and alcoholic institutes for treating alcoholism have been closed for lack of patients.

Ontario has been saved an annual drink bill of $36,000,000, enough to pay our share of interest on the War Debt.

Many victims of alcohol three years ago, thank God to-day for the Ontario Temperance Act.

To repeal the Ontario Temperance Act would be a calamity. The amendments would make it practically worthless. To every question on the Referendum vote NO.

Abraham Lincoln "The Liquor traffic is a cancer in society, eating out the vitals and threatening destruction, and all attempts to regulate it will not only prove abortive but will aggravate the evil. It must be eradicated—not a root must be left behind."

Drink is a Cancer

Doctors, Alienists, Criminologists, Insurance Actuaries, Statesmen, Generals, Big Business Men, and Social Workers agree that alcohol as a beverage is a racial poison and a national curse. British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Quebec (excepting beer and wine), New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland have enacted prohibition.

The United States is permanently "dry."

France has abolished absinthe, Scotland has now a local option law, England is initiating a great campaign for temperance reform. The movement is world wide.

Ontario must go forward, or be left behind, but be careful
