Giving the Farm a Name

Farms should have names; and discussing and selecting a name is suggested by the New York State College of Agriculture as a winter evening entertainment for the family.

Among the most common types of names are those derived from some topographic feature of the farm, such as Riverdale, Brookdale and the like. Other farms take their names from trees and are called Woodland, Pinecroft, Birch Farm and so on.

A favorite form of name is made by combining the old English words "hurst" or "croft," which means homestead, with the name of the owner. This practice gives rise to such names as Aldenhurst and Allanscroft. Sometimes the name of the owner is suggested in a fanciful way, as in the case of a farm once owned by formerly Dean Bailey of Cornell the farm being called "Bailewick." In another instance, Stonefarm denoted the name of the owner and the character of the land. In still another instance, a man who had looked forward all his life to acquiring a farm in his own right finally celebrated his ownership by naming his place Iona Farm.

A name should not be too fanciful, but should be dignified and descriptive. In a majority of cases the simpler and more commonplace the words used the better the result may be.

Technical Talk

Mr. Sopwith, the well-known aeroplane manufacturer, cordially detests sheep talk. Once, at the Aero Club, after listening to a lot of it, he slipped into the conversation by remarking:

"This morning I went over to see the new machine we've got at our place at Kingston. It's wonderful how it works."

"And how does it work?" demanded one of the talkers.

"Well," said Sopwith, "by means of a pedal attachment, a fulcrum lever converts a vertical reciprocating motion into circular movement. The principal part of the machine is a stone disc that rotates in a vertical plane. Power is applied through the axis of the disc, work is done on the periphery, and the hardest steel by mere impact may be reduced to any shape."

"By George!" gasped his questioner in amazement. "And what do you call the bally thing?"

"A grindstone," grinned Sopwith, as he made for the door.

Party and Party Platform

The recent provincial elections gave a good illustration of how little men care for a political platform, and how much they are swayed by party spirit when the contest is a straight party one with only two parties in the field.

It is recognized that the platform of the Ontario Liberals and of the U. F. O. are very similar, yet Conservatives who joined the farmers' organizations as enthusiastically supported the farmers' party with their platform as did the Liberals who joined the new party. As members of the U. F. O. Conservatives voted for a platform with which they would have nothing to do while it was a Liberal party platform.

Party spirit has its uses, but in politics, and in human affairs generally, it is carried altogether too far. Only under great provocation will the ordinary man leave his party. Lucknow Sentinel.

What People Tell us about Our Goods

How often we have people in the store who say "Oh isn't that a nice piece of china? Probably someone will be good enough to give me it for Xmas. Or a lady walks along till her eyes rest on one of our

Dinner and Tea Sets

and she exclaims "oh, isn't that set beautiful. If my husband would only buy me that set for Xmas or some member of the family strolls in and hear playing one of the Victor Records and says "my but I wish we would get one of those for Xmas, they are so clear and distinct.

On the girl walks and looks over our assortment of Handkerchiefs, Bodour caps, Camisoles, Paperies and numerous other fancy articles and says they are lovely and would make an acceptable gift.

But listen Boys, when her eyes glance on a box of

Neilson's Chocolates

Remember she prefers Neilsons. She says "oh, I wish I would buy me one of Neilson's for Xmas.

Then the kiddies come looking for Santa Claus (and they are going to see him soon) and they look over the

Toys, Dolls, Picture Books

Games, etc and some say shyly, "please tell Santa to bring me this or that and others not quite so shy say "If old Santa doesn't bring me this or that he need't come anymore."

Now Xmas shoppers the above is only a few suggestions. We have abundance of Xmas stock to choose from and waits to serve it with pleasure.

IS ICE-COLD WATER BAD FOR RHEUMATISM?

A BRITISH SEAMAN'S EXPERIENCE

This story of Wm. Rogers, a seaman in the Mine Sweeping Branch of the Royal Navy, is absolutely true and can be readily verified.

At Niagara Camp, in 1914, Rogers contracted Rheumatism. He was sent to the Toronto General Hospital, where for over 19 months he was a patient, finally being discharged as incurable. In despair he took a friend's advice and tried Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. The results were astounding—in a short time he was able to pass the stiff examination set by the Navy, and became an A.B. in the Mine Sweeping Branch.

For 17 1/2 months he did service in the North Sea. On three occasions he was blown into the sea and remained in the ice-cold water as long as eleven hours at a stretch. Despite these hardships Rogers had no return of his previous trouble. Think about it. If T.R.C.S. did so much for Rogers—will they not do the same for you?

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing (Completing, 142 King West, Toronto). We mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of $1.00.
