The reeveship is a burning question with some people Our confrere came out last week strongly as to who should not run, naming the present reeve, because of his length of service. We have no brief to speak for Wm. Calder, but beg to say that efficiency of service is what should count and as long as that is furnished there should be no throwing of stones. His work in the town council is admitted to be valuable, and men in a position to speak say that but for his influence, the good-roads improvement ad joining Durham would not have been gone on with this year. At least young man said he would not take the position of Mayor at the present juncture if Calder wasn't at the Council table. So there you are.
